MADRID, May 10.—Blood ran in the streets here today, the first since the nation rose in insurrection to drive out the last of the Bourbons.

LEOPOLDO MATOS.

Minor clashes, meeting to unite their scattered forces clashed with the masses this morning, and thus began a day of violence in which the toll thus far is as follows:

One man killed.

Several dozen badly beaten aristocrats.

Two onlookers near death from bullet wounds received when civil guards, according to the generally accepted version, fired from windows of the militant monarchist newspaper ABC to scatter the mob trying to burn it down.

Rioters Rise Against Police.

News stands belonging to the monarchist Catholic paper El Debate, another ABC, were sacked and burned.

As a final ugly turn of events, the populace was aroused to fury against the police, communist agitators successfully incited taxi and street car strikes, and the perfect model revolution was marred at last.

Late tonight the junta of the Athenee, the forum of Spanish intellectuals, struggled through shouting mobs in the Puerta del Sol to the ministry of the interior to present a petition demanding the disarmament of the civil guards, whom they claim are a menace to peace. They also demanded the resignation of Minister of the Interior Miguel Maura for allowing the civil guards to behave "according to their pre-republican tradition."

A young writer named Castro mounted the balcony to inform the crowd of the contents of the petition. Some one fired at him and missed. The would-be assassin's identity cannot be determined from his meager remains. Twenty persons leaped on him and literally tore him to pieces. One fervent enthusiast for law and order fired a bullet through his head.

Monarchists Start Riots.

The monarchists, witnesses agree, started the trouble. Emerging from a mass meeting, where they had heard the gospel of monarchism from Marquis Luca de Tena, owner of the ABC, who brought back from London Alfonso's last command and who, with his paper, keeps the restoration movement alive, they broke forth with the first "vivas" for the exiled king heard since April 14.

A group of titled youngsters seized a taxi at the monumental postoffice and cried: "Long live the king! Death to the republic!" They started a parade. The chauffeur jammed on his brakes.

Monarchists Overwhelmed.

"I cannot take part in such manifestations," he cried, whereupon the aristocrats beat him with canes.

Other chauffeurs rushed to the rescue. More monarchists joined the mêlée. The riot was on. Thousands of republicans waded in. The monarchists were overwhelmed. The police arrived, but too late to save them from beatings.

In a two and a half hour riot up and down the majestic Alcala avenue, grandees and lesser nobility were stifled and mauled. One duke was dragged along the street with a rope around his neck and was only saved from being lynched at the foot of a lamp post, when Rafael Sanchez Guerra, undersecretary at the prime ministry and son of the former premier, intervened.

Old Cabinet Member Beaten.

Among the wounded were Leopoldo Matos, Gen. Damaso Berenguer's minister of the interior, who was beaten about the head; the duke of Santo Mauro, cut and badly bruised; Honorio Maura, playwright and brother of the duke of Mauro, and Minister of the Interior Mauro, bruised; the Marquis of Camarines, and others.

Four handsome cars were burned with the help of the outraged chauffeur's union. One belonged to Marquis de Tena of the ABC and the

WALTER STRONG, PUBLISHER OF THE NEWS, DIES

Stricken with Heart Attack at Home.

Walter A. Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News and president of the company which owns it, died suddenly yesterday in his home at 1277 Tower road, Winnetka. He was 47 years old. Death was attributed to heart disease.

Mr. Strong had returned to his home for dinner after playing golf with his son, John, yesterday morning at the Indian Hill Country club. He retired to his rooms to rest and change his clothing. He was found there outstretched on the floor a short time later by his young daughter, Anne, who had gone upstairs to greet her father.

Dead When Doctors Arrive.

Anne, who is only nine years old, hurried down to tell her mother that her father had fainted. Mrs. Strong accompanied by Walter Jr., the oldest son, and John, hurried to his aid and lifted him on the bed. He was dead when Dr. Frederick Christopher and Dr. A. C. Aldrich arrived a few minutes later. Dr. Christopher, after an examination, decided that stoppage of the blood vessels into the heart had caused Mr. Strong's death.

Mr. Strong had appeared to be in the best of health and his death was a shock to his friends and business associates. However, Walter Jr. said his father had complained of fatigue on his arrival home on Saturday night and had retired early. He and John arose rather late yesterday morning and went directly to the Indian Hill club for a round of golf. They played only six holes, John said, because his father became tired.

Publisher Since 1925.

Mr. Strong became publisher and principal owner of the Daily News in 1925, following the death of Victor F. Lawson, who was one of the founders and who, at his death, was sole owner of the News. Mr. Strong organized a syndicate of bankers and business leaders and purchased the News from the Lawson estate for $13,671,704, exclusive of the site then occupied by the paper at Madison and Wells streets. Mr. Strong was understood to have acquired the controlling interest.

He had been associated with the Daily News since 1905. He began as an audit clerk, later became auditor, and had risen to business manager at the time of Mr. Lawson's death.

After becoming publisher and president of the News company Mr. Strong acquired the air rights over the tracks of the Chicago Union Station company along the river, between Madison and Washington streets, and on this site the News erected its present office building and publishing plant, which, with its equipment and the air rights, represents an estimated investment of $10,000,000.

Insured for $2,000,000.

In 1926, after Mr. Strong and his associates had acquired the Daily News, the News company insured him for $2,000,000, with the News company as beneficiary.

Mr. Strong was chairman of the board of the Advertising Federation of America, a director of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, and formerly was a director of the Associated Press. He also was a member of the Illinois Bar association, having obtained his LL. D. at the John Marshall law school in 1912, but he devoted most of his time to the publishing business.

Active in Winnetka Affairs.

Mr. Strong devoted much of his time to the affairs of the village of Winnetka, where he was a member of the village board of trustees. He worked to make it a model north shore residential community. He was a member of Christ Episcopal church of Winnetka.

For a time he interested himself in the operation of the village owned electric plant and was instrumental in the modernizing of the plant, the only municipally owned plant on the north shore. He was a director of the Fansteel Products company of North Chicago.

His other activity outside of his business was devoted largely to Beloit college, of which he was a trustee. He was graduated at Beloit with the degree of bachelor of science in 1905. While attending Beloit Mr. Strong worked his way, supporting his mother as well as himself, as his father had died while the son was a youth. For a time he worked for a Beloit newspaper, becoming assistant managing editor. Previously he held several other jobs. His income while he was attending college reached several thousand dollars a year.

During his college career he gained

HAVING HER FACE LIFTED

The first treatment.

King of Siam Has Operation for Cataract

BY DR. IAGO GALDSTON.
[Executive Secretary of the Medical Information Bureau of the New York Academy of Medicine.]
[Copyright: 1931: By the Associated Press.]

White Plains, N. Y., May 10.—(AP)—King Prajadhipok of Siam was successfully operated upon today for the removal of a cataract from his left eye.

KING PRAJADIPOK.

The king proved to be an excellent patient, coöperating in every way with the surgeons. The operation being performed under local anesthesia, he was of course, conscious and and aware of what was going on.

He responded to inquiries addressed to him on the operating table and readily followed suggestions made to him. When the cataract was extracted he observed:

"I see the light."

Operation Requires Hour.

The operation was performed at Ophir hall, the residence of the late Mrs. Whitelaw Reid in Westchester county. Begun at 11:15 a. m., the cataract was out at 11:50 and the operation was over at 12:10.

The operation was performed by Dr. John M. Wheeler, who was assisted by Dr. Thomas N. Johnson. Present in the operating room were also Dr. Robert A. Cooke, who has treated the king for asthma and hay fever, and Dr. Hugh McKeown.

One of the spacious rooms of Ophir hall was converted into an austere but suitable operating room. All the essential precautions were taken against emergency.

Cataract Extracted.

The operation consisted in the extraction of the cataract, that is, the clouded eye lens, without destruction of the iris. The lens, which is the crystalline body by means of which light rays are focused on the sensitive lining of the eye, the retina, is placed behind the pupil, the diaphragm-like opening which by its contraction and enlargement regulates the amount of light entering the eye.

The essential steps in the operation consisted in first rendering the eyeball and the surrounding tissues insensitive. Cocaine was employed to desensitize the eyeball. The eyelids were anesthesized by means of injections of novocaine. The latter procedure had the added advantage of keeping the eyelids from pressing on the eyeball.

An incision was made through the conjunctiva, the covering membrane of the eyeball, above the cornea, which is the raised portion of the eye over the iris.

Three Stitches Taken.

Three silk thread stitches were taken through the conjunctiva preliminary to making an opening in the eye.

These stitches enabled the surgeon, after the cataract was extracted, to draw together to their normal position the severed parts of the eye.

An opening was then made into the eyeball. The capsule which surrounds and holds the lens in place was opened and the cataract was removed by being gently squeezed first through the pupil and then through the opening above the cornea.

The iris was replaced and readjusted so as to leave a round pupil. The sutures were tied and dressing applied with bandages over them.

By virtue of this operation it is expected the king will, with the aid of glasses, have normal or near to normal vision. The king will, of course, be obliged to wear spectacles with a special glass lens in front of his left eye to take the place of the clouded eye lens which was removed. Different lenses will be required for close and for distant vision.

"ZEPPELIN TRAIN" SPEEDS 128 MILES AN HOUR IN TESTS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, May 10.—A "Zeppelin train," built by the engineer, Franz Kruckenberg, with stream lines similar to an airship and propelled by airplane motor, skimmed over the rails at 128 miles an hour in trial trips today. The experiment was carried out on a stretch of track near Hanover. Kruckenberg said the train worked perfectly even at top speed over the curves.

$500,000 Fire In Factory of Furniture Co.

One of the most spectacular fires in the history of the south side early this morning destroyed more than half of the factory of the A. L. Randall company, manufacturers of wicker furniture and artificial flowers at 76th and Wallace streets. The loss was estimated by Fire Marshal M. J. Corrigan at $500,000.

The factory fronts 400 feet on 76th street, with the Chicago, Rock Island, and Pacific tracks on the east and the Chicago and Western Indiana tracks on the west, and extends south to 77th street. The flames broke out on the northwest corner of the building and by the time the firemen arrived were spreading with great rapidity. The building is five stories high.

One Fireman Hurt.

One fireman, John McAneney, 447 West 74th street, of hook and ladder company No. 59, was so seriously injured he is not expected to live. He was trapped by flames and leaped from a fourth story window to the street with his clothing ablaze. He was taken to St. Bernard's hospital.

A 5-11 and several special alarms brought nearly half the city's fire fighting apparatus to the scene. The firemen were powerless to make any headway against the flames at first, because of the highly inflammable character of the contents of the building used in making wickerwork and flowers.

Fire Visible for Miles.

Shortly after the firemen began their work, sections of the walls, on the north and west sides, from the second floor upward, crashed into the streets. All the firemen had been warned of the danger, however, and none was injured by the falling walls. By 5:30 o'clock the flames were under control, with the south half of the plant not damaged.

The flames could be seen for miles and attracted thousands of spectators. Police had difficulty in keeping the crowds back from the dangerous walls.

JUBILEE—
What will it mean to you?

Parades, boxing tournament, fireworks, carnival—these are Jubilee high spots.

But the Jubilee can mean much more to you than entertainment that will last only for a few hours.

Tonight there's a mammoth parade. But, more important, all day today in Chicago stores there are exceptional merchandise values for yourself, your home, your family.

The things that you can buy at today's low prices can bring you happiness, enjoyment, comfort for weeks or months or years.

Make the Jubilee really mean something to you. Inspect the hundreds of amazing values described in the columns of today's Chicago Tribune. Chicago merchants today open their doors on the greatest bargains in years. New merchandise, new styles go on sale today at new low prices.

Before you see the parade tonight, see the parade of values in Chicago stores!

Girl in Death Letter Writes Tragic 'Vision'

Miss Freda Edwards, 22 years old, committed suicide last night by swallowing poison in her room at 4513 Magnolia avenue.

After swallowing the poison she sat down and penned a dramatic farewell letter, telling of a love tragedy involving her husband and children. Investigation by Town Hall police, including questioning of a relative, indicated Miss Edwards was never married, had no children, and that the suicide missive was a "dream letter."

Will Question Relatives.

However, detectives planned to communicate with her relatives in Ollie and Salem, Ia., on the possibility that she had been secretly married. They believed, however, that the dramatic letter was a remarkable case of abnormal psychology and that the same aberration which led her to take poison caused her to write it.

Miss Edwards' body was found in bed, her face buried in a pillow, by Mrs. Elizabeth Hoffman, landlady of the Magnolia avenue house, and Edward G. Juron, 5256 Cuyler avenue, a jewelry salesman, who was a friend of the girl. Juron had called for Miss Edwards, and after an hour's wait, he and Mrs. Hoffman entered her room, and found her dead.

Acting Captain James F. Walsh and Detective Frank Weimer were assured by Miss H. O. Owen, 2815 Mildred avenue, a first cousin of Miss Edwards, that the girl had never been married.

Father Denies Marriage.

Miss Edwards' father, Robert C. Edwards, a farmer living near Glasgow, Ia., also declared he knew nothing of his daughter having been married.

"I could not die without your forgiveness," read the "dream letter." "Do not turn from me; fare with me a little minute; only say you forgive me and I shall die in peace.

"I could not stay away from you and from my children. The longing for you is killing me. I never had a moment's peace after the mad act I was guilty of in quitting you. Not an hour had I departed when my repentence set in, and then I would have retracted and come back, but I did not know how.

Tells of Her Jealousy.

"I loved you dearly and I grew suspicious of you. I thought you were false, that your love was all given to another; and in my sore jealousy I listened to the temptings of that bad man who whispered to me of revenge.

"It was not so, was it? Try and forget that dreadful time that has passed since that night. Let your thoughts go back to the day when you first knew me, when I was a happy girl. And the first kiss you left upon my lips? And O, Archibald, do you remember the loving days after I was your wife, how happy we were with each other?

"My own sin I have surely expiated. I cannot expiate the shame I have put upon you and your children. Think what it was to watch William's decaying strength, to be alone with you in his dying hour, and not be able to say he is my child as well as yours.

"The Bitterness of Death."

"God alone knows how I lived through it all; it has been to me as the bitterness of death. O, that the past could be blotted out; that I could wake up and find it but a hideous dream; that I were here as in the old days of health and happiness, your ever loving wife.

"I am going to William, but Lucy and Archibald will be left. O, be ever kind to them. I pray you, visit not their mother's sin upon their head. Do not let your love for your later children lose your love for them.

"Archibald, I am on the very threshold of the next world. Will you not bless me? Will you not say a word of love to me before I pass into the next? Let what I am be."

Churches Hail New Chicago Spirit.

The Jubilee Today

NOON—Jubilee luncheons of Advertising post of the American Legion and Junior Association of Commerce at Hotel Sherman, and of South End Kiwanis club.

6:30 P. M.—South End Church athletic carnival, twenty-six teams participating, at Palmer park.

7:30 P. M.—Grand inaugural parade in Michigan avenue from Chicago avenue to 26th street, led by Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, grand marshal.

ALL DAY—Special exhibits, displays and entertainments in downtown and outlying stores.

WEATHER—Hope is offered of clear skies by evening, though there is a possibility of showers. Tuesday will be fair.

The Chicago Jubilee opened yesterday on a note that was solemn yet joyous. In hundreds of churches throughout the metropolitan area, pastors took the Jubilee as the theme of their sermons and interpreted the Jubilee spirit as a signal of the moral and spiritual reawakening of the world's fourth city.

An encouraging feature in the Jubilee preparations was the prospect of fair weather after several days of rain. Although showers were forecast for today, it was considered hopeful that the skies would clear before the opening of the grand inaugural parade tonight. Tomorrow will be fair, the forecaster said.

The business districts, ordinarily staid and quiet on Sunday, heralded the ten days of festivity that begin today. Worshipers going home from church saw workmen busy in the neighborhood shopping centers decking store fronts and lamp posts with flags and bunting of blue and gold.

Colors Transform the Loop.

Decorators were busy also downtown, transforming the gray lines of light posts into pillars of color. State street, where carnival will reign on Wednesday night, bloomed with gold and white bunting, festooned with green palm branches.

The national colors flew bravely in Michigan boulevard, vying with the blue and gold hues of the Jubilee. Along the boulevard from Chicago avenue to 26th street will march the huge parade which, beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight, will formally open the festival side of the Jubilee.

In scores of mercantile and manufacturing establishments, artists were putting the final touches on the ninety floats for the parade, floats portraying the beautiful and historic aspects of Chicago.

Band of 500 to Lead.

There will be no monotony in the Jubilee parade—no lagging of the marchers nor disappointing gaps between floats. A swift tempo will be sent by the leading band, a battalion of 500 professional musicians, directed by a master bandsman, James C. Petrillo, president of the Chicago Federation of Musicians.

"The finest bandsmen in Chicago will be in the federation's unit and I promise you that their music will lift the hearts of all in hearing," said Mr. Petrillo.

Scores of other musical units, military bands in gorgeous uniforms, crack drum corps and novelty bands will transport the rhythm of the federation band down the four mile line of march, and the parade will sweep along with precision. At every corner along the line of march a reserve army officer will be stationed to keep the parade units closed up in position.

Brilliant Floats in Line.

As for the floats, Chairman Robert H. Nau of the parade committee pointed out that some of the foremost decorative artisans of the city had expended their talents and ingenuity in designing the entries, and that the sponsors of these floats had spent lavishly in carrying out the designs.

"We'll have the Pasadena tournament of roses and the New Orleans Mardi Gras all bound up in one grand display, said Mr. Nau.

In a last minute bulletin last night Mr. Nau announced that the 3,000 members of the R. O. T. C. units participating in the pared must be in line at Erie street and Michigan boulevard by 7 o'clock this evening. The Saturday holiday made it impossible to give all particulars to the schoolboy marchers.

From a gayly decorated reviewing stand between 7th and 8th streets a host of city, state, and national notables will review the parade. Four hundred seats have been provided for these celebrities and their friends.

Among those scheduled to appear in the stand are: Mayor Cermak, Gov. Emmerson, and the governors of four other states, Senator James Hamilton Lewis, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, retired, former chief of staff of the United States army, and Rear Admiral Walter S. Crosley, commandant of the Great Lakes Naval Training station.

The foreign consuls in Chicago also are expected to view the parade from this point of vantage.

Tribune to Award Trophy.

A feature that will mark the close of the march will be the award by THE TRIBUNE of an impressive silver loving cup to the best boys' band in the procession. The presentation of the trophy to the winning band will be made by Mr. Petrillo.

He and two other judges, Victor Grabel, director of the 1930 Chicago land music festival, and Glen C. Balsum, band director at Northwestern university, will determine the winner. THE TRIBUNE cup will be on display today in the windows of THE TRIBUNE Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street.

Two other parade trophies will be presented, one by Marshall Field & Co. and the other by Carson Pirie Scott & Co.

Royalty to See Parade.

As a happy coincidence with the Jubilee opening it was announced last night that Chicago's distinguished guests, Prince and Princess Takamatsu of Japan, will arrive from New York at 9 p. m. Prince Takamatsu is the brother of the Japanese emperor. The royal party is coming in over the Michigan Central to the Park Row station at 12th street and Michigan boulevard and the prince and princess will greet Chicago about the hour the Jubilee parade is in midpassage south.

Members of the royal party attending the prince and princess are: Commander Takeo Yamagata, master of ceremonies; Dr. Sakamoto, court physician; Lieut. Com. Kyosuke Midzuno, naval attaché; Mme. Ochiai, lady in waiting and wife of the former Japanese ambassador to Italy; M. Kato, counselor of the Japanese embassy at Washington; and Capt. Zacharias, U. S. N.

The royal couple, after at least a glimpse of the parade, will be motored north in Michigan avenue to the Drake hotel, where the party will stop during their Chicago sojourn. As part of the Jubilee celebration and for the entertainment of the prince and princess, an elaborate dinner will be given at the Palmer house tomorrow evening, 600 guests having been invited.

Throngs See Fountain.

Due to yesterday's showers, the May dances planned for the Jubilee opening of the Buckingham fountain at 7:30 o'clock last evening, were ordered postponed by Victor Brown, superintendent of recreation of the south parks system.

Mr. Brown announced he would confer today with Frederick J. Ashley, chairman of the Jubilee coördinating committee of the Association of Commerce, regarding a future time for the dance presentation during the Jubilee. Although postponement of the dance program was announced by radio, 15,000 Jubilee celebrants were at Buckingham square at the designated hour. Nor were they wholly disappointed.

With the permission of Miss Kate Buckingham, donor of the fountain, W. L. Bell, superintendent of the fountain staff of engineers, ordered the cascades of light and water turned on and the fountain played for several hours. Its formal opening annually fixed for May 30, was advanced for the Jubilee.

Plane Carries Jubilee News.

Direct news of the Jubilee was carried to thousands of residents of cities and towns in the metropolitan area yesterday by the Jubilee plane sponsored for the Association of Commerce by John P. Harding, restaurant owner. The ship flew over Joliet, Aurora, Elgin, Libertyville, Waukegan, and other points for four hours, sending a spoken message by means of a broadcast amplifier.

Another Jubilee feature is in readiness today on the fourth floor of the Palmer house, where the Chicago Artists' Jubilee exhibition is being held. Hundreds of pictures by artists in Chicagoland and other sections may be seen. Sculptures in terra cotta, metal, bronze and wood are also on display. The exhibition will be open during the Jubilee from 11 a. m. to 11 p. m.

Program at Northwestern.

Northwestern university's contribution to the Jubilee will open tomorrow night, according to an announcement by Vaughn Bryant, director of the university publicity, with the beginning of the seventh annual Woman's week. The Matrix banquet, sponsored by Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalism sorority, will be held in honor of women achieving distinction in other fields.

The week's most colorful ceremony on the campus, according to Mr. Bryant, will take place Thursday afternoon, when the May queen, whose identity is a secret, will be crowned by last year's queen, Mary Blanche Little.

Formation of the Jubilee Parade

The greatest and most colorful parade in Chicago's history will start down Michigan avenue at 7:30 o'clock tonight as the major inaugural event of the Chicago Jubilee. It is expected that the array of bands, drum corps, gayly decorated floats, and marching units of military and civic organizations will require three hours to pass.

The parade, in three sections, will start at Chicago avenue and will proceed down the avenue to 26th street, under the direction of Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commander of the Sixth corps army area, grand marshal of the march.

The list of the participating organizations was announced yesterday by Frederick J. Ashley, Jubilee chairman of the Association of Commerce; Robert H. Nau, parade chairman, and Maj. Gen. Parker. It follows:

FIRST SECTION.

Escort of Chicago police
State highway patrol
The Chicago Federation of Musicians band
Black Horse troop
Grand marshal and aids
Regular Army
National Guard
Great Lakes Naval Training Station band
Naval militia
Reserve Officers' Training corps

SECOND SECTION.

STANLEY GETS HIS AUTO THIEF IN SPITE OF BUMPS

Stanley Pragacz, 2409 North Sawyer avenue, started out in his automobile to visit a friend last night, but at Kedzie and Fullerton avenues the car stopped. Stanley tinkered with the motor a bit and then, knowing the car's eccentricities, he decided to complete his visit by means of a street car.

Some time later Stanley boarded a Fullerton avenue car and started back to his automobile to make a last attempt at starting it. As he neared the scene, riding on the rear platform of the street car, he noticed an automobile approaching from behind and gasped. It was his erstwhile obstinate machine.

As the automobile started to pass the street car Stanley jumped, catching the spare tire. For two miles he rode on this shaky perch, until at Kilbourn avenue and Dickens street the car hit a bump and he was thrown into a mud puddle. The driver stopped to investigate the splash and Stanley grappled with him.

At this juncture Sergt. Peter Storm of the Shakespeare avenue police came up and arrested Stanley's foe, Norman Greenwald, 15 years old, 3133 Homer street. Norman admitted he was an expert at starting stalled cars and that he had recently stolen two others. He was taken to the juvenile detention home.

Gunmen Rob Floral Shop of Mother's Day Receipts

Two gunmen entered the Colonial Floral shop, 801 Sheridan road, shortly before midnight last night and robbed the proprietor, Andrew Pappatony, 743 Waveland place, of $925, his receipts from Mother's day sales.

Gen. Grant's Bodyguard, Otis Nye, 87, Dead in Iowa

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 10.—[Special.]—Otis Nye, 87, bodyguard for Gen. Grant during the closing days of the war, died here last night. He fought at Gettysburg and was a prisoner at Andersonville.

CHICAGO BOUND TRAIN ENGINEER KILLED; 2 HURT

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., May 10.—(AP)—Engineer Perry Wilson, 45, of Woodside, N. Y., was killed and two passengers were injured by flying glass as the Westerner express, fast New York Central New York-Chicago passenger train, sidewiped a box car which had been derailed by a landslide at Pitt's Siding, seventeen miles north of here. Wilson was looking out of the cab window and his head was struck by the box car.

The passengers of the Westerner express were transferred to the special train which left Rhinecliff to continue the trip to Chicago.

According to railroad officials, the landslide was caused by a boulder rolling down a steep bank, followed by a mass of mud, loosened by recent rains. The rock crashed into a line of box cars on the siding and threw them over on the main track.

ROBBED IN PARKING STATION.

Joseph Smith, attendant at a parking station at Lake street and Wacker drive, was held up and robbed of $20 by two men last night, who drove up in an automobile.

Father Kills Himself in Home of His Son

John T. Ryan, 65 years old, 802 West Madison street, committed suicide late yesterday afternoon by shooting himself through the head in the home of his son, James Ryan, 2406 Winnemac avenue. He had gone to his son's home for a visit and had lain down supposedly to sleep when other members of the family went out.

CHURCHES HAIL JUBILEE—A NEW START FOR CITY

Chicago Is Marching On, Col. Randolph Says.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The Chicago Jubilee, though flavored with the idea of festivity, is more than that. It is the launching point of a new era of civic achievement. So declared Col. Robert Isham Randolph, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, at a special Jubilee service last night in the New England Congregational church.

Col. Randolph reviewed the signs of advancement in the city's educational, spiritual fields and declared a new epoch is at hand. He said the Jubilee will launch an epoch which will culminate in the World's Fair as a great Chicago on the March.

"I can assemble like this, dedicated to the spiritual side of life, I believe it is eminently fitting that we call attention to the fact that Chicago is more than brick and mortar, cement and steel," Col. Randolph said.

"We have witnessed a magnificent development in this city along these lines. Within the towers that make our city's front skyline are those who have helped create them and who have made them useful.

"In spite of all economic depression and municipal problems Chicago is on the march. Our material development is symbolical of that inner development in the field of education, character, and human values."

George W. Dixon Speaks.

George W. Dixon, chairman of the church committee of the Jubilee, was another speaker. He said the workings of the Chicago spirit were observable in the religious services devoted to the launching of the Jubilee. The religious feature, he declared, epitomized the Chicago that is, and the Chicago to be.

The service was marked by the singing of many spirituals by the church choir of 150 voices from the Metropolitan church [colored]. The choir was directed by Prof. J. Wesley Jones. The pastor of the Metropolitan church, the Rev. Dr. Joseph A. Bruce, assisted in the services.

Jubilee-Mother's Day.

It was a Jubilee-Mother's day in Chicago's 1,800 churches. Pastors emphasized the dual significance of the day usually devoted to motherhood and the day which will open a new era in life for Chicago.

The Rev. Dr. John Thompson, preaching in the Chicago temple, declared Mother's day is closely linked with the spirit of the Jubilee. He said the Jubilee heralds the new start and the new name Chicago is to win in the eyes of the country. That new name, Dr. Thompson asserted, will be the city's most acceptable gift to mothers.

Dr. Thompson applauded THE TRIBUNE for sponsoring the Jubilee. He declared the cooperation of the press of the city with THE TRIBUNE in supporting the Jubilee had brought about a new awakening.

"For the first time in years," said Dr. Thompson, "there are genuine signs of moral indignation against the political abuses that brought about the dominance of banditry. When a bandit shoots a policeman, he does not shoot at the man, but a government.

"It opens the way to juvenile criminality and to the disruption of home life. The civilization of the city largely rests on the solidarity of its homes. All the blood of the body politic runs through the home just as all the blood of the body runs through the heart."

Jubilee Sunday at Moody Memorial church, Clark street and North avenue, brought to a close a five day missionary convention which maintains nearly 100 Christian workers in various parts of the world.

Jubilee as World Influence.

Dr. H. A. Ironside, pastor of the Moody church, as he spoke of the Jubilee, declared that such widespread missionary work as that church maintains is "a remarkable demonstration of the far reaching influence of the Christian institutions of Chicago."

"Too often," Dr. Ironside said, "has the stress been laid on the political corruption and criminal record of our great city. This has meant that the tremendous spiritual forces going out into all the world from this metropolis have been ignored.

"If the Jubilee, supported by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, shall be seen as not only another effort to rid the name of Chicago of civic and political corruption, but also as a challenge to Christians of the city to send the gospel to the world, then the name of Chicago will move the hearts of untold thousands to deep thanksgiving."

The Rev. Dr. Duncan H. Browne, rector of historic St. James' Episcopal church, compared the Chicago Jubilee to the ancient custom among the Hebrews of holding a special season of rejoicing and exultation every 15 years. At those ancient jubilees, Dr. Browne explained, all slaves were liberated and all alienated lands reverted to their former owners or heirs.

"Likewise," Dr. Browne pointed out, "the people of Chicago rejoice at this Jubilee that a new administration of city government has set about the task of redeeming Chicago's good name.

"The Jubilee will open a new period of opportunity, and opportunity should be the watchword—opportunity to raise the spiritual tone of the people through religious faith, and to stress service of the whole personality, body, mind and spirit."

A welcome to the Jubilee was voiced before the Sunday Evening club in Orchestra hall by Clifford W. Barnes, president of the club. Tracing Chicago's rise as a metropolis, Mr. Barnes spoke of the improved administration of city affairs as one of the things for which the citizens may be grateful during the Jubilee.

Baptists to Hold Rally.

Baptists of Chicago have utilized the first three days of the Jubilee for a great rally and the 98th anniversary meeting of the Chicago Baptist association. Sessions will be held today, tomorrow and Wednesday at the Second Baptist church, Jackson boulevard and Lincoln street.

"Christ and the City" will be the theme of the meetings. Widely known leaders from New York, as well as Chicago, have been called to give the principal addresses and to lead discussions.

Signs of a new day in the religious life of Chicago in terms of wider interdenominational cooperation will be shown by the Baptists. Their announcements say that the resolutions committee will present a report asking for a larger spirit of cooperation among Protestant groups.

A resolution from this committee will state that the Baptist association urges prompt action and constant interest at the polls to defeat the alliance of crime and politics."

Mother's Day Celebrated Throughout City

German Communists Fire on Red Cross Men; Kill 2

BERLIN, Germany, May 10.—(AP)—Communists at Limbach, near Chemnitz, today fired a volley at a motor truck carrying a party of Red Cross excursionists, who were mistaken for National Socialists. Two of the Red Cross men were killed. Thirty Communists and "nazis" were injured in two other clashes during the week-end.

SWANSON TO PRESS FOR A QUICK TRIAL OF POLICE SLAYER

State's Attorney Swanson said yesterday that he plans to appear this morning before Chief Justice John P. McGoorty of the Criminal court to take charge of the prosecution of Frank Jordan, who confessed to Mayor Cermak the murder of Policemen Anthony Ruthy and Patrick Durkin and then pleaded not guilty when arraigned in court.

Attorneys George Bieber and Michael Brodkin, representing Jordan, served notice they will ask a change of venue when the case is called. The defense lawyers said they would object to a trial before Judge McGoorty and also before Judge Philip Finnegan. The move was regarded by the prosecutor's office as intended to procure a delay.

Jordan, a bank robber, was captured by a citizen after he had shot down Policemen Ruthy and Durkin at Michigan boulevard and Randolph street when they tried to arrest him. Within twenty-four hours he had been indicted for the Ruthy murder and arraigned before Judge McGoorty.

Jordan had said he intended to plead guilty, but just before he was asked to plead to the indictment Attorneys Bieber and Brodkin entered the case and announced they had been retained by Jordan's friends. They asked for time to confer with him and later Jordan pleaded not guilty.

CHICAGO HONORS ITS MOTHERS IN HOME AND PULPIT

Lodges and Schools Join in Observance of Day.

Mother's day was observed throughout Chicago yesterday in churches, homes, and on the air. Pastors of many churches dedicated their sermons to motherhood. Lodges held special services and few were the homes in which flowers, candy, or other tokens of affection were not placed in mothers' hands.

The Grand opera house was thrown open to the public yesterday afternoon for the observance of Mother's day by the Chicago lodge of Elks. Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, city health commissioner and coroner of Cook county, eulogized mothers in an address. An appropriate program was presented by artists from W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE radio station.

Jane Addams' Talk Broadcast.

Miss Jane Addams, welfare worker and "mother" to many a homeless waif, spoke over a nation-wide radio hookup, sponsored by the Golden Rule Foundation of Chicago. She praised Mother's day as an institution set aside permanently for the reverence due to motherhood.

"Nothing could be more beautiful," said Miss Addams, "than for those of us who have no mothers now, to honor those mothers who have no one else to remember them."

Mothers Review Cadets.

Cadets at the Morgan Park Military academy passed in review in a formal dress parade before their mothers who were special guests yesterday at the academy.

A special floral display in honor of mothers was held at the Garfield Park conservatory from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m.

Many of the fraternities and sororities of the various Chicago schools, colleges and universities held Mother's day programs.

Man and Women Killed When Airplane Crashes

Point Pleasant, W. Va., May 10.—(AP)—A man and a woman, tentatively identified as Harold Morrow, 35, and a Miss Miner, 21, both of Youngstown, O., were killed at New Haven, near here today, when their airplane crashed in a wheat field and caught fire.

U. S. READY TO TRY RALPH CAPONE AND 12 HENCHMEN TODAY

Assistant United States Attorney Victor La Rue declared yesterday that he is ready to proceed today with the trials of Ralph Capone and twelve employés of the Cotton club and Montmartre club on liquor violation charges, and that he will resist delays. Ralph, a brother of Al, is now under a three year sentence for income tax fraud.

The trials are the outgrowth of raids on the two night clubs a year ago. Ralph Capone is reputed to be the owner of both clubs, but prohibition agents say Alphonse is the real owner. Ralph was present at the time of the raid on the Cotton club in Cicero and was taken into custody along with "Bon Bon" Allegretti, the manager, and eleven others.

Mr. La Rue said the employés had offered to plead guilty if given assurances of light sentences, but he said he would not bargain with any of the defendants. A delay is now being sought, Mr. La Rue declared, on the representation that Allegretti is ill. The prosecutor will ask that the court direct a government physician to examine the defendant. He will request the court to order Capone to trial immediately, regardless of whether Allegretti is tried at the same time, he said.

reputation as an all around athlete, playing on the football, basketball, and baseball teams. It was suggested by friends of the publisher last night that his strenuous athletic career might have weakened his heart. Beloit honored him last June by conferring upon him the honorary degree of doctor of laws.

Associates of Mr. Strong in the control of the Daily News are James L. Houghteling, vice president and treasurer; Charles H. Dennis, the editor, and James N. Shryock, business manager, who with Sewell Avery, John Stuart, Benjamin Becker, Laird Bell, and George Scott, are on the board of directors.

Born in Chicago in 1883.

Mr. Strong was born in Chicago on Aug. 13, 1883. His parents were Dr. Albert B. Strong, a prominent west side physician, and Idea Cook Strong. He attended Lewis Institute here after completing his grammar school course, and was graduated as an engineer. He then entered Beloit.

In the meantime, he had started newspaper work in Chicago, beginning on the old Chicago Record in 1899. Upon his graduation from Beloit, he went to work for the Daily News. The late Mrs. Lawson was a cousin of Mr. Strong.

In 1913, Mr. Strong was married to Josephine Haviland Webster, daughter of a wealthy Evanston manufacturer. Five children were born to the couple—Walter Jr., now 16 years old; John Webster, 14; Robert Kitchell, 11; Anne, 9, and David Seymour, 5, who, with the widow, survive.

Mr. Strong was a member of the University, Union League, Mid-Day, and Indian Hill clubs. He also was a member of Beta Theta Pi and of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity.

Two U. S. Soldiers and 3 Panamans Hurt in Clash

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

COLON, Panama, May 10.—Feeling among Panamans today was bitter against United States soldiers following a double street battle late last night between the United States military police and native policemen. To prevent a further clash the soldiers were prohibited from entering Colon. Three Panamans were injured in the melée and two soldiers were taken to the hospital after being clubbed by Panaman police.

JAPANESE PRINCE IS DISAPPOINTED BY NIAGARA FALLS

Niagara Falls, N. Y., May 10.—(AP)—Speaking for Prince Takamatsu and Princess Kikuko of Japan in an official interview this afternoon, Commander Yakeo Yamagata, master of ceremonies, expressed disappointment in Niagara's grandeur for their royal highnesses.

Leading figures in the dominion and in this city were somewhat crestfallen yesterday when the 19 year old princess murmured in flawless English as she gazed for the first time on the cataract: "Why, this is not what I expected; I thought it would be greater."

Commander Yamagata this afternoon said:

"There was a feeling in the royal party that the illumination of the falls which we saw last evening was somewhat gaudy. We are much impressed by the sublimity of this waterfall, but to light it in striking colors is like gilding the lily."

Marshal Pilsudski Stops Cut in Pay of Polish Army

WARSAW, Poland, May 10.—(AP)—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski vastly increased his popularity with the army today by refunding to all ranks the 15 per cent reduction in pay which the government put into effect on May 1 as a part of a general salary reduction policy. He did this in spite of protests by the finance minister.

SERPENT RULES IN BAGGAGE CAR; CAPTURED HERE

18 Foot Python Gets Out of Its Box.

An eighteen foot python, undisputed monarch of an Erie express train baggage car from Barberton, O., to Chicago, was unceremoniously deposed from a throne of boxes as the car was opened in the Dearborn street station yesterday afternoon.

While railroad men gave the baggage car a clear berth, several attendants of the Lincoln park zoo, headed by Richard Auer, removed the baggage and captured the serpent.

The python was one of a consignment of four shipped at New York from Singapore to Brownsville, Tex. Near Barberton, William Stewart of Jamestown, N. Y., express messenger in charge of the car, heard a noise. He turned to see the python stretching after its long confinement in a box. Stewart opened the door and clung to the side of the car, after manœuvering to close the door.

Stewart maintained his hold in a driving rain until the train stopped at Marion, O., where police, trainmen, and bystanders watched as station hands gingerly removed the baggage consigned to that town. The python did not appear. At Marion the car was sealed.

On the arrival of the train here, railroad officials notified the zoo. Several attendants cautiously unloaded the car. At one end the serpent was discovered coiled on several boxes. Auer fitted a noose on a long pole over the head of the python and returned it to its box, which had been forced open. The other snakes were secure in their boxes. The consignment started on the last lap of the journey to Texas late yesterday.

HOOSIER DIES IN AUTO CRASH.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 10.—(AP)—Henry Wells, 48, of Beech Grove, was killed, his wife, Mrs. Tillie Wells, 32, critically injured, and their two sons cut and bruised today in an automobile collision southeast of Indianapolis.

STUDENTS FIGHT ACADEMY BLAZE IN LAKE FOREST

Fire of undetermined origin yesterday attacked Reid hall, principal building of the Lake Forest Academy for Boys, 677 East Rosemary road, Lake Forest. The flames caused damage estimated at more than $15,000 by John Wayne Richards, headmaster.

The 190 students left their dormitories and helped firemen extinguish the blaze. Some helped salvage records, files, and paintings. Movable laboratory equipment was also carried out.

The fire started in the basement, and broke into the corridors on the first floor. The nine classrooms, headmaster's office, and physics laboratory were closed, and saved from extensive damage. More than fifty pictures depicting the history of the academy since its founding in 1857 were destroyed. Reid hall is two stories high and contains the academy administration offices in addition to the classrooms and other quarters.

SIX DESPERADOES TO FACE QUIZ IN CHICAGO TODAY

Three Are Identified in Nebraska Robbery.

With three of the six gangsters captured Friday in a raid on their hideout in East St. Louis identified as the bandits who robbed the First National Bank and Trust company of Lincoln, Neb., preparations were being made yesterday for their removal from the Walls ide county jail at Moline, Ill., to Chicago. Three Chicago detective bureau squads arrived in Moline to escort the six to the criminal courts building this morning.

In Chicago they are expected to be greeted before the largest showup of police ever assembled here. Identifications and suspicions from throughout the country on bank robberies, abductions and other crimes against the gangsters are to be tested. Additional witnesses to the Lincoln bank robbery are coming here to confirm identifications already made.

Expect Battle for Custody.

The battle for the custody of the prisoners, all of whom were members of the gang organization that was headed by Fred Burke, notorious killer now serving a life sentence in the Michigan penitentiary, will be fought out after the showup.

It is the belief of State's Attorney Swanson's assistants that by quizzing them here, information may be obtained that will be valuable in an approach to a cleanup of the Valentine day massacre of seven Moran gangsters on the north side in 1929.

Iowa also has a claim on them. J. R. Quinlan, representing the Iowa Bankers' association, arrived in Morrison last night with fingerprints left on a show case by robbers who killed two deputy sheriffs in Washington, Ia., during a holdup several months ago. The prints are to be compared with the fingers of the men under arrest.

Nebraska's claim rests on the identifications of Thomas P. Connors, Howard Lee and Thomas Hayes by four witnesses to the $2,300,000 looting of the Lincoln bank last Sept. 17. This claim is to be pressed by County Attorney Max Towle of Lincoln, who is in Chicago.

Connors has been identified as the leader of four bandits who robbed the Plano State bank at Plano, Ill., last December. A picture of Lee has been identified by M. C. Mott, cashier of the Mundelein State bank, as among the bandits who held him and his family prisoners overnight in their home and forced him to open the bank vaults April 2. They escaped with $15,000.

Given Lie Detector Test.

Connors yesterday submitted to examination under the lie detector of Leonard Keeler of the Northwestern crime laboratory. He denied connection with the Lincoln bank looting. Keeler was brought to Morrison by Assistant Attorney General Emory Smith, representing the Lincoln bank. Lee and Hayes, who refused to take the test, also denied a part in the robbery.

Possibility of the gang connection with the St. Valentine's day massacre was brought out when Nebraska authorities produced a picture of Connors taken with Fred Burke and the latter's pal, Gus Winkler. Connors confessed to "a slight acquaintance" with both men. Machine guns found in Burke's home in Michigan a year ago were said by ballistics experts to have been used in the massacre.

Quiz on Two Slayings.

In addition to the massacre Chicago police are seeking to hold the gangsters for questioning on the murder of Detective Ray Martin, slain in May, 1929, when police attempted to trap kidnapers of Philip Blumenthal, a former bootlegger, and on the murder of William J. Rooney, labor leader, slain last March.

Through Roscoe C. Saunders of the Illinois Bankers' association pictures of the six men have been sent throughout the country for possible identification. Banks of Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Illinois are expected to send representatives to the showup.

The remaining prisoners are John Britt, Edward [Machine Gun] O'Hara, and William McQuillan, owner of a gangsters' hangout in St. Louis. All are said to have been members of the old John Shelton gang of St. Louis, having been formerly associated with Burke and indirectly with Joe Traum of Indiana.

ADAMS TO VIEW NAVAL 'BATTLE' OFF WEST COAST

Secretary to See Fleet in Action This Week.

San Pedro, Cal., May 10.—(AP)—With Secretary of Navy Charles Francis Adams due to join the fleet early tomorrow, the United States battleship force, attended by two giant airplane carriers and sundry other craft, stood by today prepared for its final maneuver of the season, a demonstration of its gun power.

SECRETARY ADAMS.
[(C) Harris-Ewing.]

The farce practice, embracing the most intensive gunnery fire of the navy, will be staged off San Nicolas island, sixty miles at sea, probably on Wednesday, depending on conditions of visibility. It will be the first time that Secretary Adams has witnessed the spectacle.

The fleet, composed of nine superdreadnaughts, the two carriers, a quartet of large V-type submarines, and 20 destroyers, will steam away from the naval base early Tuesday under command of Vice Admiral Richard H. Leigh. It will return probably Thursday or Friday.

Witnessing the maneuver, which will constitute the spectacular broadside firing of the 14 and 16 inch guns from the turrets of the huge floating fortresses at fast moving targets on the distant horizon, will be Secretary Adams, Admiral Jehu V. Case, commander of the United States fleet, and Admiral Frank H. Schofield, battle force commander.

Planes to Take Part.

Moving out in battle formation, the battleship fleet led by the submarines and the two carriers with 200 or more airplanes droning above searching out the targets, will have decks cleared to meet the phantom foe. Once the targets are sighted, the battleships will swing into line and as the flag "commence firing" breaks out, the huge guns will be fired.

Immediately the destroyer fleet, representing an enemy force, will swoop in upon the dreadnaughts, sending a school of dummy torpedoes at the giant gray hulks as they zig-zag along at a 24 knot clip.

Then the battleships will swing in line in an opposite direction, training the five inch guns on another set of targets, simulating fire upon the destroyers.

CITY DUE TO PAY 158 MILLION MORE FOR STATE ROADS

$51,115,632 Already Is Given by Chicago Autoists

BY HAL FOUST.

Chicago motorists, through registration fees and the gasoline tax, have contributed $51,115,632 toward the construction of the state bond issue system of paved roads. Before the system is completed and the bonds are retired, the city's automobile owners will be taxed $158,185,549 more, making a total of $209,301,181 for pavements, not a mile of which would be in Chicago under the present laws.

CHAS. M. HAYES.

These figures are cited by the Chicago Motor club in support of an amendment to the administration's road appropriation bill, pending in the senate, which seeks to provide $5,000,000 to begin construction of an elevated highway in the city during the next two years. The figures are also being used by those who advocate a redistribution of the gasoline tax revenue to give municipalities a third of the 3 cent levy, which now is divided 2 cents to the state and 1 cent to counties.

What Chicago Must Pay.

"The statistics," said Charles M. Hayes, president of the motor club, "show how modest is the request for $5,000,000. In the next two years alone Chicago automobile owners will pay between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000 of the state's total road bill of $107,000,000."

Under Gov. Emmerson's legislative program, Chicago's streets would receive not more than $3,500,000 in improvements during the next biennium, and this would be the first money the state highway department has spent in the corporate limits. Under the amendment proposed by Mr. Hayes, the city would receive an additional $5,000,000. Under the 1-1-1 bill advocated by the Illinois Municipalities league Chicago would get between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 in the next two years and other cities would benefit proportionately.

Mayor Cermak has said he will build a superhighway to the west side if Chicago gets gasoline tax revenue to finance the project.

Urges Aid for Cities.

"It's time to call a halt on this concentration of expenditures on the state bond issue routes," said Michael Igoe [Dem., Chicago], minority leader in the house of representatives. "It's time that city and village streets which handle state traffic receive some improvement.

"The $51,000,000 that Chicago motorists have spent on building rural roads, mainly downstate, is water over the dam and can not be recalled. The obligation to complete the bond issue system and to pay interest and principal on the bonds canfiot be evaded, and Chicagoans will have to pay their $158,000,000 portion.

"However, there is no reason why the state should continue to spend practically all of its highway funds on the bond issue routes. Traffic routes into and through municipalities are the most urgent need of the motoring public today. That's why I favor giving a third of the gasoline tax revenue to the municipalities, with provision that the cities and villages spend the money on through routes."

Provisions of Pending Bill.

The administration's pending road appropriation bill is typical of highway expenditures of the past, except that for the first time there is an allowance for building in municipalities, $7,000,000 out of a total appropriation of $107,000,000. There are allowances of $75,000,000 for building bond issue routes, $10,000,000 for improving bond issue routes, $10,000,000 for maintaining bond issue routes, and $2,000,000 for state highway police. For the first time there is an allotment for maintaining streets worn by state highway traffic—$1,000,000.

The first bond issue, adopted in 1918, totaled $60,000,000, and called for the construction of 4,800 miles of road. The other issue, passed in 1924, was for $100,000,000 and added 5,000 miles to the system, making a total of 9,800 miles provided for, although some of this mileage has not been built.

On Jan. 1, 1931, there had been 7,193 miles built by the state and 472 miles of pavement built locally and taken over by the state. The total expenditures for bond issue construction amount to $292,595,534. This money was derived from bond sales, registration fees, and gasoline tax. It does n t include payments for interest and principal on the bonds, nor for maintenance, nor for refunds to the counties.

There are still 2,135 miles of bond issue routes to be built. The motor club estimates that the cost to complete, including relatively small sums for widening and for grade separations, is $115,000,000.

When the bond issue routes are finished, probably in 1934, and the bonds are retired, the following sums will have been spent, according to the club:

Bonds	$292,959,788
Federal aid	59,613,785
Gas tax	90,441,665
License fees	99,985,596
Miscellaneous	3,865,265
Total	$546,856,519

In figuring Chicago's portion, the motor club, to be conservative, disregarded the federal aid item. The club also disregarded the millions for maintenance of rural roads that have been paid by Chicago motorists.

SON OF D'ANNUNZIO AND PRIMA DONNA TO BE MARRIED IN FALL

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—The secret engagement of a year between Medea Columbara, soprano, and Ugo v. D'Annunzio, son of Gabriele D'Annunzio, famous Italian poet, playright and soldier, was revealed here today.

Miss Columbara and D'Annunzio announced they will be married in the fall. Miss Columbara is 28 and lives in Tudor City. D'Annunzio is 42 and is American representative of a foreign motor company.

The couple met, they said, four years ago in Milan, Italy, where Miss Columbara, now prima donna of Al Jolson's "The Wonder Bar," was a member of La Scala Opera company.

Morris Gest, the former theatrical producer, will be best man at the wedding.

BEGIN HEARINGS TODAY ON RAIL ELECTRIFICATION

State Representative William G. Thon announced yesterday that the first of a series of hearings by the legislative committee on transportation on the merits of a proposed law for the electrification of all railroads entering Chicago will be held today. The committee, of which Thon is chairman, will meet in the county building.

Under the bill proposed by Representative Harris B. Gaines the roads would be given until 1935 to electrify their city rights of way. Opposition is expected from railroad officials, who will be given an opportunity to present their objections. Doing away with the noisy and smoke-belching locomotives is demanded by Chicago's citizens, Representative Gaines declared, and besides being an economic improvement, the action would tend to beautify the city and improve the health of the city's residents.

2,000 BOY SLAVES IN EGYPT HAREMS BEG FOR LIBERTY

Eunuchs to Ask League to Assist Them.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GENEVA, May 10.—Mustafa Nahideddin, a tribal chief of the Egypt-Sudan region, is en route from Egypt to Geneva to plead before the league of nations assembly from 2,000 eunuchs to be released from slavery, in an effort to enlighten the world to the necessity of ending the cruel operations which these slaves are forced to undergo in their youth and before they are sold for high prices to Egyptian princes and nobles.

Traveling with the chief as his companion is a former palace servant of King Fuad, who escaped some months ago. He will attempt to give a detailed story of how many of the happy servants of the king's seraglio were captured and forced into slavery.

Tells of Village Raids.

Nahideddin, the palace slave, is an old man. He has served under Khedive Tewfik, brother of the present king, and also under the present ruler. He recalled that one evening when he was a boy he was sitting in his native village a few miles from Khartoum, as the women were cooking food for their men, who had just returned from work in the fields.

Suddenly, he said, there were cries of alarm, "The Arabs are coming!" Shots were poured into the village. The slave traders had arrived. The elder men of the village were shot before the eyes of their wives, and the young women were tied together and carried off to be sold in the slave markets. The boys were rounded up and divided into two groups. Those who lasted week were shot on the spot. The strong ones were operated upon with crude instruments and buried up to their necks in hot sand.

91 Boys Found Dead.

The boys were imprisoned in the sand all night long. In the morning, the servant declared, out of 130 boys, 91 were dead. The survivors were considered healthy enough to be sold in the markets. He said there was an extensive demand for such youths in the Chinese palaces to look after the every whim of the princes and pashas.

Today the king of Egypt employs two dozen for his harem, and they are the only men allowed to approach the queen and other women of his harem, the tribal chief insists. He says there is not the slightest attempt to conceal the fact that eunuchs are retained in the royal palaces.

GIRL KILLED AS AUTO UPSETS ON FAMILY OUTING

Two Others Hurt; Victim Prospective Bride.

Death ended a family outing in a three car caravan yesterday when one of the machines swerved into a ditch near Grant Park, Ill., killed a prospective bride and injured two other persons, among them her fiancé and her niece.

The dead victim was Miss Josephine Vesely, 21 years old, 5817 South Richmond street. Those injured are Matthew Scheff, 25 years old, 5740 South Whipple street, her sweetheart, to whom she was to be married soon, and Betty Jane Vesely, 5 years old, her niece.

Drive in Three Cars.

Yesterday the Vesely family gathered for a motor trip to their summer cottage in Indiana. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vesely, the parents, drove in the leading car. Miss Vesely, Scheff and the girl followed in the second automobile, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vesely, parents of the child, made up the rear. The caravan proceeded in route 17. The pavement was slippery, and as Scheff's car approached a conduit bridge, the machine skidded and overturned in the ditch. The injured were taken to St. James' hospital in Chicago Heights where Miss Vesely died. The accident occurred in Will county.

Three deaths were reported in Cook [illegible] toll for the year to 408. [illegible] old, no address, died in the County hospital of injuries suffered April 29 when he was hit by a car at Washington boulevard and Racine avenue. Mrs. Ethel I. Johnson, 4215 North Kedvale avenue, told police that the man stumbled in front of her machine.

Robert Curtis, 19 years old, 2311 Walnut street, colored, was fatally injured last night when the automobile in which he was riding struck a concrete mixer at 95th street and Yates avenue. He died shortly afterward in the South Chicago hospital. The driver, William Garden, 2232 Maypole avenue, also colored, escaped injury.

Patrick Breslin, 65 years old, 7650 Bishop street, was run down and fatally injured at Ashland avenue and 77th street by a machine driven by Henry Panak, 1510 North Talman avenue. He died shortly afterward at the Auburn Park hospital.

Policeman Seriously Injured.

Lincoln Park Policeman John Fisher, 43 years old, 1507 Arthur avenue, was seriously injured early yesterday when he was struck by an automobile at Lake Shore drive and Oak street. According to police, C. H. Rich, 30 years old, 1042 George street, the driver, did not stop immediately after the accident. With him was E. F. Barry, 5325 Berenice avenue, owner of the car. Rich was held.

Martin Cavanaugh, 2436 Palmer street, a street car conductor, was badly hurt yesterday, and three others were also injured when their machine collided with a truck at Oak Park avenue and Lake street, Oak Park. The others injured are Oscar Toma, 30 years old, 110 South Grove avenue, Oak Park; Frank P. Carroll, 4252 Congress street, and Miss Therese Caruse, 419 North Laramie avenue.

Identify Evanston Woman.

The woman struck Saturday night by an automobile in front of the Orrington hotel, Evanston, and seriously injured, was identified yesterday as Mrs. Margaret K. De Bord, 55 years old, a resident guest of the hotel. She will recover, physicians believe. She had declined to reveal her identity, which eventually was established through H. W. Fox, a doorman at the hotel. Mrs. De Bord is a widow, and formerly lived in Omaha. A brother is an official of the Kraft Chain Clothing company of Clinton, Ia. Another brother, George, of the North Shore hotel, Evanston, is now in Winter Park, Fla.

ELECTION LAWS NYE BODY GOAL, GLASS ASSERTS

Senator Disputes Cannon in Investigation.

Lynchburg, Va., May 10.—(AP)—Bishop James Cannon's contention that the senate resolution permitting investigation into political activities "contemplates no legislation nor legislative duties" was disputed today by United States Senator Carter Glass, author of the resolution, in a letter to Chairman Nye of the senate campaign expenditures committee.

"Of course, your committee knows this is not true," Senator Glass said, with reference to the Cannon contention in the bishop's challenge of the committee's authority.

"The resolution establishing your committee and defining its duties textually states that its investigations are designed to insure, if possible, more effective legislation against election evils, and since my resolution, unanimously passed by the senate, was a mere addendum to the original measure, the purpose necessarily was the same. The Supreme court, as your committee is doubtless aware, has held that this would be assumed, even if not textually set forth."

Opposes Out of State Aid.

Senator Glass asked the committee to give attention to a suggestion that there "should be absolute prohibition, under heavy penalty, of political contributions of any person, concern, institution, or corporation, or any agent thereof, to any federal election campaign in any state other than that in which such person or agent resides or such institution is located, or by which such concern or corporation is licensed or chartered to conduct its business."

"Had such a provision been incorporated in the federal corrupt practices act," Senator Glass said, "the country would not now be shocked by the spectacle of a prominent prelate being publicly accused of embezzling campaign funds supplied by a wealthy resident of one state to be used to control elections in other states."

Charges Are Cited.

"It was my view," Senator Glass said, "that the jurisdiction of the senate committee should be extended because it had been publicly charged by a responsible member of congress that the existing corrupt practices act had been grossly violated by a designated person and that the compelling motive in its violation was to conceal the theft of large campaign contributions and their diversion to private uses. This charge, as it seemed to me and other senators, did not involve alone the reputation and character of the person accused, but also the very integrity of campaign contributions made to political parties for legitimate election purposes.

"In the absence of any convincing denial of this grave accusation and of any demand for an inquiry into the charge—indeed, in the face of legalistic objection and technical avoidance—it seemed to the United States senate that its committee on campaign expenditures should ascertain the truth of this or any similar indictment, with a view to proposing legislation that might effectively avert or adequately penalize a repetition of such a scandalous breach of trust and such a fraud upon the security of election donations. This was and is the whole purpose of senate resolution 405.

Sees Need of Legislation.

"The country will owe your committee a debt which it would be difficult to estimate if it will searchingly prevent the unfair use of campaign funds or their fraudulent diversion to purposes for which they are not intended. If crimes already committed may not be punished, we should at least seek to prevent their repetition with impunity.

"Both political parties talk a great deal about the 'rights of states.' Why not let each state render its own verdict at the polls in federal elections unmolested and unaffected by slush funds from other states, whether such funds be used 'legitimately' or are largely stolen and put to private uses?"

Senator Nye has already announced that the inquiry will continue, despite refusal of Bishop Cannon and Miss Ada Burroughs, secretary of the anti-Smith organization in Virginia, to testify before the committee. Representative Tinkham, Massachusetts, has complained to the committee that Bishop Cannon failed to account for $30,000 of $65,000 given the Virginia anti-Smith campaign by E. C. Jameson of New York.

N. Y. WILL OPEN NEW 13 MILLION SUBWAY MAY 30

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—The Nassau-Broad street subway and the Fourteenth street extension to the B. M. T. line from 6th avenue to 8th avenue will be opened May 30, the board of transportation announced. The city worked for three years on the $13,630,213 projects which involved engineering problems more difficult than any previous subway construction.

The opening of the Nassau-Broad street subway provides a new service from downtown Manhattan to Coney Island and other points on the B. M. T. system in Brooklyn by linking the tunnel at South and Broad streets with the Centre street loop.

JURY WILL HEAR FACTS ON $40,179 SHORTAGE TODAY

Facts in connection with the reported $40,179 shortage in the city treasury are expected to be placed before the special grand jury this morning. City Treasurer James A. Kearns and August B. Singer, former acting treasurer, have been summoned to appear before the jury at 10 a. m.

Assistant State's Attorney C. E. Lounsbury, who, with Assistant State's Attorney Charles J. Mueller, will present evidence, said yesterday that the testimony of the two officials probably will determine whether further grand jury action is warranted, although it may be necessary to await completion of the audit of the treasurer's office, covering the last four years, now being conducted by order of City Controller M. S. Szymczak.

The grand jury is expected to pay particular attention to evidence bearing upon the loans, with I. O. U.s as security, made from the treasury during the régime of Charles S. Peterson as treasurer. Approximately $5,000 such loans are estimated to have been made during his régime.

RADICALS WANT LAWS TO LIMIT CAMPAIGN COST

...tion in Next Congress Will Be Sought.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
...ington, D. C., May 10.—[Spe...]—That the next congress will see ... ...ort of at... ...ck for the sen... ...al group ... ...s a re... ...ected corrupt ... ...ctices act be... ...ome apparent ... ...day the last ... ...through ... ...hings conduct... ...d before the sen... ...special campaign ... ...nditures com... ...ittee, of which ... ...nator Gerald P. ... ...ye, North Da... ...ta insurgent ... ...republican, is ... ...rman.

PROF. CHARLES A. BEARD.

...In keeping with ... ...course of investigation which con... ...ed in the Illinois and Pennsylvania ... ...ators-elect, possessing their credentials, campaigns, and with the radical theory that any election in which large sums of money are expended is therefore a corrupt election the committee is particularly interested in the limitation of campaign expenditures.

Professors See Flaws.

The feature of the hearings, however, was the lack of support given by witnesses to the thesis that large campaign funds are necessarily evil. It was also to be noted that it was often the college professor witnesses who checked some flight of theory with a practical objection, rather than the supposedly more realistic senators.

The questions listed for discussion at the hearings are indicative of the trend of thought of some of the members behind the movement for an amended corrupt practices act. They are illustrative of how far into the realm of state sovereignty the movement's backers may try to push it.

For, the discussion has centered about such matters as the extension of congressional control not only over the regulation of campaign contributions and expenditures, but over the actual conduct of the process of voting itself; over the primaries as well as the general elections; possibly over the elections of President and Vice President. Other topics have been the creation of a permanent committee or commission of supervision which might investigate campaigns during their course and the granting of government assistance to candidates.

Limitation Is Opposed.

From Prof. Charles A. Beard, author and historian and former professor of politics at Columbia university the committee received testimony strongly favoring the limitation of campaign expenditures, but it also heard the following declaration by the professor:

"In its dealing with expenditures, the senate has established dangerous precedents; it has declined to seat senators-elect, possessing their credentials, on the ground that they had spent too much money in campaigns, and yet it refuses to prescribe in advance the conditions of exclusion so that candidates may know what to expect."

Prof. James K. Pollock of the University of Michigan, while suggesting that a limitation of about four cents for every vote cast for any particular office at the previous presidential election might be set, declared that it was not so much the amount but the source and purpose of campaign funds that mattered.

Senators Nye, whose state of North Dakota has a population of 632,000, and Dill of Washington, with its population of 1,562,000, were particularly interested in the matter of large expenditures.

Albert S. Bard, active in New York election reforms also placed the emphasis on purposes rather than amount. Thomas J. Walker, secretary of the Pennsylvania elections association, came out flatly for limitation of the extent of congressional interference on the states' conduct of their elections.

It remained, however, for Prof. Charles E. Merriam of the University of Chicago to give the committee the largest dose of realism. Experience, he said, led him to believe that the limitation of expenditures might not only be of doubtful value, but actually work more harm than good.

He agreed that workers and watchers were often hired not merely to work and watch and were largely a waste of money.

No law, he maintained, could insure fairness; no law could deal with special organizations supporting a principle rather than a candidate.

BATTLE IN HOUSE TO CURB REBUKED CITY HALL GANG

Galvin Bill Up Tomorrow; Legislators Aroused.

BY PERCY WOOD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., May 10.—[Special.]—The attempt of the discredited Republican faction to retain control of party machinery in Chicago has aroused the ire of a strong wing of the Illinois assembly and promises fireworks in the house of representatives this week.

A. O. GALVIN.

The rising controversy grows out of a bill introduced by Representative A. O. Galvin [Rep., Chicago], former city hall payroller, which would extend the terms of Chicago ward committeemen from two to four years.

In the elections committee last week it was approved, in slightly amended form, by a vote of 20 to 1—Miss Josephine Perry [Rep., Chicago] being registered against it.

Once on the floor and on second reading, Representative M. L. Igoe of Chicago, Democratic minority leader, will attack it, decrying such a change in the primary law as a betrayal of public trust. Mr. Igoe takes this stand despite the fact that he is himself a ward committeeman.

"The former mayor has 35 ward committeemen whose retention in office means that he will remain a dominant factor in a party which has rebuked him for his actions. It would almost mean that he could control the election of delegates at large in state conventions. It would mean that he would have considerable influence in the county committee which, as a matter of practice, suggests the county slate."

Two ward committeemen—James W. Breen [14th ward] and William J. Baler [17th ward]—argued for passage of the Galvin measure in the house elections committee last week. Both held important posts in the administration just thrown out of office.

FOR CHICAGO—A NEW DAY!

There are impressive indications on every hand that Chicago is entering a new epoch of its history.

Whatever may have been the cause, our City is experiencing a great revival of civic spirit. Individuals and organizations are vitalized with a new desire for civic welfare and improvement.

Driving forces are the awakened realization that Chicago has not had a square deal at the hands of the world at large and a determination that our neighboring cities and states shall be set right concerning Chicago's true character and accomplishments.

Conscious of the beginning of what we believe will be a new day in our city's life, our people have decided to give expression to their pent-up feelings in the form of a great Jubilee, which began yesterday and will continue until May 20. Organizations from every part of Chicago are cooperating in a program of entertainment and city-wide celebration which, it is hoped, will win the interest of the whole country.

The program will continue, day and night, for ten days. It will be a program of magnitude and immense variety.

The people of the near-by Middle West are especially invited to join with us in this Jubilee. Even those of you who visit us frequently are heartily invited to come again at this time, not only to enjoy the widespread entertainment, but perhaps to take an extra day or two to see some of Chicago's interesting institutions which you may not have had time to visit before.

Our scores of parks and boulevards have been newly gardened with the coming of spring; the ball parks are open; Soldiers' Field, the Field Museum, the Shedd Aquarium, the Adler Planetarium, the Art Institute, the Chicago Stadium, the hotels, the theaters—these and many other places of unusual interest and beauty beckon you and will profitably reward the efforts of anyone to come and visit them.

Scores of magnificent buildings have been erected in Chicago during the last few years. Numerous great projects of the Chicago Plan Commission have been developing. The projects of the forthcoming Century of Progress Exposition are rapidly unfolding. Chicago proudly invites you to see all these things.

We want you to see in every detail how Chicago has gone steadily forward in its civic development, public improvements, building, industry, commerce, art, education, and humanitarian activities.

The Jubilee, sponsored by the Association of Commerce, has the enthusiastic support of the business interests of State Street. The stores of this famous thoroughfare will do their full share in entertaining the many thousands of visitors from out-of-town who will be with us during the week.

Wednesday night, May 13, has been designated as State Street Night and will be celebrated with a spectacular street carnival. There will be many platforms up and down the street, occupied by famous orchestras and favorite entertainers, with a continuous program of music and variety attractions. The best-known orchestras and stars of the Chicago radio stations, together with headliners in the world of sport and other people prominent in the public eye, will appear.

In addition to the attractions of Wednesday night, each of the stores of State Street during the daytime will present an interesting program of entertainment and exhibits all its own. Enormous special merchandising events especially arranged for the week will provide tempting advantages for all who wish to utilize the trip for both purchase and pleasure.

Come to the Jubilee! Chicago wants you to become better acquainted.

others to Marquis Urquijo of the big Jesuit bank.

Then everybody went home for lunch and the siesta. The communists became busy. They spread the tale that a chauffeur had been killed. The chauffeurs and motormen quit work. The battleground shifted to the offices of the ABC. The mob set fire to the enormous wooden gate in front of the edifice.

Forty Shots Fired at Mob.

The flames rose and the mob yelled. High pressure fire hose came into action from a window above. The mob roared. Without warning a volley crashed from the upper windows. A workman fell with a bullet in his stomach. A 13 year old boy dropped to the ground with a bullet in his chest. A janitor had his hand shot off. About 40 shots were fired.

Marquis de Tena was himself arrested at midnight when the rioting had quieted down. Authorities announced that arms had been found in his newspaper offices and that the premises had been sealed. The marquis is charged with not only provoking a riot and keeping an arsenal, but also with an "insistent campaign of alarm."

Roving crowds broke up chairs on the sidewalk before the Officers' club and tore down El Debate's billboards and burned them in the middle of the street. They also attacked the newspaper's new kiosk before the church of Galatrazas.

Righteous republicans had risen at street corners during the day to urge the crowd to go home.

Republicans Plead for Peace.

"You are discrediting the republic and pleasing your enemies," they said.

"We don't care!" the throng replied. "We have got our republic. We want justice."

The discipline, which marked the actual revolution, was not noticeable today. The police were hissed. The civil guards, who were cheered the night of the revolution, the masses now recall as the most hated symbol of the monarchy. Many of them had to run for their lives.

5TH MISSING GIRL FEARED SLAIN AT SAN DIEGO, CAL.

San Diego, Cal., May 10.—(AP)—Police today were investigating the disappearance of Miss Louise Kessler, 17, an attractive blond, in the belief she may have met the same fate as four other women and girls slain here in recent weeks.

A. L. Kessler, brother of Miss Kessler, with whom the young woman lived, reported she disappeared Friday night after leaving a note saying she was going to a theater with a girl companion.

Although suspects have been arrested in connection with the deaths of two of the four persons known to have been killed, none of the slayings has been solved.

The mystery deaths include those of Miss Helen Bradshaw, 20, whose body, mutilated by stab wounds, was found a week ago in a lonely park.

Besides the slaying of Miss Bradshaw the police have been faced with three other murders—Virginia Brooks, 16; Louise Teuber, 17, and Mrs. W. D. (Dolly) Bibbens.

Mushroom Picker Shot; Watchman Under Arrest

Charles Grulich, 60 years old, 3147 South Millard avenue, was shot twice in the left arm yesterday morning while picking mushrooms on the grounds of the Republic Pipe and Supply company at 35th street and Lawndale avenue. Michael Svehla, 56, 3201 South Keeler avenue, a private watchman, said he ordered Grulich from the grounds and fired one warning shot and when Grulich did not comply with his demand he fired two more shots. Svehla was arrested.

$90,000 NECKLACE LOST BY NEW YORK SOCIETY WOMAN

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Through the announcement of a reward of $7,500 it became known today that Mrs. Grafton W. Minot, socially prominent, lost a pearl necklace valued at between $90,000 and $100,000 last Wednesday. Police said they had no report of the matter.

Driving her automobile, Mrs. Minot left her home in East 90th street Wednesday afternoon to do some shopping in the vicinity of Madison avenue and 49th street. She discovered the loss of the necklace, which she had been wearing, when she returned to her home.

The necklace consists of two long strands of graduated pearls with a diamond clasp and one large and several small diamonds. The reward for the recovery of the necklace was offered by an insurance firm.

DAVID IS STILL A BETTER MAN THAN GOLIATH

William Garrett, 34 years old, owner of a rooming house at 1152 Van Buren street, weighs 220 pounds. His star boarder, Dave Harper, weighs 110 pounds.

Messrs. Garrett and Harper are fight fans. It developed last evening, during a beer party in the Garrett quarters attended by Mrs. Garrett and Miss Bertha Storey, that Mr. Garrett's opinions about the fistic art were widely at variance with those of Mr. Harper.

"A good big man can knock off a good little man any time," said Mr. Garrett. "I know, because I used to be a good big prelim fighter. I was a man eating tagger in my day. They called me Goliath."

"I wisht," said Mr. Harper, "that I had me a good big heavy to sock. I wisht I had me one named Goliath."

That's when the fighting began. The women screamed and the neighbors called the police while the Garrett-Harper go proceeded without time out between rounds. When the police arrived William [Goliath] Garrett had taken the count. David Harper was still on his feet and only slightly groggy.

$2,000,000 WORTH OF OLD MASTERS VANISH IN RUSSIA

(Copyright: 1931; By the New York Times.)

BERLIN, May 10.—[Special.]—Two million dollars worth of old masters have disappeared mysteriously from the Hermitage collection in Leningrad, according to private information reaching Berlin art dealers. It is believed the pictures have found their way abroad. The canvases included Van Dyke's portrait of Lord Phillip Wharton, Boticelli's Epiphany, and four or five smaller Rembrandts of the Hermitage's collection of forty-two.

Their present whereabouts has mystified art circles not only in Moscow and Leningrad, but in London, Paris, and Berlin. It is rumored certain art dealers in New York have the key to the mystery.

In the past the soviets have steadfastly refused to sell their art treasures, but the fall of world commodity prices put a heavy burden on Russia and it may be taken for granted that the soviet is now prepared to dispose of almost all but the most exceptional pieces of artistic or jewel possessions from the czar's empire.

COUPLE KILLED IN FARM HOME; HUNT HIRED BOY

Canton, O., May 10.—(AP)—A 17 year old boy was being sought by county officials tonight in connection with the slaying of Edward B. Thoman, 51, and his wife, Ethel, 50, whose bodies were found stuffed in a clothes closet in their farm home southeast of Canton late today.

Bodies of the couple, who had been killed with a hatchet, were discovered when the mother of the boy, who had worked for the Thomans, asked a neighbor to investigate why he had been absent for eight days. The boy, said by neighbors to be mentally subnormal, was missing, along with a small sedan, a radio, and $100 that had been in Mrs. Thoman's purse.

CHINA MOVES TO OUST BIG BRITISH COAL CONCESSION

Railway Refuses to Rent Facilities.

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, May 10.—The Kailan Mining administration, a British coal mining company, which controls 30 per cent of the coal production of the Chinese republic, is having complications with the Chinese authorities and may be forced to relinquish its concession. The original Kailan concession, granted to British interests shortly following the Boxer uprising in 1900, was obtained through the efforts of Herbert Hoover, then a young American mining engineer just out of college and now President of the United States.

The present troubles of the company, which controls vast coal fields at Chinwantao, north of Tientsin, and employs some 40,000 Chinese laborers, started with a dispute with the Chinese controlled Peiping-Mukden railway, which provides cars for the transport of the coal to the seacoast and to points in north China. The railway claimed that the Kailan company owed $1,500,000 for rent on cars, which it refused to pay. As a result the railway withdrew its rolling stock, thus stopping the transport of coal and causing a shortage in industrial centers from Tientsin to Shanghai.

The dispute has since spread and recently was taken up by Chinese coal mining companies, jealous of the large British company. The Chinese firms combined in a demand that the British concession be canceled and the minues turned over to Chinese interests. The British minister intervened and attempted to settle the controversy, but without success. That the national government is not entirely disinterested is indicated by the fact that the propaganda of the private Chinese coal mining companies has been distributed through the official Kuo Min news agency.

What action the government will take is not known, but it is thought the main objective of the controversy from the Chinese side is to force the British company to pay higher taxes.

The original concession agreement, obtained by Hoover was revised in 1912 and up to recent years has operated satisfactorily to both sides.

W. Chicago Woman Killed by N. W. Train in Suburb

Mrs. M. Wirsching, 351 York avenue, West Chicago, was killed Saturday evening when she was struck by a west bound Chicago and North Western train at the Main street crossing in West Chicago. She walked around the lowered gate and while traversing the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin tracks did not see the North Western train. She was taken to the Geneva hospital, where she died an hour later. She was a widow, her husband having been killed in a similar accident a year ago. An inquest will be held today.

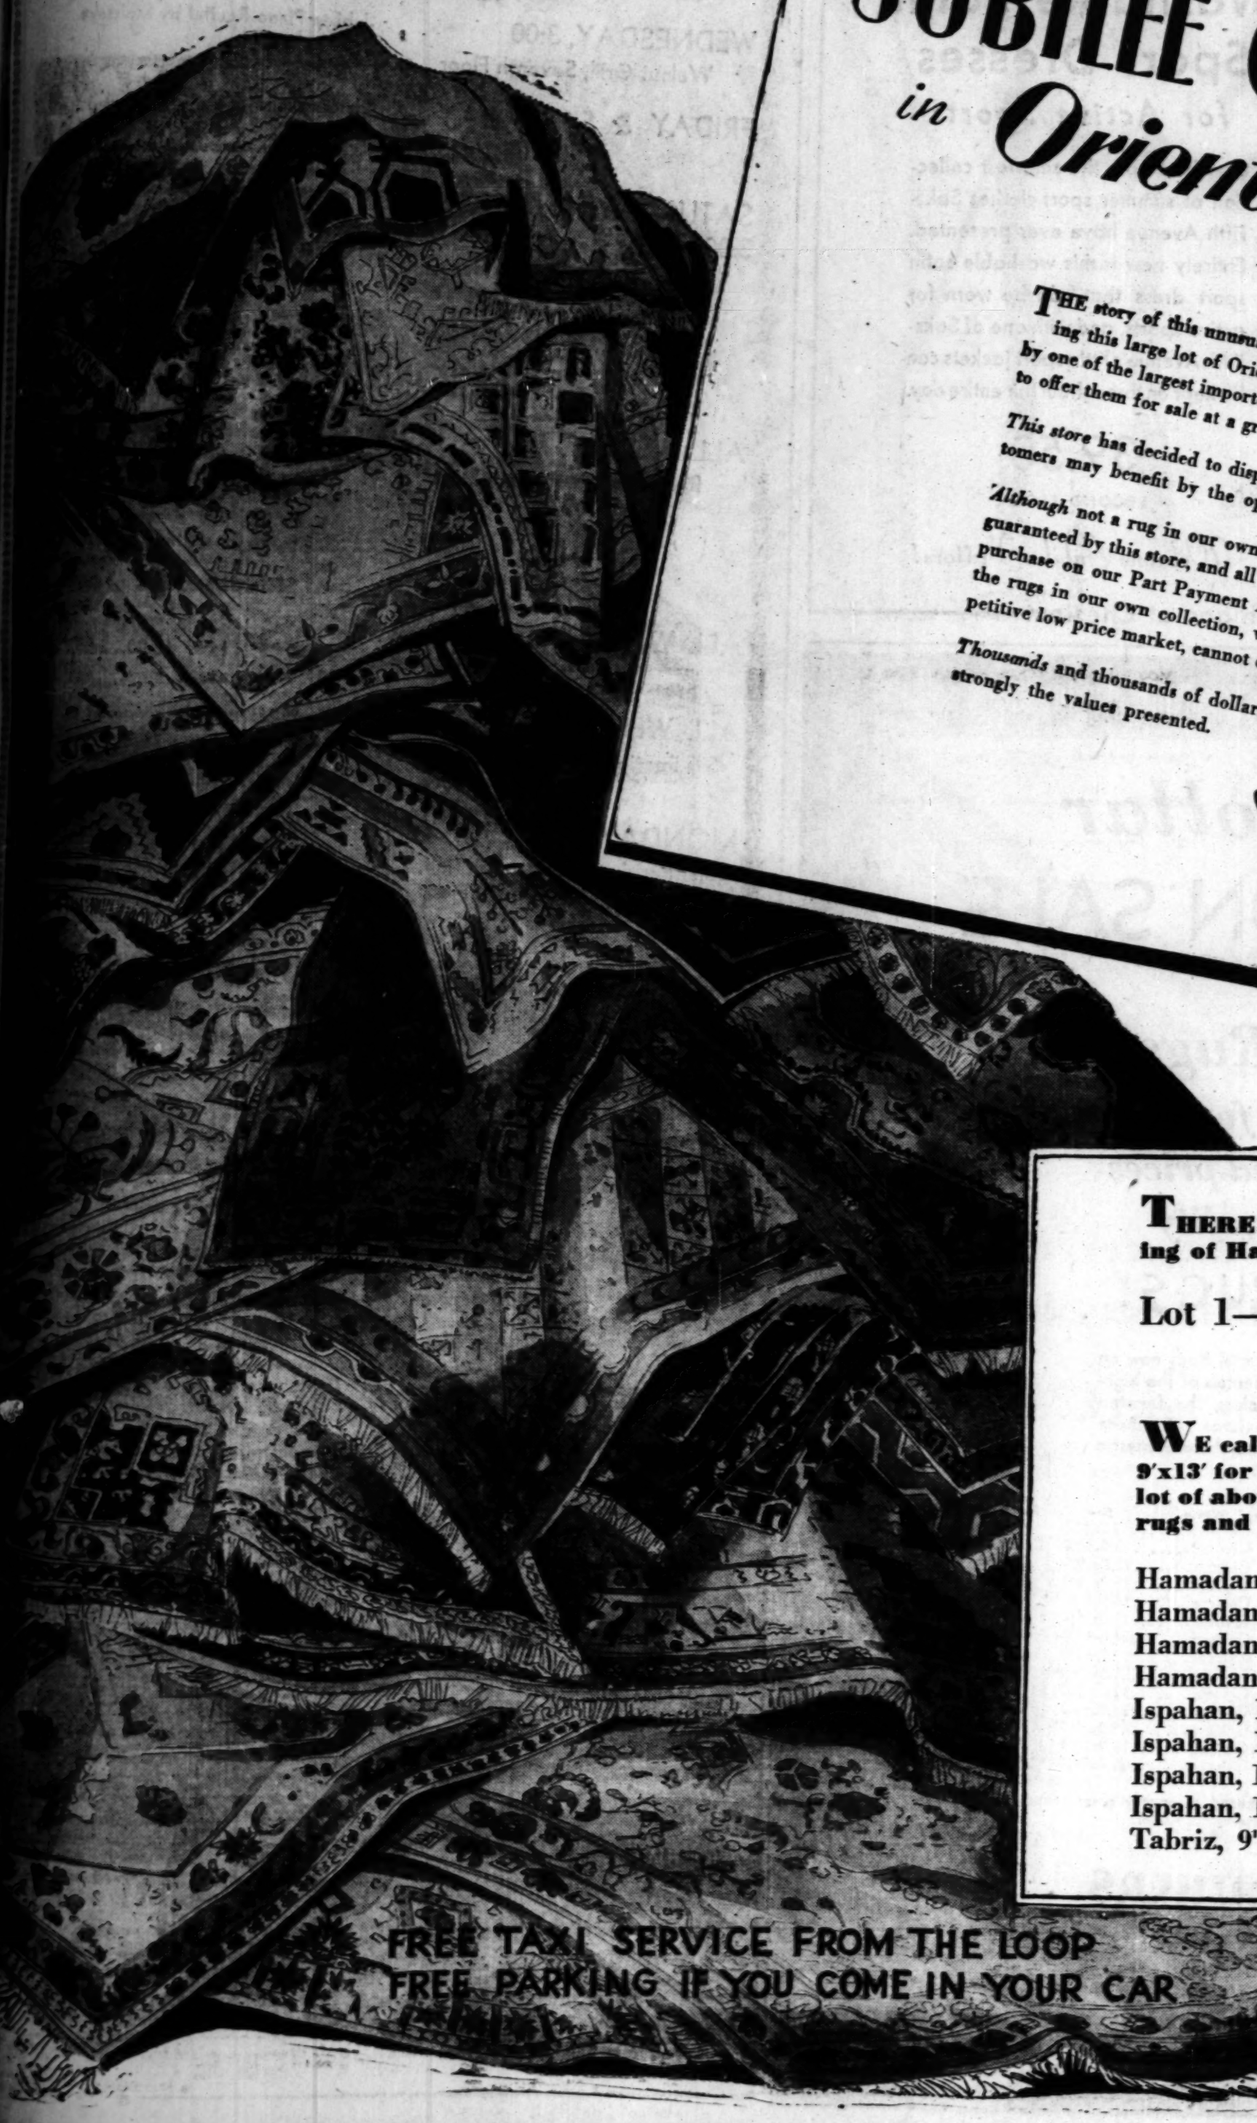
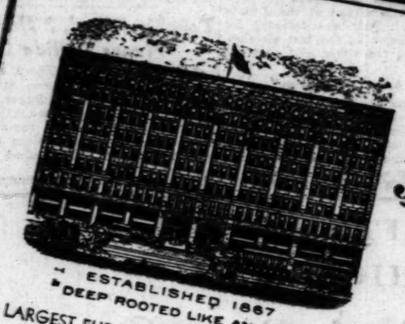
Orientals

This Is the Largest Single Transaction in Oriental Rugs Ever Undertaken by the JOHN M. SMYTH STORE





JOHN M. SMYTH COMPANY
HOUSEHOLD GOODS
703-721 W. MADISON ST.
Chicago, May 11, 1931

JUBILEE OPPORTUNITY in Oriental Rugs

THE story of this unusual disposal at low prices is this: the opportunity of selling this large lot of Oriental Rugs was presented to the John M. Smyth Store by one of the largest importers of high grade Orientals. This importer was forced to offer them for sale at a great loss.

This store has decided to display these rugs as a special feature so that our customers may benefit by the opportunity.

Although not a rug in our own stock is included, all the rugs in this offering are guaranteed by this store, and all the services of this store go with them—including purchase on our Part Payment Plan, without interest or carrying charges. Even the rugs in our own collection, which are notedly low priced in spite of this competitive low price market, cannot compete with the prices in this special collection.

Thousands and thousands of dollars are involved. And we cannot emphasize too strongly the values presented.

John M. Smyth

COME IN A CAB

All visitors are invited to come in a cab at our expense from any point in the Loop. Also Free Parking if you come in a car.

OPEN MONDAY AND SATURDAY UNTIL 10 P. M.

THE smallest rug in this lot is 6'x8'9". There are no scatter sizes.

IN presenting this disposal of rugs, all printed matter in this advertisement is written with the thought in mind that we shall so present it that no one who comes to our store will be disappointed and nothing be said here that implies a double meaning.

THIS being our initial effort in a large disposal of Orientals, we have seen to it that the prices will long remain in the purchaser's mind as supreme values.

THERE are five lots of rugs, approximately 9'x12', each lot consisting of Hamadans, Lilahans, Ispahans and Anatolians.

Lot 1—$187 Lot 2—$212 Lot 3—$217
Lot 4—$227 Lot 5—$235

WE call your special attention to the over-sized rugs ranging from 9'x13' for $234 to 15'2"x30'7" for $1,044. There are various sizes in this lot of about one hundred-ten pieces. A partial list of the over-sized rugs and prices is given here.

Hamadan, 9'x13'	$234	Tabriz, 10'1"x15'10"	$400
Hamadan, 10'3"x13'6"	276	Tabriz, 12'x20'3"	608

FUNERAL RITES FOR MICHELSON WILL BE SIMPLE

Plans Await Arrival of 2 Daughters.

Funeral services for Dr. Albert A. Michelson, 78 year old scientist, who died Saturday, will be simple and attended only by members of his family and at most a few friends, according to an announcement made yesterday at Pasadena, Cal.

Complete plans for the services will not be made until Mrs. Festus Foster of Dahlgren, Va., and Mrs. Philip Maher of Chicago reach Pasadena on Wednesday. His widow and another daughter, Mrs. Sheldon Dick of Provincetown, Mass., were at the bedside of the scientist when death occurred.

Plan Service at U. of C.

No arrangements had been made last night at the University of Chicago, with which Dr. Michelson had been connected since 1892, for a memorial service. Vice President Frederic Woodward said that plans for one probably would be made today.

The world of science had regarded Michelson as one of the great geniuses of the ages. But his colleagues at the university preferred yesterday to talk of his personality. He was regarded as one who had had a successful and happy life, because he enjoyed everything he did.

To achieve greatness he made no sacrifices. The things he accomplished were those he attempted because they were attractive.

Had No Eccentricities.

One of his friends pointed out yesterday that Dr. Michelson was a man without eccentricities. He was as far removed from the tradition of the absent minded professor as any captain of industry. He was meticulous about his personal appearance and a careful observer of social form. His early training in the navy kept its influence throughout his life, and associates compared him, in his work at the Ryerson laboratory, to a captain on the quarter deck.

He was noted for his absolute honesty, his courtesy, simplicity, and rigid self-control. It was said of him that he had never been seen hurried or anxious, nor had any one ever heard his voice raised above an even tone.

No Interest in Medals.

It was characteristic of the man, his admirers pointed out, that he became so interested in a brilliantly colored beetle twenty years ago that he studied for ten years to determine the reasons why it was so colored; and that he never exhibited any interest in the medals that came to him for the feat of measuring the speed of light or the radius of the red star Betelgeuse.

He tossed his medals in odd drawers or forgotten corners. About a year ago the university desired to display a collection of his decorations. Only with difficulty was Mrs. Michelson able to find the one representing the Nobel prize, which had a metal value alone of $500. Even then the collection was incomplete; two awards from scientific societies were discovered several months after the exhibit—Dr. Michelson had laid them aside without even taking off the original wrappers.

Learns Several Languages.

One of the Michelson anecdotes concerning the Nobel prize tends to show how able a linguist he was. A few minutes before he was to be presented with the medal, he was informed that it was customary for the recipient to make an address either in German or in Swedish. He had spoken no German since he was 5 years old, but when his time to speak came he did so, eloquently, in that language. He taught himself Spanish on an ocean voyage.

Dr. Michelson preferred to play the violin rather than to listen to others play; he preferred to paint landscapes instead of visiting art galleries; he played tennis until long past the allotted span of three score years and ten. It was said of him that he did all these things well, despising mediocrity wherever he found it, and enjoying proficiency more than its rewards.

An interviewer asked him, on his 76th birthday anniversary, how long he wanted to live. He answered:

"Just as long as I find life amusing."

WALES READY TO TELL FRUITS OF HIS 'SALES' TRIP

LONDON, May 10.—(AP)—The prince of Wales was ready tonight to deliver to British business men the first fruits of hope harvested on his trip to South America. Tomorrow and Tuesday nights the prince will speak in the Midlands.

He will address 1,200 business men at Birmingham tomorrow night and a similar audience at Manchester on Tuesday, explaining his belief in prospects for increased British trade in South America.

While South American trade prospects are thus being boosted, however, the Conservatives in the house of commons will return tomorrow to their attack on the Labor government's Russian policy. On Tuesday the house will discuss the controversial question of electoral reform and on Wednesday the Indian problem. On Thursday the house will discuss the future of British air policies and the results of the inquiry into the R-101 air disaster.

JURY OUT 46 HOURS; DISMISSED.

Evansville, Ind., May 10.—[Special.]—The jury in the second conspiracy trial of Carl Althoff, president of the Althoff-Howard Electrical company here, was dismissed at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning, after being out 46 hours. A third trial will be held.

ARREST MINER; CHARGE THREAT TO ATTACK JAIL

Plot Alleged for Release of Prisoners.

Harlan, Ky., May 10.—(AP)—The sheriff's department today summarily arrested a miner who gave his name as J. H. Moore and was accused of threatening to lead a mob to the Harlan county jail in an attempt to bring about the release of four men held on murder charges in connection with a gun battle that cost four lives last Tuesday.

Those charged with murder are Police Chief Cusick of Evarts; A. L. Benson, his assistant; Joe Cawood, town clerk, and W. B. Jones, secretary of a local miners' union at Evart. They are in jail without bond.

Informers in Crowd.

Sheriff J. H. Blair said Moore uttered the threat to assemble a mob before a crowd in front of the courthouse that included one of the sheriff's informers, who brought about Moore's arrest. A rumored threat to blow up the courthouse, Sheriff Blair said, led to the establishment of a night guard around the public building.

Information leading to the indictment of the four Evarts men was obtained by the sheriff from informers whose union dues he paid so they might attend meetings of the Evarts organization. Blair was defeated for sheriff by Cusick at the last election, but contested the count and obtained the post.

Calls Arrest "Frameup."

Jones termed his arrest on three counts of murder a "frameup."

"There won't be any difficulty about my exoneration," he said. "Our work of organization will be carried on regardless. My son, Elmer F. Jones, will carry on until I am admitted to the bail to which I am entitled."

The three Evarts officials also denied implication in the shootings. They were not permitted to see visitors today.

Jones said he was conferring at Pineville with other union officials when he was arrested. They were seeking declaration of martial law in the coal fields, he said, so that mine guards would be disarmed. He said Gov. Flem D. Sampson's agreement when troops were sent here provided the guards be decommissioned.

Teacher Killed, 3 Hurt as Planes Collide in Air

LONDON, May 10.—(AP)—A Reuter's dispatch from Karlsruhe, Germany, today said that Dr. Steldinger, professor of aviation in a technical high school, was killed and three others were seriously injured when two airplanes collided and crashed at the aerodrome there.

to any young lady about to be Married

"ALL men talk in raptures about youth and beauty, but after five years of married life neither one is to be compared to a wife's good family management."

—Witherspoon

REVELL'S has a particular interest in helping brides and grooms work through the mazes of home management and household financing. It has been our job for fifty-five years—and we are proud to be considered "charter members" of households established so long ago.

Every woman has the inborn ability to manage her household successfully—but it often isn't in practical "working order" until a few years of experience has developed it. At the outset of your housekeeping career a word of seasoned counsel now and then as to furnishings and equipment—a bit of help with the decorating problem will do much toward starting the family life moving smoothly.

There's the income to consider, first of all, and nobody knows better than Revell's that, in order to establish a new home on a sound financial basis, the initial expenses must be held within a carefully set limit.

Then, if you would be sure your selections of household furnishings are designed and constructed to satisfactorily serve you for years, there is one precaution you must observe: Investigate the house from which you buy. Look into reputations. Compare prices, and compare values. The only way you can be sure of the built-in quality of the things you buy is to be sure of the reputation of the house where your selections are made.

For fifty-five years Revell's has extended a cordial invitation to use its merchandise and its furniture for comparison purposes. Investigate before you buy.

BACK TO PROSPERITY.

The penitential mood revealed in public discussions of the depression is undoubtedly justifiable and we trust will be beneficial. But it is no excuse for gloom. There is, we think, too much defeatism in our public confessions of error, and too much discouragement because of losses and difficulties. This represents a curious reversal of the American habit. Optimism, even self-confidence in excess, has been thought our American weakness. In fact, it has been one of the elements of American strength, one of the chief sources of the great energy which has made American material progress. Our optimism has been a justified faith in ourselves. There is not the slightest excuse for discarding it now. The fundamentals of America's strength are precisely what they were at the height of our prosperity, our national wealth has not been destroyed, our maladjustments are not vital, our return to prosperity is certain.

Then why not get about it? There is nowadays an exaggeration of our conditions. We are not the better for it. It isn't like the American character to take a blow lying down. Courage, initiative, industry will bring back prosperity to the country. The executive head of one of the greatest industries of the country has just said:

"We hear a great deal about conditions abroad. As a matter of fact, speaking for myself, the situation abroad is not as bad as it is painted. It is bad, to be sure, but all the world is leaning upon the United States. If we concentrate on the United States and lean more on our own country we can stimulate business in this country without waiting for the recovery in Europe. The capacity of our country to overcome present business troubles has not been applied to the fullest extent. The more resolute and successful our efforts to discover remedies within our own shores, the greater the likelihood of a favorable reaction and more speedy recovery in other countries. We are capable of greater effort and enterprise in making our domestic market a more efficient stabilizer of American industry."

Faith in ourselves, vigorous enterprise, the resourceful development of opportunities will be rewarded in this period as they have been in the past. They will bring back prosperity to those in every walk of life who rely upon them and to the country generally.

The Chicago Jubilee is an assertion of the realities of American life and accomplishment. It represents the continuing force of the great current of vitality which, beneath the troubled surface of today's events, will bear us onward to a renewed and increasing prosperity. It is a song of victory, of assured faith in the conquering destiny of Chicago and of America.

CALLING IT CHUMLEY.

The protective tariff has been an American policy from almost the first days of the republic. It has been opposed by politician and economist, but it has prevailed. If it is the fundamental error which the free trade school thinks it is, it is also true that the country had no industries and now has dominant ones and that a farming and fishing people have established the highest level of living conditions based on factories and transportation. The tariff is something which will not be determined by the reconciliation of various trade doctrines, but by use and experience.

Oddly, just now it is less a domestic controversy in the United States and more an object of criticism from abroad. At the international convention of chambers of commerce foreign advisers, chiefly British, sought to convince Americans that the tariff prevented a world economic recovery largely by making the payment of international debts impossible. Of this argument it may be said that the natural inclination of the debtor is to find that the most reasonable settlement of his debt is out of other resources than his own and by other efforts.

The American tariff has not been adopted since the war. The conditions in which the debts were contracted were, in this respect, substantially those in which they will be repaid. It is a strange stipulation of borrowing that the creditor should abandon a custom, usage or plan of life as old as he is in order that a debtor should be able to repay him the money. The British economically decline the protective tariff but sentimentally they invoke its equivalent. "Buy British" is to keep German steel out of Sheffield. But it would seem that the Germans to pay their reparations to Great Britain should have free access to pay them in goods without a sentimental boycott against them, and the British cotton factories would throw Japanese prints out of India if they could break down Hindu resistance. The closed market has no moral odium to the nation which possesses it.

If domestic policies are to be determined by international debts the United States might suggest to Great Britain that the dole is breaking the British back and that the trouble with the debtor is a wasteful household of nonworkers, draining the substance from the exchequer. The British will reply that this policy predates Elizabeth. No Englishman shall starve. England has never adjusted its economy to keep great masses off its tax rates. One in four living in whole or part on the poor rates was a phenomenon of centuries ago and it persists. That is a British problem. America has preferred the tariff. Is one nation to abandon its habit that another may endure its own?

The enigma may be stated irrelevantly by the American tourist celebrated by Punch: "The English are so funny. They spell it B-e-a-u-c-h-a-m-p and pronounce it Chumley."

A GREAT LIFE.

Dr. Albert A. Michelson had the supreme satisfaction of life, work to the finish. His body failed him very little and his mind not at all. Thus to him living was a perfectible scheme, not thwarted and defeated by its inherent defects, by frustration and the inadequacy of the person to the event, but possible of continuous development with the present richer for the past and the future always one of promise. It was suitable that a rare mind should have this rare experience. One such life is more than what it contains for the gratification of its possessor. It may be only a portent for the lesser people, but it is nevertheless an accomplishment for them all. The highest flight of life reveals its possibilities.

The completeness of Dr. Michelson's life was beyond normal expectation just as his achievements were beyond normal understanding. That is its dramatic quality, greatness in unspoiled symmetry.

IMPROVING CALUMET HARBOR.

A map of the Calumet harbor area will be found in the lower right hand corner of this page.

The harbor is intended to be accessible to both lake ships and Mississippi river barges. The existing entrance from Lake Michigan is by way of the Calumet river, and the entrance from the Mississippi is by way of the Sag channel and the Little Calumet. The two routes converge at the southeastern end of the lake.

If the existing channels are retained navigation will be slow and difficult. Fortunately the condition is easily remedied. At no great expense a canal may be dug from the north end of the harbor eastward to the Grand Calumet river, giving lake vessels easy access to the harbor. By means of that canal some four miles of tortuous navigation will be avoided and lake ships can enter without crossing the path of long tows of barges.

Likewise the entrance for barges can be simplified by cutting a canal southwestward from the harbor to the Little Calumet. Here, too, some four miles of winding stream can be avoided.

The two proposed canals are indicated on the map by heavy black lines. The map is not intended to indicate the precise routes to be followed, but only to suggest the advantages of providing new entrances to the harbor. The precise locations can be determined only after a careful survey of the terrain. Railroad crossings and the destruction of valuable buildings, of course, should be avoided wherever possible.

Fortunately there are no serious engineering obstacles. The canals are both short and the material to be removed in all probability will be found to consist almost entirely of sand and clay. The construction of the two channels should add little to the cost of the harbor and much to its usefulness. It is likely that the canals will cost little more than the dredging of the natural channels.

AND EACH ONE KILLS THE THING HE LOVES.

The Wild Flower Preservation society, Illinois chapter, asks for help, for words to protect the wild from the wilder. It being the season for blossoms and flowers, it is the season for their enemies, the people who like them so much they can't let them live. Admonition, it is to be feared, will do little good. What's needed is the policeman. If nine out of ten see, enjoy, and pass on by, it is enough for the destruction of the scene that the tenth remain and rip it out.

Most of the destroyers are sentimental addicts who will not be told that they are destroying. The preservation society has particularly in mind the forest preserve which is circling Chicago with a prospect of greater beauty in years to come, and fortunately there is where the policeman can work and he needn't be a dragoon to keep the sentimental vandals in hand. They really like the things they kill, but for satisfaction they must have possession. Otherwise they have a sense of defeat. The beauty has eluded them. They must clutch it and have it. The desire is explicable enough, but the natural beauty of the woods cannot survive these fond lovers any more than the brown thrashers, cardinals, and wood thrush could survive being loved with a shotgun. Many a spot which has delighted the eye with wild crab, wild plum, hawthorn, red bud, hepatica, trilliums, blood root, and lady slippers is as if it had been beaten down by the run of wild asses.

ILLINOIS' HUGE GAS TAX INCOME.

[Rockford Register-Republican.]

With approximately two-thirds of the states collecting a higher gas tax than the 3 cent rate in effect in Illinois, this state nevertheless had the sixth largest gross tax last year, amounting to $28,612,269, according to the federal bureau of roads.

After deducting an exemption refund amounting to $1,159,849, the total tax earning from gasoline in Illinois was $27,472,420, or approximately nine millions more than $18,444,247 received from motor vehicle registration fees.

The states with larger gas tax receipts than Illinois were Ohio [4 cent tax], $30,023,304; California [3 cent tax], $38,603,808; Pennsylvania [4 cent tax, changed to 3 cent July 1, 1930], $32,482,609; Texas [4 cent tax], $32,341,499; New York [2 cent tax], $29,536,436.

Aside from Pennsylvania, which pays a collection bonus to dealers, and Oklahoma, Illinois had the highest collection cost for its gas tax of any state, amounting to $61,724. The Pennsylvania collection cost was $278,875 and that of Oklahoma $62,684.

The 915,717,319 gallons of gas on which tax was paid in Illinois was the fifth largest total of any state, but the average of 258 gallons per registered motor vehicle was very close to the national per vehicle average, which was 256 gallons.

Illinois used all of its gas tax revenue for highway construction, devoting $18,273,797 to state highways and $9,136,899 to local roads.

Direct taxes paid by Illinois motorists are considerably lower than the national average, which is $13.41 for registration fees and $18.62 for gasoline, a total of $32.02. The Illinois averages are $17.46 for gas and $11.22 for registration, a total average direct tax of $28.68 on the motor car owners of the state.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. W. M.

THEY'RE OFF!

It's a bad precedent, this thing of Theodore Dreiser writing the exact story of his life. He confesses to a lot of things that cause the eyebrow to arch and the lips to say, "Tut, tut!" But the worst of it is that it's going to start an epidemic of books like that. Authors are the most imitative of animals known; they've got sheep beat a mile. When one does something that attracts attention and gets into the best seller class they all trail. Now, watch all the authors jump into the confession thing. And each one of 'em will have to outdo the other, so we can expect the worst.

They'll probably start out mildly enough with saying that while they were full of the milk of human kindness when they started writing they felt the necessity of getting hold of real life in order to get material for their books. At first they only put soap on the steps when sister's beau came around on Sunday evening. Then they tied a rope across the path when Uncle Jim went home after sampling father's gin. They only wanted to know how a big, heavy man would react to falling on his nose. Then some author is going to take his Aunt Lizzie for a ride. Then it will be just one murder after another. And stealing. And house burning. It's going to be simply terrible as we read the authors confess to their horrid crimes. But the thing's been started and they'll all do their best.

The only comfort we'll have is to know that the authors are really such nice, gentle folk that when somebody asks them in the afternoon if they'll have sugar in their tea they invariably say, "Oh, mercy; yes, indeed; three lumps, please." And if they step on an earthworm they scream with agony, turn deadly pale, and say, "An earthworm! Oh, horrors! Suppose it had bit me?"

SOLO.

I learned it in the cradle, and I learned it in the school,
That a woman, when she loves a man, is nothing but a fool.
They told me all about it, but I thought they didn't know.
I had to try it out myself, to find out it was so.
A woman will not profit by another's woe or bliss,
She has to learn the consequences of a lover's kiss.
She has to wear her heart upon her sleeve where all can see
Instead of hiding it away where tender hearts should be.
And when she's satisfied herself, and can no longer doubt it,
There isn't very much of anything to do about it.
For every road may have a map, and every sea its chart;
But it's every woman for herself, in matters of the heart.

INDIA is going to demand the return of six billion dollars from Great Britain, dollars paid as tribute during British rule. The English may or may not have a sense of humor, but as they look up from doles and unemployment and all the rest of their troubles they certainly ought to get a big kick out of this. Us hand India over a billion pounds sterling? My word!

Ah, yes, Gerty, and white wings sweeping the dirty downtown streets . . . and white bills saying, "Unless you remit promptly we shall place this matter in the hands of our attorney" . . . and white mothballs jumping out of our summer suit every time we pull out our handkerchief . . . and white ghosts sitting on the foot of our four poster whenever we eat Welsh rabbit . . . white laundry flapping on the clothes line this Monday morning . . . go on, Gerty, you finish it.

On Reading Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Fatal Interview."

"There is a singer," thus the angels clamored,
"Audacious on the gates of heaven intent;
Her fatal music with strange sweetness blent,
The wayward hearts of men has too englamored.
Once sang she with peculiar joyous din
Of Thine own glory, songs of heaven worth,
But now with trivial loves, and lacking mirth,
She is concerned. Then shall we let her in?"

"Ah, she shall sit before Me with the harp
Borrowed of David, and in her own key
Shall chant this love incredulous and sharp,
And death of love, in gallant agony.
Her songs shall dart like arrows feather-shod
Back into wayward hearts of men," said God.

NOW THEY'RE STARTING a movement for happy endings in grand opera in the squawkies. No! It won't do unless they get slim prima donnas. The gels in the audience, who are not exactly sylph-like, couldn't bear seeing a fat soprano hurling herself into the arms of the handsome tenor after she sings a smiling aria to the effect that now all their troubles are o'er and they're going to live happy ever afterwards. But when a fat tenor breaks loose and makes a fat soprano drink chlorate of potash and ground glass, or biffs her with an ax, all the stout ladies in the audience clap their hands gleefully and say: "I'm not near as stout as she is, am I?" And they feel that it served her exactly right. She should have dieted.

IMPROVING JAKE.

WE have a report on the Villa Grove bunch of jake paralysis cases. It is just about one year since these parties were poisoned by drinking Jamaica ginger as a beverage. They are improving satisfactorily. The wasted places are filling in and muscles are increasing in volume. In some instances the tissues in the space between the thumb and the next finger had wasted until it appeared to be two layers of skin with nothing between.

These shrunken areas are now tolerably well filled in. The men are able to walk fairly well. Some get about without much indication that they have been paralyzed, that is, so long as they walk slowly and on smooth, level surfaces. Some are regaining ability to flex the ankle and lift the toes fairly well.

As a rule, the subject is able to recognize the return of nerve and muscle. He feels a tingling in his legs and some tendency to contracting and cramping. This generally leads him to concentrate his attention on the tingling areas and practice moving the wasted muscles and the useless joints. As a result the rate of improvement increases. These people, after casting about for help in several directions, finally settled down to a treatment consisting of a diet rich in viatmin B complex; of rest, when rest was indicated; and of exercise, when the time came for that.

It is Dr. Maurer's opinion that the diet may have done some good, but that most of the improvement has been the result of the natural reparative powers of the body. New nerves have grown out to replace the old. They pushed their way into the area of need and hooked up with the work stations, there came sensations of tingling and of some muscle on-edge-ness. Faith and hope and exercise did the rest.

The experience of these two groups—that of Villa Grove and that of Corinth—indicates that most cases of jake poisoning will eventually recover from their paralysis, at least far enough to get around without crutch or cane. Those who are determined and persistent may eventually build up muscles and nerves that will be even stronger than those the jake put out of commission.

Meanwhile the government continues to study the chemicals in this batch of so-called Jamaica ginger which caused all this trouble. The use of this chemical in ginger does not appear to have extended beyond this batch of goods. The reports from California indicate some other cause for the outbreak there.

NO DANGER OF CANCER.

E. B. writes: Just off the spine, in the fleshy part of the buttock, has appeared what I think is a carbuncle, inflamed but with no head. This has come and gone several times in the space of three or four months and I have never had it lanced. It has now settled down and is practically obliterated except for a gristly substance which I can feel but which is not painful. Should I have the thing cut out? Is it a cause for cancer? Can it be safely let alone? Will it disappear?

REPLY.

This is a favorite location for a congenital tumor. In the formation of the human body a stitch is liable to be dropped in this location. That you have not noticed anything wrong until lately does not mean that there has been no tumor there since birth. Nature is not disposed to complain of trifles. Most of the tissues try to get along with each other without fighting or even nagging. This applies to immigrants also, so long as they behave.

There is no danger from cancer and no reason for cutting out the gristle.

EGGS RAW OR COOKED.

M. F. A. writes: Which contains the more nourishment, the yolk or the white of eggs? In eating them raw, is it better to eat both or only the yolk? Which way are they most easily digested?

REPLY.

The white contains albumins, and practically nothing else; the yellow contains albumins, fats, carbohydrates, minerals, and vitamins. The relative nutritional values depend on what one needs. The relative harmfulness depends on what harms. If a person is harmed by egg protein, the whites should be especially avoided. If he is in need of egg vitamins, he should eat the yellows. And so on, through several variations. The same considerations apply to digestibility. As a rule, one should eat all of the egg—except the shell. And some people need to eat the shells, ground.

LOOK FOR DIFFERENT CAUSE.

Mrs. W. C. writes:

My little boy nearly six has had all the symptoms of worms for the last three years; that is to say, he grits his teeth at night, has a vile breath at all times, is white around the mouth while he sleeps, frequently wets the bed, and always sleeps with his knees drawn up. But I can never detect any worms in his stools. I have given him three kinds of worm medicine, and yet he does not seem to overcome the aforementioned symptoms. Can you suggest something? I might also say, he eats very little meat and practically no candy, his sweets being in the form of simple cookies and desserts with his meals.

REPLY.

My suggestion is that you look for some other cause. None of the symptoms you mention is worth much as proof of worms. Besides, worm treatment has done no good, and you find no worms. That ought to satisfy you that he has some other trouble.

THEY CAN FORECLOSE.

Chicago, April 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Four years ago we bought a home, paying $2,500 on second mortgage, and a further payment of $600 since. Owing to unemployment we have been unable to pay any more on second mortgage for the last eleven months. We cannot pay taxes for 1929, either, or the interest on the first mortgage. Can our home be taken away from us and how long can we live there? We have kept up repairs and remodeling. M. R.

If you have received a warranty deed, foreclosure would be necessary. If you cannot pay taxes, this would be a basis for the appointment of a receiver, who could put you out if you did not pay rent.

TRUCKS ORDERED REMOVED.

Chicago, April 24.—[Friend of the People.]—For some time there have been two trucks parked at the southeast and southwest corner of Garfield avenue and Orchard street. They can be found on the street every evening, Saturday afternoons and all day Sunday. Isn't there something you can do to have these trucks removed from the street? R. L.

The owner of these two trucks was directed by the police department to remove them, which has been done.

UNUSED MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Chicago, April 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—If a marriage license were purchased this month and not used, say for a period of four months later, would that affect the validity of same?

R. A.

The statute contains no express time limit, but since one important purpose of the license requirement is to have the county clerk pass upon the eligibility of the parties, we are of the opinion that the license should not be used after enough time has elapsed so that there would be no reasonable presumption that the parties were still eligible, in other words, that circumstances had not changed.

OBJECTS TO SIGNING LEASE.

Berwyn, Ill., April 15.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Will you kindly advise me whether a person when asked to sign a lease has to sign it even though he does not care to? 2. Also can the landlord demand him to sign it?

R. M. Z.

1. Of course, he does not have to, but if he chooses not to sign it he must take the consequences. In other words, if he is not willing to bind himself for a renewal, he cannot expect to hold the landlord.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 11, 1915.

PHILADELPHIA.—President Wilson gave a meeting of 4,000 naturalized Americans the first intimation of what course the United States government will pursue in the situation resulting from the loss of American lives on the Lusitania. His hearers interpreted his remarks as meaning that while the United States would remain at peace it would seek to convince Germany of the injustice to mankind of the tragedy of last Friday. Whatever steps shall be taken, no matter how vigorous, the objective of the President will be to serve the good of humanity. He said: "There is such a thing as a man being too proud to fight. There is such a thing as a nation being so right that it does not need to convince others by force that it is right."

BERLIN.—A dispatch has been sent by the German foreign office to the German embassy at Washington, D. C., reading in part as follows: "The German government desires to express its deepest sympathy at the loss of lives on board the Lusitania. The responsibility rests, however, with the British government, which, through its plan of starving the civilian population of Germany, has forced Germany to resort to retaliatory measures. In spite of the German offer to stop the submarine war in case the starvation plan was given up, British merchant vessels are being generally armed with guns and have repeatedly tried to ram submarines, so that a previous search was impossible."

QUEENSTOWN. — Reverently, Queenstown paid the last honors of the nation to 140 bodies of the men, women and children who lost their lives when the Lusitania was sunk by a German submarine. Of those buried 76 bodies have been identified and 64 were unknown.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 11, 1901.

NEW YORK.—After a day of panic such as Wall street never had known before business on the stock exchange was resumed today with scarcely even a surface indication that less than twenty-four hours before prices literally crumbled away and fortunes were lost. Instead of a decline, prices soared today. It was a marvelous exhibition of strength and not a single stock exchange house was forced to close its doors or suspend business.

CHICAGO.—Two automobiles will be employed in Chicago next week in delivery of mails in the downtown district. If it be found they expedite delivery and relieve the carriers of their heavy burdens, an effort will be made to secure funds to install a permanent automobile service.

CHICAGO.—It was soldiers' pay day at Fort Sheridan yesterday and the day was made the occasion of an epidemic of drunkenness at Highwood. Uncle Sam's soldiers, as a result of the abolition of the canteen, spent $3,000 in the saloons of the town. The Rev. M. M. Parkhurst and the fellow members of his ministerial investigating committee failed to appear to learn the conditions that have arisen in the absence of the canteen.

50 YEARS AGO TODAY

MAY 11, 1881.

NEW ORLEANS.—A statue of Gen. Stonewall Jackson of the confederate army was unveiled in Metarie cemetery here, and at the same time and place the tomb of the Association of Northern Virginia was dedicated. The dedicatory speech was made by Gen. Fitzhugh Lee. Among those present were Jefferson Davis and the widow and daughter of Gen. Jackson.

HARRISBURG, Pa.—The state senate passed a resolution providing for the removal of the remains of William Penn from their present resting place in Buckinghamshire, England, to Philadelphia. The resolution asks the cooperation of President Garfield should such assistance be needed.

VIENNA.—The marriage of Crown Prince Rudolph of Austria and Princess Stephanie of Belgium was most imposingly solemnized at the Church of St. Augustine.

CHICAGO.—The Chicago Daily Herald, successor to the dead Telegraph, made its first appearance yesterday. It is an improvement typographically and otherwise over its predecessor.

ST. LOUIS.—Charles F. Kring went to trial for the fifth time on a charge of murdering Mrs. Dora Broemser on Jan. 5, 1875. In December of that year he was convicted and sentenced to be hanged on March 24, 1876. The Supreme court granted a new trial. Since then there have been three mistrials.

THE MORNING AFTER.

Chicago, May 7.—Motherhood neither deserves nor needs to be honored. In itself it has no virtue, and indiscriminate motherhood merits no approval. Motherhood can only be considered commendable if it has produced and reared worthy offspring. A woman deserves no credit for being a mother unless the children are a credit to society. The worth of individual motherhood is tested in the deeds of her children. Mothers who are worthy of approbation have, by the honorable deeds of their children, already received the highest tribute, and further tokens of esteem are as nothing.

That a mother needs no commendation for motherhood is just as true, for motherhood conveys its own reward. It would be far more suitable on Mother's day to bestow gifts of consolation upon men and the myriads of women who will never experience the wonder and mystery of motherhood than to give them to mothers who have received its inestimable benefits.

A 4-STAR MOTHER.

A CALL TO THE AMERICAN PRESS.

Racine, Wis., May 4.—The editorial, "A Call to the American Press," in Sunday's TRIBUNE is timely.

The feeble vaporings of demagogues in high places is, as a rule, prominently published as news and in too many instances without comment. Many readers take this stuff as press indorsement. Much of this, however, ought to be disemboweled on the spot.

No individual or combination of individuals can do what your editorial proposes. It cannot be done excepting by a very great, strong and independent newspaper. THE TRIBUNE, in particular, can do much in the direction mentioned while yet there may be time.

I think the situation presented in this editorial will awaken an interest along the same line in the press generally, in Wisconsin and elsewhere. At least they may see the importance of independent thought about it and an obligation to themselves. WALLACE INGALLS.

WHERE EGGS ARE 15 CENTS.

Sterling, Ill., May 8.—Miss Lebenson can buy fresh yard eggs in stores in this town at two dozen for 29 cents or for 15 cents a dozen. Fresh creamery butter at 26 cents a pound.

ANDY BRAGG.

14 CENTS.

Valparaiso, Ind., May 8.—Strictly fresh eggs are sold out here by the farmers at 14 cents a dozen and have been for several weeks. This does not mean on tourist highways, but back on the side roads. On Saturdays the farmer brings them in in large quantities and sells them to the dealer for less.

CLARENCE OSBORN.

RECALLING 1920-'21.

Chicago, May 7.—Any business man who lived through the 1920-'21 slump and will reconstruct in his mind financial and business conditions at that time and follow the facts of recovery should get courage and faith to go to work and plan for the future.

Our current literature, newspapers, magazines and publicists seem to ignore completely a condition, only a decade past, much worse than our present condition, out of which the world worked and from which it drew no lessons.

Would it not be helpful to turn back ten years and reproduce for your readers the events of the period when industry was practically stopped, millions of workers unemployed, United States government bonds selling for 85 cents on the dollar, and warehouses piled with goods that the consignee could not pay for and the manufacturer could not afford to take back?

Mr. Traylor has hit a high note of rare common sense and clear thinking. The American people can be trusted to work out of any trouble arising from their own foolishness, or otherwise, under that kind of leadership. THE TRIBUNE is to be congratulated on the stand it has taken. The only thing wrong with the American people is lack of leaders who will tell the truth no matter how much it hurts and accurately portray past events in such a way as to give faith in the fundamental soundness of American industry and its capacity to carry over lean periods and go forward.

CARL V. WIESER.

DISARMAMENT AND UNEMPLOYMENT.

Canton, Ill., May 6.—In his speech of May 4 the President does not say what is to become of the men now employed in the arsenals and other factories engaged in the manufacture of guns, etc., and the length of time it would take for his plan to work. What this country needs is immediate action. Watchful waiting has gone far enough. The only remedy is the repeal of prohibition. This would put 100,000,000 bushels of grain to work making good beer instead of the poison brew that is now flooding the country. The repeal of prohibition would mean lower taxes, get rid of the bootlegger and other criminals caused by this unholy law that can never be enforced. The farmer would get $1 or more per bushel for his wheat, and more for other farm produce. The farmer is the backbone of the country and when he has hard times the rest of us have hard times, too.

JAMES STEEL.

THE 40 AND 8 CAMP.

Chicago, May 4.—I was out at the "40 and 8" camp at 163d and Knox avenue Sunday and visited with the convalescent ex-soldiers who told us how THE TRIBUNE started this project. The Cermak and other billets certainly are most attractive [and not at all institutional looking]. The most meticulous housekeeper would have to compliment the boys on their housekeeping. They seemed so appreciative of the few pictures and reading matter the camp offered.

As for a view, well, I didn't think Illinois boasted of a spot so beautiful.

One of the members of the 13th engineers, I believe, took movies of the crowd and the crew breaking ground for a new building.

A most interesting cause. One man told me he was an ambulance case when he arrived there but was leaving this week—perfectly well and rested. R.

FROM A FORMER SCOUT.

Winnetka, Ill., May 7.—The days of my boy scouthood are behind me, and in facing the future I sincerely hope I shall never reach the years when I can fail to appreciate a story such as Ben Becker's "To the Land of the Taktu," appearing every week in THE CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE. It never occurred to me that a juvenile story would so retain my complete interest, but, thanks to Ben Becker, I am eagerly awaiting his next installment. E. F.

INSURANCE RATES.

Chicago, May 7.—It seems to me that with the progress we have made in research in prolonging life that life insurance rates should be cheaper. Then, again, everything else has through more efficient methods of manufacturing or merchandising been lowered in cost to the purchaser. Why not life insurance rates?

L. S. JOSELAVE.

THE WEATHER.

Chicago, May 8.—I hope you will pardon my taking the liberty of pointing out to you your lack of discernment in making up page one.

You seem to be unaware that the great big news every day is the weather. Really, it rates an eight column banner of your screamiest type. This must be so because your radio announcer proclaims it as a fact in the night's news broadcasts.

You do not grasp the fact that Chicago's teeming millions hang breathlessly upon whether or not it is going to be slightly warmer with possible showers in Iowa and northern Michigan. You do not place sufficient importance upon the need of warnings of impending frosts, to the end that we farmers in 23 story apartment buildings may dash out and cover our grain and vegetable crops with a pocket handkerchief.

KIRKLAND JURY EXPECTED TO BE CHOSEN TODAY

Ten Men Already Accepted by Both Sides.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Valparaiso, Ind., May 10.—[Special.]—A jury to try Virgil Kirkland for the rape and murder of Arlene Draves probably will be completed tomorrow, attorneys agreed today. Selection of the twelve men was begun twelve days ago before Judge Grant Crumpacker and the lawyers experienced many difficulties in finding citizens who had not formed opinions of the youth's guilt or innocence.

Sheriff Burney Maxwell was busy today rounding up voters of the county to appear in court for examination as prospective jurors. He was acting under orders of the court, who declared that the ordinary procedure of summoning veniremen by picking names from a box was not effectual in this case.

The sheriff used his own discretion in notifying veniremen and he was not expected to waste time by summoning men or women who were known to have expressed opinions on the case, thus disqualifying themselves as jurors.

Ten men now in the box appear to be acceptable to both state and defense attorneys.

CHICAGO EXPERTS REBUILD RUSSIA'S HUGE COAL MINES

Most Modern Machinery Installed in Don Basin.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

KHARKOV, U. S. S. R., April 19.—[By Mail.]—For strategic reasons, Kharkov has been made capital of the Ukraine republic instead of Kiev, the oldest city in Russia, and headquarters of Hetman Petlura during the war of secession which followed the Red revolution.

Kiev is too near the Polish frontier to suit the bolsheviks, with their apprehensions over Warsaw's annexationist intentions concerning the Ukraine, and their visions of raiding airplanes flying from the border at Shepetovka and bombing Kiev, only two hours flying time away.

Ukraine is one of the most important of the soviet states because of its huge area, its large population, its "black earth" belt, producing more grain than any other district, and the Don basin coal mines. These run from lignites [brown coal] through bituminous to anthracite in the southeast, and at present supply 90 per cent of Russia's coal.

Chicagoans Direct Work.

Two American firms are modernizing the coal fields in the Don basin—Allen & Garcia of Chicago, and Stuart, James & Cook of New York. Both maintain staffs of engineers here, working in conjunction with Shaktstroi, the soviet coal mining trust. The Americans act as consultants and advisers to their Russian colleagues.

Louis von Perbandt of Chicago is chief representative of Allen & Garcia here, and his staff includes his brother, Otto von Perbandt, S. E. Berkenblit, H. B. Kain, Klass Prins, Richard Persson, James Watt, and Harry Hebley, all of Chicago; Percy Hines and Richard Lovering of Pittsburgh, Larry McGonigle of Bloomington, Ill., and Nelson Morris of Harrisburg, Ill.

Allen & Garcia also have interests at Tomsk, Siberia, where William von Meding of Chicago is in charge.

Rebuild Mining Properties.

Fred G. Koper of Charleston, W. Va., represents Stuart, James & Cook, and his staff includes Richard Cole, Colewood, W. Va.; Arthur Warner, Haverford, Pa.; William Stanton, Lancaster, Pa., and Sam Shapiro, Boston. At Leningrad are stationed J. J. Richards of Philadelphia; Harry J. Evans, Scranton, Pa.; F. E. Haas, Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Fred C. Thornley, Providence, R. I., and M. Hensley. Located at various mines being modernized in the Don basin are Carol Robinson, Lexington, Ky.; Andrew Getty and Fred Hatch of Wilkesbarre, Pa.; O. O'Hara of Charleston, W. Va., and Fred Rep of Scranton.

Modernizing methods employed amount practically to entire reconstruction of the mining properties, with sinking of new shafts, installation of new skips and fixed platform cages, and latest type cutting and extraction machinery and equipment. Many of the mines were formerly worked by Belgian and French concessionaires, and were destroyed during the revolution, requiring complete rebuilding.

Allen & Garcia have completed plans for erection of the largest coal washing plant in the world at Nikitovka. It will handle 2,400 tons per hour in three shifts of six hours each.

Mines Electric Lighted.

Plans made in the United States and used for modernizing the mines pay much attention to conditions for workers, change rooms, wash rooms, locker rooms, etc., and if they are carried out will provide accommodations equal to that offered miners in America.

All of the mines will be electric lighted, and cutting machines have been introduced already in sufficient quantities to handle the entire output of the basin if they could be kept in repair and in operation. Electric engines for hauling mine cars are gradually superseding horses.

Every project prepared by the American firms includes housing accommodations for workers in model towns to be put up near the plants. Not all machinery installed is made in the United States. There is some German and English installation, but all is of the latest design.

The project for modernizing the mines is on a three year basis and the task of the American engineers is expected to be completed in 1933.

In 1927 the Moscow government sent a mission of experts abroad to investigate and report on the best foreign methods to adopt for industrialization of the country and modernization of the mines. This committee unanimously picked the United States for coal and power development, but recognized in Germany the greatest advancement in low temperature distillation of coal car products and by-products, and German experts have been brought here for that branch of the plan.

Attends Church Service.

On the eve of Russian Easter I attended midnight services in "the Calico Church," the largest remaining church in Kharkov and so called because its mosaic of red brick and white concrete resembles calico prints.

The edifice was jammed with men, women and children standing in their wet, steaming garments. A driving snowstorm was raging outside. At midnight all who had them exchanged colored eggs and embraced each other.

At another church where I stopped later I joined the procession walking round the church, following the priest and choir boys carrying lighted candles in the blizzard. Afterward the congregation sat on the tombstones of the cemetery surrounding the church and had a midnight supper of black bread, hard boiled eggs, cold meat and occasionally a bottle of wine.

Build New City.

A new city is being constructed on the high ground to the east of Kharkov, and already an eleven story municipal d government building has been completed. The elevators give service only to floors above the fifth, and every one must walk down all the way, even from the topmost stories.

New apartments, where all the Americans are installed, have been completed on this high ground, and foundations have been dug for a thousand room hotel and a fifteen story government office building.

Going downtown along the Somskaia, the one asphalted street in Kharkov, I saw a group of boys playing shinny with curved sticks and using a jawless human skull as a ball to bat around. Passersby grinned at the grim spectacle, and I was told the skull had been found in the excavation for a building.

I visited the special store the government has put at the disposition of the foreign colony. They already had early radishes for sale. The display included chickens, cream, milk, butter, meat, bread, canned goods, white flour, lump sugar, bacon, ham, wines, vodka, and clothing.

Prices were high, a fierce "take-me-home-for-five-dollars" suit being marked $25, a scraggly blue serge priced at $30, a woman's coat at $20, women's shoes at $10.50, a skimpy little dress at $3, a coarse shirt or shimmy, $1. Hobnailed men's shoes of doubtful leather were marked at $6, stockings which no servant girl in America would deign to wear cost $3, and sox $1.50. There were perfumes, face powder, and tooth paste.

Chickens cost 50 cents a pound. Butter was 85 cents a pound, and milk 17 cents a quart.

RUSSIA TO PUT MORE WOMEN ON FARMS TO SPEED FIVE YEAR PLAN

MOSCOW, May 10.—(AP)—"Let the women do the work" has long been a quaint old Russian custom, and now the government has started a campaign to increase the female workers on collective farms. By putting more women to work on the farms it is hoped the five year plan may be speeded up. Heretofore shortage of skilled and unskilled labor has impeded the plan.

Already there are some 10,000,000 women employed on these farms throughout Russia. By increasing this number the government plans to release more men to meet the huge increasing demands for them in heavy industries.

SOVIETS TO TRY NINE OFFICIALS; SPURNED AMERICANS' ADVICE

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, May 10.—Nine officials of the Nijni Novgorod avostroy [automobile construction plant] are to be tried in the local people's court on a criminal charge for "willful neglect and suppression" of 42 projects or recommendations submitted to them by American specialists. This startling news item appears in one Moscow newspaper, Labor, today and marks a new departure of immense importance. Labor gives several other instances of similar "bureaucratic neglect" of foreign advice, but this is the first occasion of any one being held criminally responsible.

Independence League of Finland Opposes Dry Law

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, May 10.—A count today of a straw vote recently taken on prohibition by the Finland Independence league membership, which largely reflects public opinion, resulted in 89 per cent of the members voting against prohibition.

END YOUR STOMACH TROUBLE

Don't Suffer Longer

Stop suffering from sour Stomach, Gas, Belching, Acid Indigestion, Heartburn, Nausea and other forms of distressing stomach disturbances caused by hyperacidity and fermentation. They often result in headaches, sleeplessness, acidosis, pain after eating, that torment your life and make it a sorrow, instead of a joy.

End these troubles with ACIDINE, the new prescription that succeeds—even in bad, difficult cases—when other known remedies have failed. It is positively amazing the way ACIDINE soothes inflamed stomach and intestinal membranes, neutralizes excess acid in stomach and blood, digests certain starchy foods that cause trouble. ACIDINE is unequalled to put you on your feet after overeating or overdrinking.

Hundreds write about the marvelous things ACIDINE has done for their suffering stomachs.

"Having been a stomach sufferer for years, I decided to give ACIDINE a trial. Now all my old ailments have disappeared and my stomach is in fine shape," says Mr. H. T. Games of Moorestown, N. J. "You can use this letter in any manner you see fit. My only reason for writing you is that whenever I find something that is good, I feel it my duty to boost that article, and ACIDINE is good, believe me."

Five million packages used by grateful sufferers prove how good ACIDINE is. Doctors are prescribing it. Ask your druggist for ACIDINE today. End suffering right now. Make your stomach will be satisfied with ACIDINE, or returns your money without question or delay.

Indianapolis Speedway Tests Reveal

FACTS to guide the careful buyer of Motor Oil •

The Contest Board of the American Automobile Association certifies to these statements:

1 Iso-Vis Motor Oil did not thin out from dilution.

2 During the entire test of 9,000 miles, the engines and chassis of all cars were lubricated effectively.

3 Oil Added: only 68/100 of a quart—average for all cars—in 1,000 mile test at 30 miles per hour, using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).

4 Effect of speed on oil consumption: Speed is the chief factor affecting oil consumption. All oils tested at 55 miles per hr. showed a consumption nearly 7 times that at 30 miles per hour. Iso-Vis gave excellent oil economy at all speeds.

5 Carbon: only 6.23 grams per cylinder at 30 miles per hour, using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy), average for all cars. Carbon decreased 33% at 55 miles per hour.

6 Cylinder Wear: scarcely measurable—less than one one-thousandth (1/1000) of an inch in any cylinder in any car for the entire 9,000 miles.

7 Red Crown Ethyl Gasoline was used. It was thoroughly satisfactory and eliminated the knock.

8 The 13 cars were regular stock models of the latest design, bought by A.A.A. representatives from dealers' floors.

Latest stock models of the 13 makes of cars used in the Lubrication Study conducted by the Contest Board of the A.A.A., on the Indianapolis Speedway from March 17 to April 9.

Watch for the Iso-Vis Test Cars

These cars start next week on individual tours to gather more lubrication data and visit auto dealers. They will be out 5 months and cover every state in the middle-west from Indiana and Michigan to Colorado and Montana.

NEVER before such facts about a motor oil. Here is proof that New Iso-Vis Motor Oil does an outstanding job of lubrication.

Think of these cars being whipped through more than a year's average mileage in 24 days. The work never stopped, day or night.

First a break-in run of 2000 miles. Then test after test of 1000 miles each. The first two at 30 miles per hour and then five in rapid succession at 55 miles per hour. Only brief stops, to change drivers and service the cars, were made during each run.

Around they went, rushing through the miles on that rough, brick track at unvarying speed. The torturing pace to which they were held was equal to the strain of two years of normal driving. 16 out of the 24 days they went through rain, snow or sleet.

More than 125 drivers, mechanics, observers and scorers were involved in the work. Over 116,000 car-miles were covered. In compiling results, the number of calculations and observations ran above 600,000. The huge size of this project brought it spotlight attention in the lubricating and automotive worlds. Car manufacturers had men at the track to observe.

Hundreds of people, many of them dealers, visited the Speedway. We wish you could have been there too, to see for yourself this interesting part of a research program that never ends.

The results obtained by the A.A.A. have been proved by hundreds of thousands of motorists who, in their own cars, have demonstrated that New Iso-Vis gives care-free, money-saving lubrication summer and winter.

Try this tested and certified oil. Then at draining time, make the Ball and Bottle Test, at any Standard Oil Service Station or dealer, with the used New Iso-Vis from your own car. See for yourself that, besides many other advantages, New Iso-Vis will not thin out from dilution.

FINDS FILIPINOS LAGGING BEHIND IN TRADE RACE

"Modern Farming Only Salvation": Gov. Davis.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANILA, May 10.—That the Philippine Islands, at the present time and for many years to come, cannot compete with other countries in the world market without the assistance of free trade with the United States, was one of the messages brought back by Gov. Gen. Dwight F. Davis from his good will and fact finding tour of countries of the far east.

DWIGHT F. DAVIS.

Gov. Gen. Davis spent six weeks visiting neighboring countries, including French Indo-China, Siam, Cambodia, the Straits Settlements, Java and Sumatra, aboard the U. S. S. Pittsburgh, former flagship of the Asiatic fleet. He was accompanied by a group of experts, including Secretary of Commerce and Communications Filemon Perez, Secretary of Agriculture Rafael Alunan, and Earl B. Schwulst, technical adviser on banking and finance.

The purpose of the trip was twofold, namely, to promote friendly relations with other countries and to observe methods used in the promotion of industries, agriculture and communications with a view of adapting them to Philippine conditions.

In a frank discussion of his findings, Gov. Davis declared that in agriculture the Philippine islands were far behind many of the countries visited. He made special mention of Java, where conditions are similar to those in the Philippines, and where the farmers make the soil yield three or four times the produce Philippine farmers can obtain under the best of conditions. Gov. Gen. Davis said:

"Our only present salvation in the free world market is the preference we have in the American market. We must put our agriculture on a modern basis if we expect to progress. Both government and private industry in the Philippines are far behind our neighbors in agricultural research, experimentation, and demonstration work."

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND says:

"Every sensible person will give close attention to the selection and fit of her shoes," and to the cultivation of a proper attitude in standing and walking. "She must do this if she is to avoid endless foot troubles."

EUROPE'S NAVAL ROW THREATENS LONDON TREATY

Britain to Demand Accord at League Session.

LONDON, May 10.—(A.P.)—The snarl which has resulted in the Anglo-French-Italian naval treaty discussions, political observers were agreeing here tonight, is likely to prove the most nettling question at the forthcoming meeting of the league of nations council at Geneva.

Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson will leave for the continent Tuesday to enter an atmosphere charged with highly explosive issues, including the Austro-German customs accord and plans for next year's world disarmament conference, as well as the naval tangle.

All technicalities aside, it was agreed here, a failure to consummate the naval accord implies a scrapping of the London naval treaty of 1930.

Will Fight for Naval Accord.

The world was led to believe the accord actually existed two months ago when Mr. Henderson dashed to Paris and Rome. In the present situation, the belief here was that Henderson will exert the most strenuous efforts of his career to bring the accord into being so that he may move on to a great world disarmament parley in 1932.

He will leave for Geneva uninfluenced by arguments seeking to postpone the world parley. All arguments for delay have been thoroughly considered in Downing street and it is known the decision has been to go on with plans for the conference.

The arguments advanced are chiefly these four:

1. The French elections next year would interfere with it.

2. The approaching national elections in the United States would also interfere with it.

3. The proposed Austro-German customs accord is an unexpected and new development which necessitates a cautious approach to any new disarmament move.

4. The hitch in the tripartite naval discussions prejudices larger plans.

Demands Disarm Parley.

It is Mr. Henderson's hope the last objection will be eliminated first, and the fact that neither the United States nor Germany is likely to agree to any further delay rules out two other objections.

The upshot is that Great Britain is expected to register an emphatic demand for the world conference, as it is now planned, and British political parties are making preparations on this basis.

The committee on imperial defense, a body on which all the parties are represented, has held three meetings and made substantial progress toward a national nonpartisan policy.

SHOT BY STORE WATCHMAN.

Ray Cullen, 28 years old, 1729 North Lincoln street, was shot in the leg yesterday by Walter Krotel, 1358 Bauwans street, a watchman, at Kelker-Rabinowits clothing store, 1158 Milwaukee avenue, who told police Cullen had stolen a suit.

VALUELESS ARMY POSTS MAY GO; SAVE MILLIONS

Estimate Being Made of Needless Forts.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—A new survey of the real estate holdings of the American army establishment made for the purpose of winnowing out army posts, stations, and reservations no longer vitally necessary for national defense purposes under modern conditions, has been completed by the army general staff for Secretary of War Hurley.

If facts developed by this and previous investigating bodies are made the basis for a real clean cut of the army's surplus pork barrel garrisons, reservations, forts, and posts, millions in annual war department maintenance charges could be lopped off the annual army budget and a real start made toward holding down a prospective deficit during the next fiscal year which threatens to equal the billion dollar one expected this July 1.

There are no tangible evidences, however, of any White House move, in this pre-presidential election year, to buck the political pork barrel tactics which have thwarted the efforts of every chief executive during the last half century to shear off obsolete and unnecessary war department real estate.

Numerous investigations of the army's surplus property have been made since the world war, some by the army and others by congress. Little headway, however, has been made in weaning from the public pay roll old frontier, Indian, border, and coast artillery forts which long since have lost all possible military value.

Despite every effort to close down army posts along the Mexican border, in the central states, in the Dakotas, Nebraska, and other far western states, congressmen from these districts have successfully banded together in congress to prevent the sale or abandonment for military use of forts located near communities which derived a financial benefit from the army funds expended by Uncle Sam.

Success for the 100 million dollar army housing program, which has furnished funds for construction of new barracks and officers' quarters at more than two score army posts and stations has also served to instill new life into army forts once recommended for disposal or for which the army general staff saw no real need for military purposes. In certain instances needless barracks have been built in camps.

One of these pieces of property—Fort Wayne, Mich., a frontier post established not long after the revolution—the government is expending $91,000 for new permanent barracks.

A total of $1,623,000 is being expended at Camp Devens, Mass., where a spanking new infantry battalion barracks, just completed, stands idle because there are no soldiers to send there.

Among stations which are ravages of age have rendered obsolete are Fort Meade, S. D., from which troops were once removed only to be sent back in response to political pressure; Fort Lincoln, N. D.; Fort Missoula, Mont.; Fort Eustis, Va., several posts along the Mexican border, and a number of coast artillery posts.

Teeth Dingy for Years

3 Shades Whiter in 3 Days

EVEN the most stubborn yellow—obvious, ugly stain that defies faithful brushing by ordinary methods—quickly disappears and teeth regain their natural color when this amazing Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique is used. Try it.

Start using this technique, morning and night—a half-inch of Kolynos on a dry brush. Then note the marked improvement in just 3 days. Teeth fully 3 shades whiter and much cleaner! Gums firmer and healthier looking.

Yes, Kolynos is utterly unlike anything you've ever used.

The very second it enters the mouth Kolynos becomes a surging, antiseptic FOAM that cleans teeth scientifically and permits the use of the dry brush which increases the cleansing power of Kolynos ten-fold.

This FOAM gets into and cleans out every tiny pit, fissure and crevice. It destroys millions of mouth germs—190 million in the first 15 seconds—that are the source of 95% of all tooth and gum troubles.

Thus teeth are cleaned as they should be cleaned—right down to the beautiful, naked white enamel, without injury. Gums are stimulated. And the whole mouth is purified.

Now if you want sound, sparkling white teeth and firm, pink gums start using the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. In 3 days it will prove its worth. Buy a large tube of Kolynos.

CAROL REVIEWS MILITARY PARADE WITHOUT HELEN

Crowd Disappointed as Princess Stays Away.

BUCHAREST, Rumania, May 10.—(AP)—A great military parade was held in Bucharest today in the presence of King Carol, who took the salute alone. Princess Helen, who returned home today in a gay mood, was not present, as had been anticipated.

PRINCESS HELEN. [Acme Photo.]

Absence of the princess caused great disappointment to those who believe that at his recent meeting with Carol, King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia had brought about a reconciliation between the estranged royal couple. Her presence at today's ceremony had been looked forward to as confirmation of this report.

Find Helen Gay.

Ladies in waiting, who greeted Helen on her return from a brief visit to Belgrade, said her position had changed in no way. Nevertheless, it was remarked by many that she was gay and more animated than she had been for a long while.

Hope thus was revived that despite her absence at today's parade, some terms of peace between her and Carol have been arranged and it only needs a final meeting of the royal pair to complete the reconciliation.

Today's parade was t ocelebrate the 50th anniversary of the declaration of Rumania's independence. The country's finest troops, in new uniforms, marched past the saluting place, the procession lasting for one and one-half hours.

Carol Gets Ovation.

Prince Nicholas rode at the head of the parade and young Prince Michael sat in the grandstand between the former king and queen of Greece.

The little crown prince looked pale after his recent illness of diphtheria, but obviously was pleased and interested in all the pomp and pageantry. A vast crowd, many of whom had come from distant provinces, witnessed the ceremony and greeted King Carol with great enthusiasm.

Parachute Fails to Open; Novice Killed in Leap

Richmond, Mich., May 10.—(AP)—Private Herman Z. Huneke, 23, a cook at Selfridge field, essayed the rôle of parachute jumper today without the knowledge of his superior officers, and fell 2,000 feet to his death when the chute failed to open. It was the first jump he had ever attempted.

MOVE AND LOOT HOTEL SAFE.

Thieves early yesterday took a safe from the office of the Baldwin Apartment hotel, 130 South Central avenue, to the basement, forced it open, and took $963 in cash and checks amounting to $173.

HEIR TO THRONE REVEALED SLAIN BY LOVE RIVAL

Insists Austrian Duke Did Not Kill Self.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

COLOGNE, May 10.—Dr. Friederich Marx, professor at the University of Bonn, in the first of a series of articles in the Koelnisch Zeitung dealing with the death of the Archduke Rudolf, heir to the Austrian throne, in 1889, reveals private information which shows the archduke, who was found dead with Baroness Mary Vetsera at Mayerling, did not commit suicide, but was slain by a rival.

Marx was professor of classic philology at the University of Vienna between 1896 and 1899 and an intimate friend of Laurenz Muellner, a Catholic clergyman, then also professor at the Vienna university. Muellner revealed to him confidentially, he writes, that a Roman cardinal, in the course of a conversation, told him that "all they tell about the death of Archduke Rudolf is not true. He was slain by a rival."

Refused Christian Funeral.

Marx points out there is no doubt the cardinal was well informed, since the Catholic church refused a Christian funeral to the archduke when the imperial house announced his suicide, and church officials had to be informed confidentially by the emperor that in fact he was slain in order to make the funeral possible.

Marx presumes the cardinal was Rampolla, who negotiated with Emperor Francis Josef about the funeral. If Rampolla forced the emperor to admit the facts of Rudolf's death, he points out, this explains why the emperor later protested against Rampolla's selection as pope.

In the course of his articles Marx will tell the results of the official investigation by Attorney General Ekler von Langer, which was never published, but revealed to him by Langer himself, and thus confirm the cardinal's contention.

Broke Into an Orgy.

He will, furthermore, present evidence that the archduke was killed by a man who loved Mary Vetsera and broke, with a companion, into an orgy held by Rudolf at Mayerling. While the name of the rival is unknown to him, he tells that his companion was Aristide Baltazzi, brother of Mary Vetsera's mother.

Discarding one theory that the Baroness Vetsera had murdered Rudolf and then committed suicide, of late years opinion has been divided between blaming the emperor and Count Baltazzi. In the first belief historians have shown that Franz Josef looked with disfavor upon his son's liberal leanings. The murderers, some have held, were uncles of the prince's morganatic wife. Archduke Francis Ferdinand, later assassinated at Serajevo, was said to have been one of the conspirators.

The other theory was advanced four years ago by Prof. Eduard Albert, who was charged by the emperor to write the death certificate. His belief is that the count followed Baroness Vetsera to the hunting lodge and there quarreled with Rudolf, killing him with a billiard cue. He was then so angry that he murdered the girl also. Prof. Albert said the later banishment of the count proved the point.

2 SHOT IN ATTEMPT TO ROB STORE.

Denver, Colo., May 10.—(AP)—A gun fight resulting from an attempt by four men to loot a department store here today resulted in probable fatal wounds for Lawrence M. Goldberg, a department manager, the wounding of one of the robbers, and the capture of two other members of the gang.

DEMAND BRIAND'S 'YES' OR 'NO' IN PRESIDENT RACE

France Wants Him to Make Up Mind Today.

PARIS, May 10.—(AP)—The question of whether Aristide Briand would continue as minister of foreign affairs or seek election as president of France was being debated by the French nation today.

Tomorrow the veteran French statesman and internationalist will be asked to state his position in regard to the presidential election which is to be held Wednesday. It is believed he cannot well dodge the query.

Choice Up to Briand.

The country seems to be entirely willing to leave the choice to him. This was indicated by his smashing victory in the chamber of deputies Saturday, and it was believed he might decide to remain at the Quai d'Orsay as foreign minister and continue his efforts to promote a pan-European union.

The friends of Paul Painleve, who ran second in the 1924 presidential election, today announced their intention to push their candidate as the chief opponent of Senator Paul Doumer. The hope still prevailed in certain breasts that Briand would not be a candidate. Among those who held this hope are Minister of Justice Leon and Raymond Poincare's candidate, Senator Albert Lebrun.

Question His Alibity.

Le Journal des Debats, organ of old conservatism, came out in opposition to Briand's candidacy tonight with a long editorial in which it asked why, if he is certain his peace policies are bearing good fruit, Briand should leave the ministry.

The paper also questioned Briand's ability to be impartial as president. It predicted he would be mixed in many parliamentary struggles.

Although Briand was holding the inside track as far as the chamber of deputies is concerned, the senate groups have not yet taken indicative action, but they are expected to do so tomorrow or Tuesday.

INJURED IN FALL OFF WAGON.

Pana, Ill., May 10.—[Special.]—Charles Ompach, timber man of Shelby county, was probably fatally injured late yesterday when he fell from a wagon, loaded with logs.

Follow These Simple Rules:

1. Each evening for 42 consecutive evenings (not including Saturdays) W-G-N will broadcast 3 songs of yesterday—"Tune Tangles." On each day following the broadcast the Chicago Tribune will print a "Tune Tangle" Crossword Puzzle. Each puzzle will contain the title of one of the songs broadcast the preceding evening. You are invited to listen to the broadcast, solve the Tune Tangle Crossword in the next day's Tribune and name the song.

2. The Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in Cash Prizes to the persons who send in the nearest correctly solved and neatest complete sets of answers in accordance with these rules. NOTE: This means that you do not necessarily have to solve each of the 42 Tune Tangles completely to win. The prizes will be paid to the persons whose entries rank highest.

3. The prizes are as follows:

1st Prize		$1,000.00
2nd Prize		500.00
3rd Prize		250.00

Next 310 Prizes,	5.00 each	1,550.00
430 Prizes, Totaling		$5,000.00

4. This offer is open to everyone—men, women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

5. Tune Tangle Crosswords are to be submitted only in complete sets. Do NOT send in each puzzle separately. Hold all puzzles until you have the complete set of 42. Then send them to "Tune Tangles," Chicago Tribune, Post-office Box 1718, Chicago, Illinois. All entries must be in by midnight, 15 days after Puzzle No. 42 has been printed.

6. Each entry must be sent by First Class Mail, postage prepaid. Entries with insufficient postage will be returned by the Postoffice Department. Contestants may submit as many sets of puzzles as they wish, but no contestant will be entitled to more than one prize.

7. You need not buy the Chicago Tribune. You may copy or trace the puzzles and send them in. The Chicago Tribune may be examined at any of its offices or at Public Libraries free of charge.

8. The judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune. Their decision will be final. In case of ties, a duplicate award will be paid to each tying contestant.

ELEMENTS KIND, BLOSSOM FETE PARADE IS HELD

Crowds Enjoy Spectacle in Michigan.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Benton Harbor, Mich., May 10.—[Special.]—Nary a murmur against their civic luck will be heard in the twin cities for the rest of the current year. For the annual parade of the blossom festival was held this afternoon under a truce with the unfriendly elements, twenty-four hours tardy, but well worth waiting for, and community pride flared high at the record outpouring of visitors.

From a flower decked throne atop the royal float that wound up the hour and a half long procession, Queen Jane Filstrup waved cordial greetings to throngs estimated as high as 125,000 persons from all nearby states and some distant ones. This in spite of the protest registered by the ministerial association, which attributed a touch of paganism to the Sunday celebration. The decision to stage the feature this afternoon was made late Friday night, when persistent rain upset the original Saturday schedule. Beyond announcing their disapproval the ministers took no action to prevent the spectacle.

Crowds Feast on Color.

So the main streets of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor went completely holiday. Crowds stood from five to ten deep to watch the gay flow of color and youth and sound. Bands blared, batons spun and glittered, vivid uniforms and pastel tinted floats streamed past. Here a shout went up as a hobo in a decrepit flivver careened crazily toward the spectators, veering off at the last possible instant. There a burst of cheers and applause paid tribute to the bevy of beauties whose charms rivaled the profusion of peach blossoms that decked their float.

Watchers were everywhere. Their automobiles choked block after block of thoroughfares in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor. Review stands had been set up on Main street between the two, but their capacity was limited. Cars bearing licenses from many states were packed solidly together for blocks on the north side of the St. Joseph river, their occupants perched jauntily atop them for vantage points.

Everywhere jollity and high spirits testified to the relief of the two towns that Old Sol had consented to play a return engagement after an absence of several days. Even though he smiled only half heartedly on the scene, and his rays did little to mitigate the cool breeze that ruffled the summery costumes of the girls, sending sympathetic shivers down more than one spine well up in the vanguard of the parade, everybody was pleased.

The Benton Harbor High school girls' band, swinging sturdily along in their navy blue skirts, capes and berets, marched to a steady ripple of enthusiasm along the line. One of the biggest and most popular of the bands was the Western State Teachers' college crew of 80 pieces, stepping fast in royal blue uniforms and gold satin lined capes, in the wake of the biggest and struttingest drum major of the entire line of march.

From Kalamazoo came the Veterans of Foreign Wars and drum and bugle corps, with black jackets and scarlet trousers and berets banded with scarlet. And Battle Creek did nobly when it sent its crack Boy Scout aggregation to swell the strains of martial music with their drums and bugles. In full Scout uniforms, with pale blue neckerchiefs, the lads marched like machines. Kiwanis clubs from nearby cities were well represented in the floats, the St. Joseph club sending a pyramid of purple and white blocks topped with attractive youngsters and bearing the motto, "We Build." Elks' clubs also were consistently excellent in their entries, all distinguished by their purple and white decorations and the Elks' clock.

Among the numerous floats, that of the New York Central lines was outstanding, capturing the sweepstakes for first place. Buchanan and Allegan floats also were awarded prizes. A strikingly pretty girl nestled in the heart of a great peach blossom, with silver streamers of reins leading to a huge butterfly that poised on the high front part of the float, its gauzy big wings undulating gently and shimmering with sequins.

Queen Rides in State.

Silver crescent moons formed the sides of Queen Jane's throne on the sovereign's float, which incorporated the delicate tints of the orchards now riotous with beauty in all directions from the twin cities. Her maids of honor, Miss St. Joseph [Theresa Briggs] and Miss Kalamazoo [Mildred Griffin], wrapped in Spanish shawls, occupied places of honor at either side. At the front of the float was a representation of a golden crown from which streamers led back to the top of the throne.

Attired in her coronation robe of eggshell satin, her majesty tossed smiles right and left in her triumphal tour.

There won't be another for twelve months, but in the meantime the twin cities will cherish such memories as that of the youth who shrilled to his buddy across Pipestone street:

"Hey, Pecky, the queen spoke to me."

NEW YORK SCHOOL BOARD IS DEFENDED BY MAYOR WALKER

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Mayor Walker defended the board of education today, attacked its critics, and asserted "if they must critize somebody, let them pick me out and leave the board alone."

He called attackers of the school system "an enemy of the municipality and the peace and security of the home."

The mayor spoke at a gathering of several thousand persons in Central park which met to indorse the second Sunday of May as Parents' day, instead of "Mother's day."

He cited discipline and conduct of pupils and sacrifice of parents as "the answer eternal to detracters of the city of New York." The schools were criticized last week by the city affairs committee of the National Republican club as being topheavy with politics.

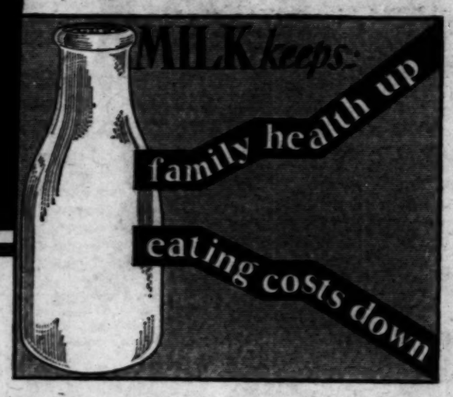
Use a quart of milk daily for each member of the family

Living on a reduced food budget has been a "blessing in disguise" in thousands of homes. The family health actually has improved . . . because a quart of milk a day has been used for each member.



here's why
milk cuts food costs

every quart takes the place of something MORE expensive . . . LESS nourishing

THAT better health should follow the use of more milk is quite natural, when you realize the real nourishment in a quart of milk. It supplies one-third of the day's requirements of protein, all of the lime, nearly all of the phosphorus, one-eighth of the iron, protection in Vitamin A and B, some of C, important amounts of D, E and G, and one-fourth to one-fifth of the daily energy requirement. And all this for 13 cents a quart.

Milk reinforces the rest of the diet. Makes sure that the children get minerals needed for teeth and bones, vitamins needed for growth and development . . . and that grown-ups get necessary nourishment for daily repair requirements . . . the lack of which in all cases leads to serious impairment of health.

Getting a quart of milk a day into the diet is very easy. The adults should join the children drinking it . . . a quart for the children, a pint for the adults. For breakfast, milk toast, or cereal with plenty of milk, is a sound start-off for a good day. For luncheon, sandwiches or cookies with a glass of milk and a "cream" soup to provide something warm, make a sensible meal.

For dinner, there is a filling quality about dishes with a milk base. Thick soups, custards, puddings, creamed vegetables and meat gravies supply needed energy.

Why not have your daily milk needs supplied by a courteous Borden milkman? He also will be glad to leave at your door any of the other 14 good foods that he carries . . . among them eggs and cottage cheese, two other cheap and nourishing foods.

To make milk drinking more than ever inviting, we produce a special drinking milk... "Selected" ...famous for its "Sweet Natural Taste". It is produced with exacting care on 105 farms near Lake Geneva, Wis., and supplied at 16 cents a quart. Try "Selected" and see how thoroughly the milk drinkers of your family enjoy it.

Some Milk Suggestions

Cereal and Milk for the Kiddies
Morning, noon or night, cereal and milk make a wholesome food for children . . . easy to fix . . . and very nourishing. Cereal and milk is being used more and more for the evening meal for children . . . It is nourishing, quickly digested and conducive to sound sleep.

250 Miles on Bananas and Milk
You probably saw the recent newspaper account of how the Swedish runner covered the 250 miles from Oslo to Christiansand, eating nothing en route except bananas and milk. Bananas and milk are rich in proteins, mineral salts and vitamins . . . a nourishing and economical food combination for children or grown-ups.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

A STRANGE THING IS 'JUSTICE' AS WEIGHED IN PARIS

The Method You Use for Murder Decides Penalty.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, May 10.—A French publicist has made a summary of the jury verdicts in homicide cases for the month of March this year in the department of the Seine [Paris and suburbs].

From this curious study two facts stand out. The first is the extraordinary leniency of Parisian jurors, or, if you will, their scanty respect for human life. More extraordinary is their capriciousness. A jury trial for a murderer is in Paris literally a lottery. Anything may be grabbed out of that bag, even a blank.

Girl Draws 20 Years.

The month closed with the condemnation of Georgette Hodot, an ex-salesgirl who murdered her lover, to 20 years penal servitude, the most severe punishment but one meted out during the month. Georgette must be making some bitter reflections about the fickleness of juries. When she committed her crime she was relying on their clemency, as exemplified in the case of the Rumanian, Friedman, who was acquitted after killing his wife.

In the weeks that immediately preceded her trial she would have found reason for much hope, if she read the news. She would have learned that there is no telling what a Parisian jury will do. Strangling a newly born child is a gesture which apparently they consider reprehensible. They gave a mother who did it four years' imprisonment. The court suspended sentence.

Pistol Is Fashionable Weapon.

Infanticide would seem to be a more serious crime than homicide. A Polish woman who murdered her husband, and a cafékeeper who shot dead a customer during a brawl, were both acquitted.

Possibly the jury wanted to reward their good taste in the choice of weapons. They used revolvers. The wife of a drunken chauffeur was less happily inspired. By profession she was a nurse, and she gave her husband rather singular treatment. Whilst he was snoring in vinous slumber she heated up ten liters of water to the boiling point and threw them over him. He died four days later. She got a sentence of two years in jail—suspended. Probably she will learn to use hereafter neater weapons than a kettleful of boiling water.

Always Finish the Job.

It also appears that the Parisian jury disapproves of people who set out to kill and do not finish the job. An Italian woman who started to work on her husband with a knife and only succeeded in gouging out one of his eyes drew a year in prison and her sentence was not suspended.

Evidently also when one has had a history involving death to some one the story should not be bedecked with details too picturesque, grotesque, or grewsome. Therein lay the error of young Henri Rondiez, the night watchman whose sweetheart died as the result of a tap on the chin from him. All might have been well with him if he had not kept the decomposing corpse beside him for some weeks. The jurors marked their disapproval of such unseemly conduct by sending him up for five years.

One Never Can Tell.

One never should have too much confidence, however. If the Parisian jury shows extreme reluctance in providing customers for this sinister gentleman called Monsieur de Paris, it is none the less capable of brusque and ferocious variations. As example, there are the 20 years of Georgette Hodot. More severe was the punishment meted out to a poor old bum named Berthalot. He killed one of his fellow drinkers in a drunken quarrel and got hard labor for life.

This was the heaviest sentence imposed on any one during March last in Paris for a crime of violence. The most astounding leniency was that shown a carpenter who killed a woman for no reason at all. On Sept. 7 last, at midnight, he strolled into a bar, seized a woman entirely unknown to him by the hair, dragged her outside, and fractured her skull on the pavement. It seems that he uttered not a word during this extraordinary performance. He was acquitted.

POUR OIL ON FIRE; DIES OF BURNS.

Niles, Mich., May 10.—[Special.]—William O'Connell, 47, died tonight at Pawating hospital here of burns received this morning while attempting to start a fire in a stove in his home by pouring gasoline on live coals.

DO-X EXPECTED TO HOP TODAY ON ATLANTIC DASH

LISBON, Portugal, May 10.—(AP)—A radio message intercepted tonight by the steamer Cap Arcona said the German flying boat DO-X would probably take off tomorrow morning from Bolama, Portuguese West Africa, on its trans-Atlantic hop to the Brazilian coast. Bad weather along the coast of Brazil was said to have caused the delay. A takeoff planned for Saturday morning failed because of the 55 ton load carried by the plane.

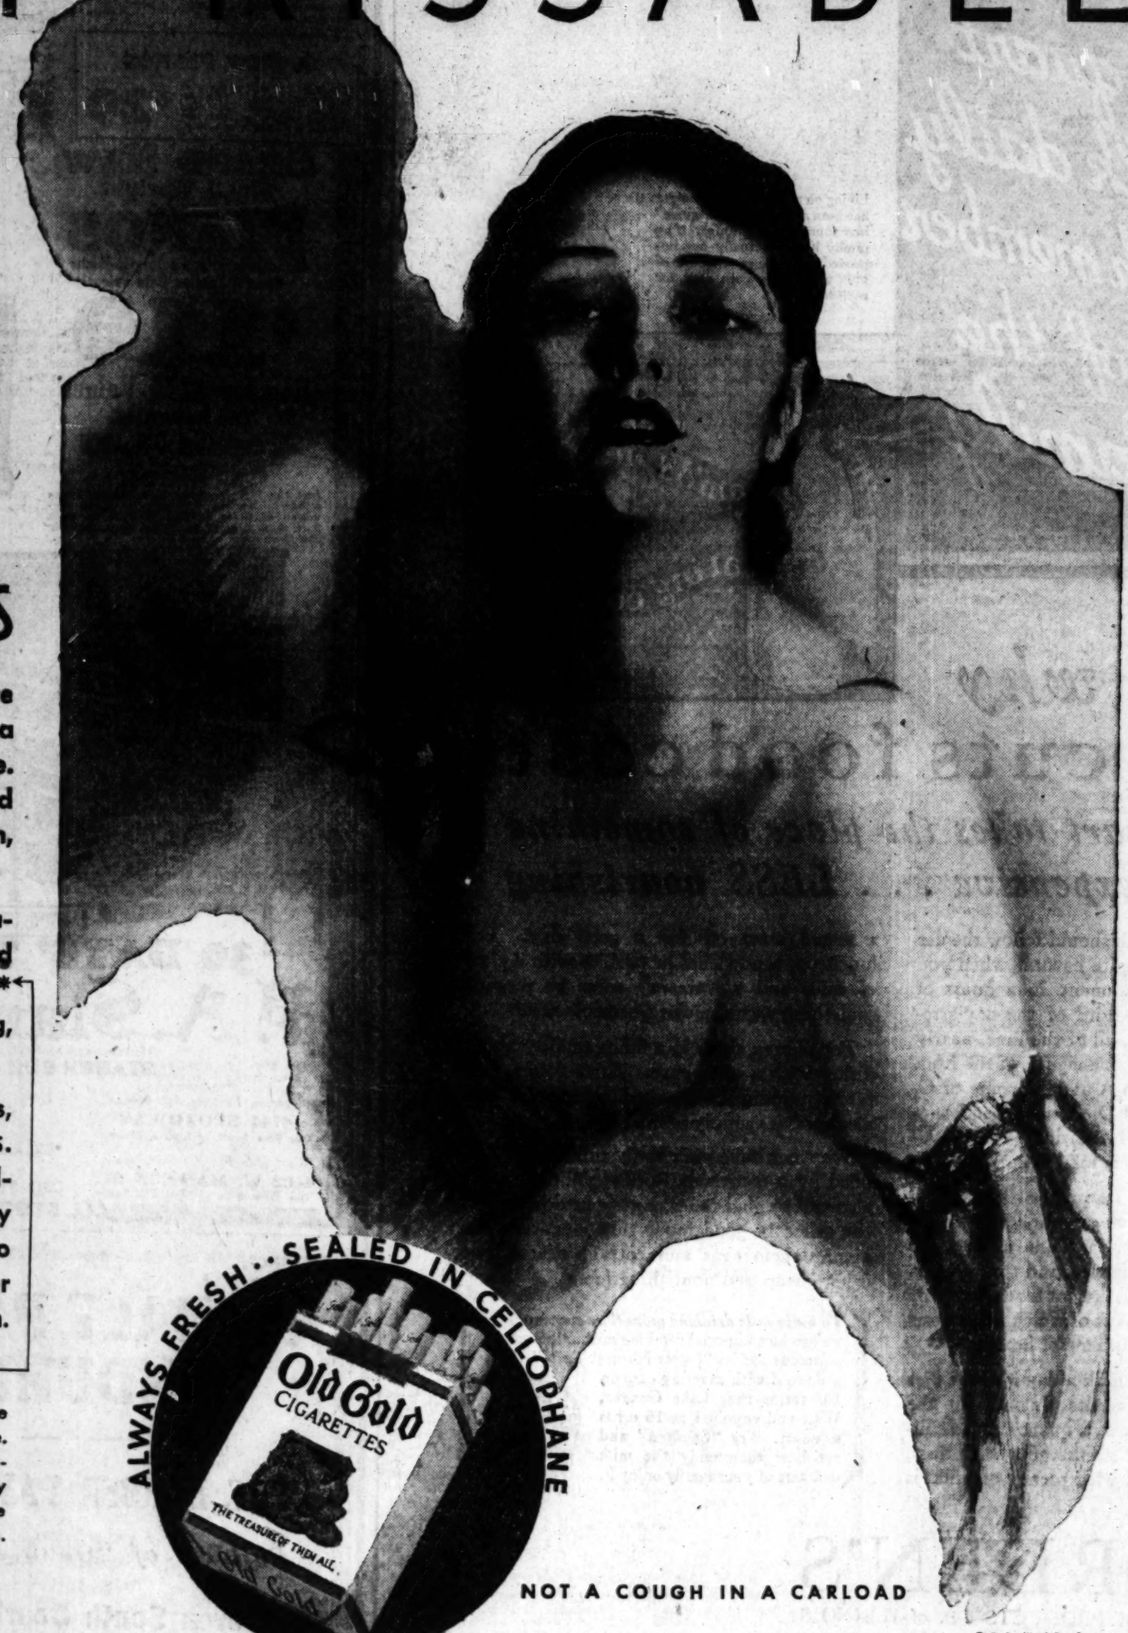
KEEP KISSABLE



. . . WITH OLD GOLDS

OLD GOLDS were created to give you THROAT-EASE . . . as well as a more delightful tasting cigarette. But the makers also considered your breath, your lips, your teeth, as well as your THROAT.

They created a pure-tobacco cigarette . . . free of coriander and other greasy artificial flavorings* that burn into clinging, staining, breath-tainting vapors.

To avoid unpleasant aftermaths, smoke pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS. Their clean, sun-ripened, natural-flavored tobaccos will be like honey to your THROAT. And they leave no objectionable odors either on your breath or clothing, or in the room.

HERE'S THE PROOF*

Open up a pack of OLD GOLDS and smell the tobacco. Do the same with any other cigarette. Judge for yourself which has the natural, pleasant, all-tobacco aroma. It's a favor to your family and friends, as well as to yourself, to smoke NATURAL-FLAVORED, pure-tobacco OLD GOLDS.

New Remarque Book Resumes Bitter Story

Presents Post-War Youth as Blasted Men.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"THE ROAD BACK," by Erich Maria Remarqué [Little-Brown], is the sequel to "All Quiet on the Western Front." Awaited with impatience by an avid public, it is presented to them today.

ERICH MARIA REMARQUE.

[illegible] It rounds out the story of lives [illegible] not only at the front but so completely uprooted that it is impossible for them to return to normal [illegible] life.

Like "All Quiet," "The Road Back" is written in the first person. It is told by a boy who left school to go to war and whose companions were his classmates. They left eager boys. They returned—soldiers. And to the author, soldiers are a race apart. They act differently, they act differently, their thoughts bear little semblance to the thoughts of those who never saw the war.

In one place the writer says he would feel more at home with Tommies or Poilus than with his own people, owing to their utter lack of understanding of what life had done to the boys at the front. There, values were the values of life and death, belong for man's body and his soul. What the boy's mother is shocked at in one of a word and tells him that he has changed, he writes:

"Changed! I think bitterly, yes, I have changed. What is it you know of me, mother? A mere memory, adding but the memory of a quiet, safe path of the days that are gone. You must never know, mother, never know of these last years; never even wonder what they are like, and much less what has become of me. A hundredth part would break your heart—you who tremble and are dazed by the impact of a mere word."

But the author does not spare his readers. They are told, with no mincing of words whatever, what "these last years" were like, what they did to those "quiet, eager" youths. Many of them, of horrors that make you cringe, crowd into the boy's mind making the horrors of readjustment seem almost pale.

But they weren't pale to the boys who returned to find that everything had been changed. "It is all in vain," one of them says. "We are finished, but the world goes on as if the war had never been. It won't be long now before our successors on the school benches will be listening eager eyed to stories of war, and wishing they had been there, too, rid of the tedium of school." Herr Remarque feels that bolshevism so strongly that he makes almost the whole second half of the book a tract on the subject. He drives home his point with every possible sledgehammer blow. It almost loses its reality in its propaganda. But to the great mass of people, that method is the only one that really does plant an idea and give it those first tendings that insure its growth. As propaganda, "The Road Back" is a great piece of work. As literature, the first half of it is one of the finest things that I have ever read about the soldier's problem on the road back to "peace." The author has captured in his words something indefinable, and something that is the very living heart of man's attitude to his life, whether it be war or peace.

The first half of "The Road Back" is tremendously moving a piece of writing as you have encountered for many months, and one that gives a terrific sense of reality. If you feel that the second half is less real [as I do] that is perhaps because the author's eagerness to do his duty has been published—to make them realize the horror of war—has conquered the artist in his book as a novel. But that last half of the book drives home its message in every possible way.

There are occasional sentences that you will never forget. This one, for example: "We have lived as it were in a cellar, and now we are old men. Most of the literature of the war is the elaboration of that theme. 'The Road Back' will be published in all the world in 25 languages.

KING

PAPER QUOTES CHAPLIN AS GIVING EUROPEANS SOME CAUSTIC WORDS

LONDON, May 10.—(AP)—The Daily Express in a story printed as an interview with Charlie Chaplin at Juan les Pins, France, today quoted the film comedian as saying:

"Europe has misunderstood me, bullied me and misrepresented me to such an extent that, being a moderately rich man, I don't care a hang whether I ever make another film."

Chaplin, the story said, appeared to be annoyed by various criticisms of his doings since he has been in Europe, mentioning, among other things, hes refusal to appear at Monday's "command" vaudeville performance here.

"What's all this nonsense about my refusing to appear at a 'command' performance?" he was quoted as asking.

"I received no command from the king, merely a request from a music hall manager to appear at a charity show.

"They say I have a duty to England. I wonder what duty? I sometimes think my countrymen are the world's greatest hypocrites.

"Nobody wanted me in England 17 years ago. I was just as good an artist then and I slaved and starved for a few shillings weekly.

"I had to go to America for my chance and I got it. Only then did England take the slighest interest in me."

Reminiscing about his European travels, Chaplin was quoted as saying:

"Patriotism, the greatest form of insanity from which the world ever suffered, is rampant everywhere and the result is going to be another war.

"The absurd provincialism of Europe, of London, of America, of France!"

Toymakers' Fair Opens Today at Stevens Hotel

The annual fair of the Toy Manufacturers of America opens today at the Stevens hotel. Toys will occupy three floors of the hotel, ranging from penny whistles to elaborate mechanisms worth many dollars.

More than 150 manufacturers of playthings from all parts of the country will be represented in the crossection of Santa Claus' storeroom. The new toys, which fill stockings next Christmas, are to be on display, but the secrets of St. Nicholas' workers are only for buyers and direct agents. The fair is to continue until May 20.

"We are glad that the first fair sponsored in Chicago by the manufacturers should come during the Chicago Jubilee," said F. B. Dodge, secretary of the association. "The fact that we are holding the fair here shows our faith in the city."

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

You mustn't think from the above poem (ha ha) that this film features femmes of all nations wildly pursuing Mr. Sherman, at the same time adjuring him in divers tongues to be theirs. I was just up against it for words to rhyme with Sherman. However, something of the kind is true, for Mr. S. is a charmer and plenty there be in his life who sing:

Wherever you go, whatever you do, I want you to know I'm following you.

The name in the picture is Wayne Carter, and Mr. Wayne Carter has a bachelor apartment and a butler who has a hard time shooing the ladies away. One blond Mrs. Carraway (impersonated with considerable humor by Mae Murray) will not be permanently dismissed. She comes bobbing up at the most inopportune times—to finally meet her match in—but suppose you find out who from the picture . . .!

Mr. Carter may be a philanderer, but he is an astute business man as well. He recognizes a perfect secretary when he sees her—and leaves no stone unturned to attach her to his organization and—himself. Well, I'm not telling. Anyway, the secretary is not a girl to stand any nonsense. When the picture ends you have a feeling that, in future, Mr. Carter will be tending strictly to business and liking it.

The story of light farce is pretty obvious, and Mr. Sherman has done better jobs of directing. He's permitted the action to drag in spots. But on the whole, "Bachelor Apartment" stacks up as slick entertainment, acted to the nines.

See you tomorrow.

Chicagoans Included in Honor List at the University of Illinois

Urbana, Ill., May 10.—[Special.]—Several hundred University of Illinois students, many of them from Chicago and suburbs, will be honored for superior scholarship at the seventh annual honors' day convocation Friday morning. Classes will be dismissed shortly before 10 o'clock. Those to be honored will march with members of the university senate to the auditorium. There the exercises will be held. Students receiving outstanding recognition will have their names placed on a bronze tablet.

President Harry Woodburn Chase will preside. Prof. Sveinbjorn will deliver the principal address. Miss Louisian Mamer of Urbana, Ill., and Miss Emily Johnson, Paxton, Ill., will unveil a bronze tablet, and Dean Herbert W. Mumford of the college of agriculture will read the names thereon. Miss Marjorie Finn, 6708 Newgard avenue, Chicago, president of Woman's league, and Robert Crathorne Jr., Urbana, president of Illinois union, will speak.

Crowds Visit Ailing Veterans of World War

New Children's Hospital to Be Dedicated.

Nearly 10,000 visitors attended a program yesterday at the Edward Hines Jr. Veterans' hospital in observance of National Hospital day, which will be observed in all Chicago hospitals tomorrow. Exercises were held two days early at the Hines hospital to accommodate Sunday visitors.

COL. HUGH SCOTT. [Harris and Ewing.]

The American Legion band, directed by Karl Beyer, opened the program, which was held in Recreation hall owing to the rain. Speakers included Col. Hugh Scott, manager of the hospital; Mrs. Edward Hines, one of the donors; Howard P. Savage, past national commander of the American Legion, and several other Legion officials. William M. Wilson, chairman of the Cook county hospital committee, arranged the program.

Guides escorted the visitors through the hospital at the close of the exercises. Most of them wore red geraniums, the flower displayed to commemorate Hospital day. These were distributed among the 1,275 veterans who are patients at the institution.

Dedication of Chicago's newest hospital for crippled children, the Nancy Adele McElwee Memorial, on the Midway, at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in the assembly room of the University of Chicago clinics will be one of the principal features of Hospital day in Chicago.

The new hospital for crippled children is a memorial to the daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth McElwee of Lake Forest and was made possible by Mrs. McElwee's $300,000 gift to the Home for Destitute Crippled Children, affiliated with the university. On behalf of Mrs. McElwee, the Rev. Herbert W. Prince, pastor of the Church of the Holy Spirit, Lake Forest, will present the structure, and Robert F. Carr, president of the board of the home, and President Robert M. Hutchins will make acceptance speeches.

Dr. Robert Bayley Osgood, a professor emeritus from Harvard university, will deliver the principal speech.

DANCES AND SONGS SIGNS OF SPRING IN DAY'S CONCERTS

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Much of yesterday afternoon's attractions were of and by young artists, and a liberal share of them pertained to the dance, whereby another sign of spring was in the air. The first visit was at the Civic theater, where the Chicago Civic Opera Ballet school presented a recital.

There was a ballet, "The Queen of Hearts," to music by Schubert and choreography by Laurent Novikoff, director of the school, narrating in an uncommonly pleasant manner the tale of the queen who made some tarts all on a summer's day. Several numbers from Tschaikowsky's "The Sleeping Beauty" followed, then a list of varied divertissements, and finally another ballet, Mendelssohn's "A Midsummer Night's Dream" music, again with Mr. Novikoffs' choreography.

Transferring to the other side of the loop, the Chicago Musical College Symphony orchestra played a program under the direction of Leon Sametini, of which Elgar's "Enigma" Variations became the leading number. The soloists were Ethel Bentkover and Marshall Sumner, pianists; Alexander Pevsner, violinist; Helen Morton, organist, and Marion White, soprano.

Another young artist was at the Studebaker, where in another dance program Andreas Pavley presented his pupil, Lenora Feiden. She would seem to possess rather extraordinary talent. Said to be fourteen years old, she is an excellent technician with a vivid and definite pictorial sense. Mr. Pavley appeared with her, but danced under difficulties, an injured tendon in his leg calling for bandaging and rebandaging in order to finish the program.

Of wholly adult programs there were two. E. Robert Schmitz gave a piano recital at the Playhouse of Scarlatti, Bach and Debussy, to which he added Franck's prelude, choral, and fugue, and Liszt's "Mephisto" waltz. He was heard in his Bach group, which he played gravely and learnedly, seeking rather for the correct placement of phrasing and sonority than any particularly new or undiscovered interpretation of Bach.

The Chicago String quartet finished its chamber music series at the Chicago Woman's Club theater, this time having the assistance of Walter H. Steindel, pianist, and Robert Dolejsi, violinist, in works by Debussy in the Felber arrangement and Turina. Two works for quartet alone were on the program, Debussy's Three Pieces and the Beethoven opus 131 which has come near to opening and closing the season of 1930-31. It was one of the works heard at Mrs. Coolidge's festival early last fall, and it has been played several times since. The Chicago String quartet played it as earnestly and effectively as the best of their chamber music brethren.

THE STAGE

"OH, PROMISE ME."

A farce by Howard Lindsay and Bertrand Robinson; given at the Apollo theater May 10, 1931, under the management of Ben Bernie and Gregory Ratoff.

THE CAST.

Flo Bowen	Eleanor Hicks
Elsie Carpenter	Sydney Shields
Connie Clark	Eleanore Bedford
Mark Reed	Matthew Crowley
Mr. Brown	Walter Hirsh

Marshall Durfee	Frank Sylvester
Judge Hawley	Joseph Helicky
Court Clerk	Jack Garrity Jr.

And others.

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

CHICAGO became a "producing center" again at the Apollo theater last night, under the auspices of the amiable Ben Bernie, master of night life ceremonies, and the irrepressible Gregory Ratoff, the comedian from Russia who is ambitious to follow in Balieff's footsteps. Although eager to foster local enterprise in the theatrical arts, I must confess that the directions of this premiere were strictly according to the history of Chicago's adventures into showmanship—somewhat lame.

Messrs. Bernie and Ratoff went down to New York in search of material and dragged batik a farce called "Oh, Promise Me," which should have been left on the junk heap where it was reclining when they bought the Chicago rights. It is a tasteless fabrication built around a breach of promise frameup, and it sounds as if it might have been invented by a couple of college sophomores after a reading course in the French farce writers of 1880. Its atmosphere is low; its characters are cheap; and its plot is an inferior sort of nightmare, superinduced by a reading of scandalous lawsuits in tabloid newspapers. Generally speaking, "Oh, Promise Me" is a case of a dramatic measles.

As junior impresarios, Messrs. Bernie and Ratoff may be forgiven for having broken out with this rash. The "Oh, Promise Me" type of play is extremely "catching" among the young who recklessly expose themselves to the current infections of Broadway. This experience, one hopes, will immunize them against other attacks, and thus be a blessing in disguise for their future theatrical operations in Chicago.

The cleaner phases of the story of "Oh, Promise Me" deal with the devotion of a little girl who works in an office to a rising young barrister in need of clients. She hears from the wretched inmates of the flat where she rooms that there are rich pickings for lawyers in the breach of promise racket; so she decides to prove her love by supplying her idol with a case. The satyr for whom she works is selected as her victim. You can imagine the rest, including the trial scene, which provides hokum for laughter in the play's last half hour.

"Oh, Promise Me" is well cast in its leading rôles. Eleanore Bedford makes a credible little creature out of the girl, and Matthew Crowley is effective as the lawyer who flirted with disbarment. Harlan Briggs, Sydney Shields, Edward H. Robins and Eleanor Hicks play the off-color characters with skill.

"Fine and Dandy," the blue ribbon musical show of the New York season, according to its length of run on Broadway, began an engagement at the Erlanger theater last night, with Joe Cook as its star. The performance will be reviewed tomorrow.

War Mothers Lay Flowers for Unknown

Visit World War Grave at Arlington.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 10. (AP)—The tomb of the unknown soldier was piled high and garlanded with flowers today by mothers whose sons died in the world war.

Two long lines of laurel, looped over their shoulders, these slow moving mothers carried, and they arranged them tenderly about the edges of the flat white stone.

Above the green bay, the white lilies and the red roses, a bugler sounded taps.

"Shrine more than a symbol to the heroic dead—a monument to mothers—it stands for all the sacrifice mothers make," Frank E. Herring, an early advocate of Mother's day, said of the tomb in a letter read to the gathering.

"I knew the unknown soldier well," Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, widow of a British officer, and herself a war time nurse and entertainer, told the outdoor crowd of mothers, soldiers and visitors.

She described "that composite youth of our land": A gay lad who sang in the recreation room in Plymouth, Eng., where she played the piano and Lady Astor presided; a lad of high heart, marching to the front under gray skies.

A somewhat sentimental lad who called for her to sing mother songs in the rest camp; a boy who came back wounded; a soldier who went singing back to battle.

Maj. Gen. John L. De Witt described the mothers' pilgrimage to the graves of their sons in France—3,653 went last year, 1,351 thus far this season.

"It is when one arrives at the cemetery with them one realizes the reality, the true spirit of the pilgrimage," he said. "It is a touching scene. Each mother's thought is centered on adoration of the one she loves. The beauty and peace of the cemeteries she sees. She gets the feeling the graves are, and always will be, in the country's protective care.

"As it was expressed by one mother who wrote to me after her return home: 'The journey was wonderful. My heart has known more peace than I ever thought it would. I am perfectly satisfied now.'"

To the high patriotism of the mothers of soldiers, Maj. Gen. Amos A. Fries paid tribute in an address accompanying the planting of four trees near Lincoln memorial honoring past presidents of the American war mothers' organization.

"They are a living rebuke," he added, "to those who would come and be citizens, and yet who say they would not fight to save the Union."

Mother's Day Founder Critical of Celebrations.

Quantico, Va., May 10.—(AP)—The founder of Mother's day deplored some of the ways in which she said it has been exploited.

Miss Anna Jarvis came from Philadelphia to mark the day with the marines stationed here.

"They sky a million dollars' worth of flowers are sold for this day," she said. "I never thought it would mean that, but even stranger than commercialization by tradesmen is that the public has allowed professional welfare workers to exploit its sentiment for motherhood in a manner of which I never dreamed. I am more than amazed; I am dismayed. I deplore particularly that committees of prominent men and women have commercialized this day in the name of needy mothers."

Five Church Groups Will Act Together to Educate Chinese

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Five independent and major religious bodies of the United States and Great Britain will be affiliated in the organization of an institution of higher learning for Chinese youth in central China, it was announced today.

The announcement was made by Dr. John W. Wood, secretary for foreign missions of the national council of the Episcopal church. The new institution will be known as Hua Chung [Central China] college and will be situated at Wuchang.

It will unite Boone college, maintained by the Episcopal church in the United States at Wuchang; Wesley college, maintained by the English Methodists at Hankow; Griffith John college, by the English Congregationalists, at Yochow; Lakeside college, by the Reformed church in the United States at Changsha, and Yale in China, maintained by the Yale Foreign Missionary society.

Hua Chung will have a Chinese president and a board of directors resident in China, of whom two-thirds will be Chinese. An additional board of trustees, responsible for the general administration of the institution and the holding of properties not already owned by the school, will be maintained in the United States.

Among the latter will be the following representatives of the Episcopal church: The Rev. Joseph M. Francis, bishop of Indianapolis; the Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, bishop of Virginia; the Rev. Anson Phelps Stokese, canon of Washington cathedral and formerly secretary of Yale university; Mrs. Harper Sibley, Rochester; William G. Peterkin, Parkersburg, W. Va.; John S. Archduke Leopold of Austria Seeks Pact to Marry Canadian VIENNA, May 10.—(AP)—Archduke Leopold, brother of Archduke Anton of Austria, fiancé of Princess Ileana of Rumania, hopes to marry a Canadian girl, Miss Alicia Gibson Coburn, at Paris within the next three months if the proper arrangements can be made with religious authorities. This was confirmed here today.

Miss Coburn is the daughter of a well known Canadian family.

The archduke, who is 24, has lived in New York for several years. He is not divorced but only separated from his first wife, Baroness Dagmar Nicolics-Podrinaska, and he cannot be remarried in the Catholic church without a special ruling from Rome, which it is believed it would not be possible to obtain.

The only alternative, it was said, would be a civil marriage after the archduke obtains a divorce, or his affiliation with another church.

Rich Harmony of Colors Mark These Paintings

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

IF you are keen about fine technique and mellowness in painting go to see the present exhibition of paintings by Anthony Thieme which has just opened in the Carson Pirie Scott galleries. Thieme is a young painter, coming originally from Holland, who has lived on this side of the Atlantic for fifteen years. He has not lost a characteristic love of old brick, wet seas and shipping that seems inherent in most Dutch painters. He handles sunlight as it is rarely done by people of other lands. Perhaps the low lying fields of Holland provide a different and irrisistible sun whose magic is difficult to escape once it has crept into the blood.

Whatever the cause of this gorgeous painting of sunshine, Thieme has the knack. "A Farm in Southern France" is startlingly beautiful and chiefly because of this same sun which lies like a coat of glory over the roof. The red blouse and cap on the peasant woman in the foreground are the secondary fascination of the picture. Sun shining on bricks is the rich foundation for the charm that hangs about "Mill at Storrs, Conn."

Not that Thieme needs sunlight in order to weave an unforgettable composition. One of the finest of these paintings is the "Rockport Fog," in which the world is lost in gray mist and only the immediate dock, fishermen in slickers, fishing boats and gulls are of consequence. Shore line, sky line, water line, there is none. Just the central theme and all about a web of mist—this painting is among those which must be accounted the features of a full season.

A piratical glamor, a glow of romance embraces "Yellow Boats," one of the most colorful and dramatic episodes the young artist has given us. "Morning" is a delightful quiet scene of boats and calm water. "Wharfside at Rockport" is rich in lovely grays. In fact, after his sunlight, Mr. Thieme may be congratulated on his unique method of treating gray; it is not with him a cold color, but something warm, rich, and alive. "Docked," "Gray Weather" and "Water Lilies" are still other pictures not to be missed. The exhibit will continue through May. Drawings by A. C. Webb in the further gallery add a note of architectural values to the paintings that makes of the two exhibits a pleasant entity.

Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt Nicoll will sail on the Ile de France on June 5.

Mrs. Alexander G. Barker, after passing several weeks in Europe, returned on the Berengaria.

Mrs. Willis Gemmill Mitchell gave a small supper party last night at her home for Miss Harriet Burket of Sarasota, Fla., who is a student at Vassar, and for her daughter, Miss Helen Annette Mitchell, now at home from Swarthmore college.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Douglas returned today on the Bremen.

Hobble Knee Line Skirt for Evening

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The Paris mode at first glance seems to be full of contradictions these days. Evening gowns are high necked and have sleeves; afternoon gowns are sleeveless and décolletté. Evening coats may be tailored like men's dinner jackets; afternoon wraps may be made so transparent by hand work that they afford little protection from the elements.

Skirts may cling so closely to the knees that they forcibly remind us of pre-war hobbles, or they flow freely into accordion sunray tucks and be nearly as wide as crinoline skirts.

The grande couturiers, however, know how to mix all these diverse sartorial ingredients into that chic which is unmistakably branded: Paris. So you may choose whatever style suits your life line and your waistline.

Sketched today is a new evening gown from Ardansa that makes up in sleeve width what it sacrifices in skirt circumference. It is made of border printed chiffon, the body of the gown being in the plain black background and the upper bodice, sleeve trimmings, and skirt flounces in the border, which is a delicate, lacy patterned print in black and gray lines on an ice white background.

The skirt follows the new hobbled knee line. The flounces are edged with picot scallops that outline the face pattern and give a charming feathery effect.

The bodice simulates a bolero in front, where it has a high boat shaped décolletté. In back the Greek drapery falls almost to the waistline.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

K. D.: COLD WATER SHOULD never be used on the skin directly after you have been exposed to the sun. Instead bathe with a solution of borax in warm water, pat the parts dry, and then massage with a good cold cream.

E. P.: TREATMENT IF A BIRTHmark should be given by a skin specialist. If it is indistinct it may be disguised by the use of stage paint. Use the shade that blends with your skin.

Best Not to Wear Dead White Unless It Really Flatters

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

I'm certainly not trying to knock any cleaning business, for I hear it has troubles enough of its own. Not am I trying to put a crimp in the run of popularity for white, which is being exploited pretty largely.

My interest is solely and purely from the decorative standpoint when I say that there are very, very few women over 25 who can take their white in the raw and look as well as if they'd chosen a dash of color. White is conceded to be a perfect summer color, granted you've the laundress or not too expensive cleaner. But already I've seen the mistake of taking a fashion note too seriously. By which I mean a fashion note should only be taken seriously if in return it promises to lend a note of flattery.

A particular person with a colorless complexion and negative hair, in fact, a generally negative type wearing a dead white hat, proved to have chosen just the one thing to make her hair look more uninteresting and her face ditto. I do think a large portion of the quality known as "freshness" must be present in eyes, hair, and skin to wear white well.

Every season, of course, some color is pronounced the popular one. Or, maybe it's two or three shades that are in the lead. But that means they are only to be adopted if becoming. The real reason I project this subject is that with the help of a becoming, flattering color a woman can just politely lop off a couple of years, so why keep them or add 'em on just because a fashion note reads something that is not for you?

I remember one of the most famous beauties I ever interviewed, an English actress, whose fair complexions and flawless skin were raved about from one end of the country to the other. She volunteered: "White is the most terrible thing to wear without color relief near the skin. I wouldn't dare take a chance." She went in for cream whites, oysters, whites with a wee bit pinkish cast in them—but not the raw, cold, uncompromising white such as certain hard millinery offerings present.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 10.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover returned to the White House from their fishing camp on the Rapidan. There they had a large group of friends yesterday morning for fishing and a night on the mountain. Their guests included the secretary of war and Mrs. Hurley, the assistant secretary of war and Mrs. Payne, Representative Will R. Wood of Indiana, Gen. Douglas MacArthur, chief of staff; Maj. Gen. George Van Horne Moseley, deputy chief of staff, and Mrs. Moseley; Maj. Gen. and Mrs. Lytle Brown, Maj. Gen. and Mrs. J. L. De Witt, Earl Ginsley, Republican national committeeman from Vermont; the President's secretaries, Lawrence Richey and Theodore J. Joslin, and Mrs. Joslin. Mrs. Hoover drove her own car and had several of the lady guests with her.

Vice President Curtis was entertained at dinner tonight by the Chilean ambassador and Senora de Davila. Mr. and Mrs. Gann also were in the company.

The secretary of the treasury has as his week-end guests his brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mellon, who will return to Pittsburgh tomorrow.

The secretary of the interior and Mrs. Wilbur are spending the week-end at New Haven.

The secretary of labor and Mrs. Doak have started for Texas, to be absent ten days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Faulkner of Chicago are at the Mayflower for the week-end.

Homely Wisdom Voices the New Psychology

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Don't you find yourself constantly discovering that the homely wisdom of an earlier generation and modern psychology are "sisters under their skin?"

James Whitcomb Riley's poems turned this up to me, the other day, in his:

THE HIRED MAN'S FAITH IN CHILDREN.

I believe all children's good,
Ef they're only understood;
Even bad ones 'pears to me
'S jes' as good as they kin be!
(The italics are Riley's, not mine.)

Doesn't that line up with what we believe and strive for today? To be sure the hired man does talk about "good" and "bad." But the last two lines "take the curse off" even those words—because in saying that "Even bad ones 'pears to me 'a jes' as good as they kin be," he really throws to the winds the thought of good and bad where children are concerned, though he uses the words.

Riley probably knew some hired man who had just that genius for understanding boys and girls. One can imagine what a joy and solace he must have been to the children of the hard working and perhaps stern farmer and his wife. What an oasis in this world such people are to childhood.

For those who have no patience with modern terminology where children are concerned, the homely words Riley puts in the mouth of the hired man may be more agreeable and seem more sensible than the technical language of child psychology. If they will choose to live by that simple philosophy the results will be as fine as one could desire.

THE CLICK OF THE GATE

By Alice Campbell

SYNOPSIS.

Clare, fifteen year old daughter of Iris de Bertincourt, disappears mysteriously. She and her mother lived in a remote section of Paris. Clare attended a school play one evening and was brought home by friends. Her mother heard the car stop in front of the house until Clare's friends bidding her good night, but when she opened the door Clare was gone.

Iris has been separated for years from her husband, Marcel de Bertincourt, a man of fine character, but no moral sense. They are cousins and the possible heirs of their Aunt Louise, the Comtesse de Castelmaurou, who has ruled Iris' life until recently, when Iris found employment with Helen Roderick, an American woman.

Iris planned to divorce her husband and marry Maj. Alan Charnwood. Charnwood was about to depart on an eight months' trip to Africa when Clare disappeared, and he postponed his trip to help Iris.

When the countess learns of her niece's disappearance she insists that Iris come to her home to stay until Clare is found. Iris learns when she arrives at her aunt's that Marcel is already domiciled there. He seems to have changed in character, and has taken charge of the search for Clare. He has been seeing Clare, unknown to her mother, for some time past, and knows more about the child's life and her friends than Iris.

Alan calls on Helen Roderick and learns that she and Marcel are friends, unknown to Iris. When Alan calls on Iris the comtesse refuses to allow him to see her. As he leaves the house a servant approaches him and directs him to enter a door to his left.

INSTALLMENT XIX.

A SECRET MEETING.

With the sensation of having stepped back at least a couple of centuries, Charnwood walked toward the double doors on the left of the rotunda and opened them cautiously.

As he did so he felt a slight uneasiness as to what he might find on the other side, but the empty gallery reassured him.

Here it was almost dark, only a pair of candles flickering against the tapestry covered walls, but at once a slight movement caught his eye and he made out a rigid black figure, stiffly upright, watching the doorway with fixed gaze.

"Iris! It's you?" he exclaimed eagerly.

"Sh! Not so loud!" she whispered, moving toward him.

His arms closed about her hungrily as though never again could he let her go. She remained motionless in his embrace, incapable of returning it. A faint shudder passed over her from head to foot.

"My dear, my dear!" All his love and sympathy surged up in a great wave. "Why all this abominable secrecy? How is it I have heard nothing from you? I had begun to think all kinds of dreadful things!"

Her lips stirred inaudibly against his shoulder. Not till he had released her, still retaining her cold hands, could he hear what she was saying.

"You shouldn't do that. Everything is so difficult for me here. You know, of course, that we've had no news."

He gave a quick nod.

"But do you realize I've done nothing but try to get in touch with you all yesterday and today? It looks like a conspiracy to keep me away. If you didn't send me that message just now——"

She shook her head wearily as though explanations were useless.

"Impossible—it can't. Why, she's bound to turn up."

"I knew. It was only by chance I caught sight of you from the upper gallery. You've seen my aunt?"

"I've been here! She made it quite plain I'm not to be admitted a second time. But why? She can't put a ban on me like that! You must make a stand. Did you know I was here before, that I've rung up any number of times?"

"No," she replied, but he could see the matter was unimportant to her. "I've had no opportunity of communicating with you. When do you have food?"

"I'm waiting for an answer to the telegram I sent yesterday. If it's possible I shall stay on as long as it lets me." Then, still chafing with accumulated resentment, he went on forcibly: "Don't you think it was a mistake to come here? It seems to me you might have gone to Helen Roderick's."

Again she shook her head.

"How can I make you understand?" she asked despairingly. "I must be with her. You see, it looks as if all this search might cost a good deal of money more than I could possibly manage. One doesn't know, of course. Helen Roderick is prepared to do everything in her power to help me. She is an extraordinarily kind! That being the case, I have no choice but to accept her wishes."

"Oh, when it comes to cutting you off from your friends!"

"Then we must meet at Helen's flat. It's the only way."

"All the same it's undignified," he fumed. "What reason can she have for suspecting me with suspicion?"

"I've told you." She appeared to be forcing herself to cope with a problem that in itself interesting. "Yesterday morning she caught sight of our two coats before Mathilde had cleared away, so she knew at once I had not been alone. Now that she's seen you, she's put two and two together. It's quite enough." Then, as he remained stubbornly convinced, she added, "I feared you she would make trouble."

It was futile to argue. He accepted her statement as philosophically as he could and listened while, half apologetically, she described her wanderings of the last two days.

"But you can't hope to find Clare in this way!" he scolded her gently. "All you're doing is to wear yourself out."

"If I stayed quiet I should go mad."

He had no answer ready for this. All he could do was to press her to sit down on a sofa beside him. She obeyed without life or interest, neither making nor leaning against his supporting arm. Her blue eyes stared at the tapestry opposite as though in its dim figures she could see some terrifying vision hidden from him. She had grown noticeably thinner; there were shadows in her face which cut him to the heart.

"Do you believe," she whispered presently, "I want you to tell me the truth, mind—do you believe Clare is dead?"

"Good God, no!" he denied energetically. "Why torture yourself? I know no more than she is." Yet he felt that his assurance carried little weight.

"I'm not knowing," she murmured, dry voiced. "I think any knowledge would be easier to bear. And it may go on and on."

He clasped her hand firmly.

"Impossible—it can't. Why, she's bound to turn up. Tonight, now, any moment the telephone may ring——"

"If I could only think so! Helen has an idea——" She hesitated. "But you've not told you?"

"You mean that Clare may have run away?"

"No, but O, Alan, she couldn't have done it! She's impetuous, impressionable, but even if she had secrets from me she couldn't bring herself to be cruel. If she could she wouldn't be Clare."

"But supposing it were true, only for the sake of argument, she wouldn't be the first young girl to follow a mad impulse without coming to serious harm. She would deplore it, of course, but we must try to take a broad view."

"We've all this time without a word! It would mean she didn't care how we suffered."

"For God's sake don't try to account for anything. Just be patient. It will be all right."

Again the whole subject was so ringed in by quicksands that he tried to change the very discussion of it. Hopeless, of course; she could not be turned from it.

"Helen is not the only one. Other people as well . . . Marcel for one."

"Your husband?" he demanded. "You've seen him, then?"

"There's something I must tell you about. He's living here; has been for months. If I'd guessed—but there, even so, how could I have acted differently? You see how I'm placed."

The truth struck him like a cold shower. His practical mind foresaw complications. What about the divorce? However, it was no time to add to her misery by mentioning his disagreeable doubts.

"Quite damnable. Your aunt's fault, obviously, but it can't be helped. Forget it."

At the same time he could not dismiss the idea that the comtesse had taken a deliberate advantage of Iris' plight to bring her into forced contact with her husband. He was forming a shrewd estimate of the old woman whose domineering character stirred him to violent hatred.

"Let's get on to other things," she went on with an effort. "Marcel has been following Clare every Tuesday for weeks, months past. Just what I have always feared. He is determined to prevent! But now . . . O, was I wrong after all? Perhaps I misunderstood . . . he speaks of her with such affection, such sympathy, such understood her as he does. He's changed, so changed. I have never seen him serious like this. Almost I could feel that I exceeded my rights in being punished for it."

"That is nonsense. You were acting for the best."

"I thought so, certainly, but it may be I made an error of judgment. He is so generous, so considerate. I begin to suspect that I have been unjust."

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Reserve Assistance.

Husband is a truck driver who has not work all winter. We owe back rent bill and are worried about eviction because we are having a baby in June. I have no clothes ready and cannot buy any. I need clothing for myself, too. Do you think you can get these for me? I wear size 48 and shoes size 7½. My husband wears size 40 and shoes size 7. MRS. B."

Bringing another soul into the world to share her suffering and poverty is the thought that is foremost in Mrs B.'s mind these days. Will you relieve her of some of this worry by helping to provide a layette for the baby she is expecting?

Society to See Franco-Yankee Golden Gloves

BY THALIA ——

FASHIONABLE fight fans who have managed to get tickets for the Golden Gloves international fisticuffs tomorrow night at Soldiers' field—or at the Stadium if it rains—are all pleased about it. "Why, we have ringside seats!" exclaimed one prominent matron in a tone of high glee.

A fractional list of the smart contingent in the audience tomorrow night includes the Frederic McLaughlins, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Dulany Jr., Vincent Bendix, the "Monty" Steins, the Sidney and the Harold Stretzes, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wheelock, Mr. and Mrs. Burt A. Massee, the Gustavus F. Swifts, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Taylor, James Norris, and Sheldon Clark. Col. and Mrs. R. R. McCormick are to entertain Mr. and Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow Jr., Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell Blair, Mrs. Robert Caldwell, and Capt. M. Corpenning at dinner, afterwards taking the party on to see the exciting contest between the American and French lads. There will be numerous other dinner parties, many of them Dutch treat affairs.

More Information About Banquet for Japanese.

It's certainly going to be a gay week. Latest information on the banquet to be given for Prince and Princess Takamatsu at the Palmer house tomorrow night is that the Japanese women attending will wear their native garb and that table reservations have been made by Mrs. Walter Wolf, Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick, Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. Parmalee McFadden, Mrs. Chauncey Borland, Henry Field, and Mrs. George T. Langhorne. The Chauncey McCormicks are to have as their guests Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dill Scott, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Erminger Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Meeker. The Charles Hamills, Augustus S. Peabody, Mrs. John Alden Spoor, Miss Jane Addams, and Mrs. James W. Morrisson are to be guests of Miss Marie Rozet.

Miss Eleanor McNally, daughter of the Andrew McNallys of Evanston, who's been traveling and studying all winter in Europe, sailed on Friday from Plymouth. Her father has gone east and will meet her when she arrives in New York on Saturday. The McNallys, with their daughter and son, Andrew III., will leave in June to spend the summer at their Thousand Island estate. Miss Eleanor is to make her début in the fall.

Dorothy Cardwell Engaged to Kenneth K. Knickerbocker.

Mr. and Mrs. James R. Cardwell of 1540 Lake Shore drive and Barrington announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy, to Kenneth K. Knickerbocker. Miss Cardwell attended the Francis Parker school and is finishing at Pine Manor, Wellesley, Mass., this June. Mr. Knickerbocker is a graduate of Harvard and is connected with the Boeing Air transport at Cheyenne, Wyo. He is a nephew of Charles Knickerbocker of Chicago. No date has been set for the wedding, but it will probably take place at Oak Knolls, the Cardwell place in Barrington, toward the end of the summer.

The Arts club and the Chicago Architectural Exhibition league have sent out invitations for the annual exhibit of the league on Friday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock.

Walter Byron Smith Will Open Lake Forest Home.

Miscellany—Mr. Walter Byron Smith opened his Lake Forest place on Lake road last Friday. . . the Harry B. Clows have moved out to their summer place, and so have the Stanley Fields to theirs. . . Mrs. Ross J. Beatty and Miss Veronese have returned from a cruise of the West Indies and their winter residence in Palm Beach—they have given up their apartment at 1120 Lake Shore drive and opened Halcyon Hall in Highland Park. . . . Mrs. Frank B. Mulford of 222 East Delaware place is spending a month in Charlottesville, Va., with her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Mott, formerly of Highland Park . . . the model yacht regatta sponsored by the Lake Forest Young Men's club is to be on June 6 at Great Lakes.

Relayed from Lake Geneva—the country club was opened for the season a week ago, mostly for members of the lake colony who go up for week-ends and wish to have a round of golf before the season really opens. . . . Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Finney announce the birth of a son on May 1, and he's to be named Samuel Wheeler Finney after Mrs. Finney's father, a pioneer Lake Genevan—the Finney family is to move into The Knoll on Memorial day . . . Aloha Lodge, the Tracy C. Drake place, is being put in readiness for the family to arrive on the 18th, earlier than usual, because the Carlos Drakes and their youngsters, Betsey, Keith, and Carlos Jr., are to be there, and they like getting the children into the country as early as possible. . . Mrs. Frank Rehm and Mrs. Armin Brand will not open their joint place this summer.

British Hospital, Started in 1133, Now Needs More Funds

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 10.—The Royal hospital of St. Bartholomew, founded in 1133 by a penitent courtier turned monk, given a special place in the realm by all English kings ever since and distinguished throughout its long history as a medical center of the world, is in grave need of funds.

St. Bartholomew's is maintained by charity. As "Barts" it has been for nearly 800 years the scene of medical discoveries so profound that without them the world might have yet to learn as Harvey did that blood circulates through the body, surgery still might lack anesthetics.

Barts is the beginning of all hospital systems in the English speaking world. It still is a center of study and research. Its brood of hospitals still sends students there for training. Its American associations are innumerable.

One of Barts' earliest links with the United States, then a colony, was established by Benjamin Franklin when he visited London in 1725 as a youth of nineteen. He "immediately got employed," as he says in his autobiography, "at Palmers, at that time a noted printer," whose shop was inside the priory and whose work was closely associated with the hospital.

Today there are many American medical students at Barts, and in 1921 a series of exchange professorships was started. A Barts surgeon took charge of the surgical work at the Peter Bent Brigham hospital in Boston, and on the following year Prof. Harvey Cushing from that hospital held a similar place at Barts.

Assistants later were sent to Boston and to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor. Four younger members of Barts' staff later went to Ann Arbor on successive years to study under Prof. Hugh Cabot, who later took charge of a surgical unit here and became like Prof. Cushing an honorary perpetual student at the hospital.

Exchange research work has also been carried on in children's diseases with Johns Hopkins university.

Within the last few years Barts has been reconstructed, but many of the new units are unpaid for. About £5,000,000 is needed to clear up the debts for loans with which the hospital freed itself from housing conditions, but little improved over those left by the monk, Rahere, who founded it.

In Italy Fabricus discovered valves in the veins in 1543, and this laid the way for the founding of modern medicine. William Harvey, born in 1578, was for 34 years chief physician at Barts. His discovery and scientific demonstration of blood circulation revolutionized all previous medical theories.

He was followed by John Hunter, father of modern surgery and originator of skin grafting. A contemporary, Edward Jenner, investigated a tradition that dairymaids were immune from small-pox and as a result of his experiments with vaccines innoculation was born.

In the nineteenth century Sir Humphry Davy produced laughing gas as an anesthetic, and his investigations along with Sir James Simpson's experiments upon himself in the use of chloroform were made known simultaneously with the first use of ether in the United States.

Clean surgery came at the same time when Lord Joseph Lister advanced the antiseptic principle, working on the discoveries of Louis Pasteur. Sir Almoth Wright made his contribution of vaccine therapy in 1896 while at Barts, basing his work on the discoveries of Pasteur and others.

ENGAGEMENT

Cedar Rapids, Ia., May 10.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Van Vechten Shaffer of this city, yesterday announced the engagement of Mr. Shaffer's sister, Miss Elizabeth Van Vechten Shaffer of New York, to James Porterfield Hull Jr., also of New York. The bride-elect is a neice of Carl Van Vechten, the novelist. The wedding will take place in the Little Church Around the Corner on next Tuesday.

Food Talk.

Mrs. L. K.'s request is typical of a number that we have received recently. She writes: "Will you please supply us with menus that a business woman can prepare, ones that do not require much labor or time. For the last few months my meals have been prepared almost entirely from canned foods. There must be some fresh foods that can be prepared rather quickly if we only knew about them."

I know of no quicker meals than those prepared from canned foods. The one food that is an exception is the salad. The woman who works at average speed can prepare a lettuce or cucumber salad as quickly as she can open a can and drain the food to be used in the salad. The preparation of lettuce is necessary, anyway. But quick meals can also be prepared from fresh foods.

There is quite a variety of meats that may be cooked quickly. Of course it will be necessary to confine oneself to cuts that may be broiled, sautéd, or fried. Only chops, steaks, filets, and ground meat patties may be cooked by these methods successfully. Almost any fish will cook as quickly as the tender cuts of meats. Fish may be broiled, fried, or sautéd. About twenty minutes should be allowed for broiling of meats and fish. One thing to remember is to light the broiling oven as soon as you go into the kitchen. For meat, the broiler will not need to be greased; for fish it will need to be.

A tender young chicken may also be fried in twenty minutes. The preparation for cooking should not consume more than a minute or two provided your butcher does the dressing, drawing, and cutting carefully.

A fireless cooker is most useful in the kitchen of the busy business woman. The less expensive cuts, which are the finest flavored of all meats, may be put on to cook in the morning before going to work. In the evening the meat will be tender and hot enough to be put directly on to the table. The fireless cooker is good for roasts, pot roasts, braised meats, dried beans, lentils, and all sorts of dried fruits. A pressure cooker is also valuable for such cooks. A roasting or boiling chicken and the tougher cuts of meats may be cooked nice and tender in half an hour.

Of the vegetables, there are so many at this time of the year that can be prepared in a jiffy. Cabbage, cauliflower, spinach, sliced onions, celery, cucumbers, tomatoes, and mushrooms may be cooked to the queen's taste in 8 or 10 minutes. And, except spinach, all are easily prepared. However, in the morning while breakfast is cooking or is being cleared away, a few minutes may be taken out for washing spinach. A dishwashing spray is a big help in cleaning. Then if spinach is put in lukewarm water it may be washed more comfortably, more quickly, and more thoroughly. The last rinse water which it is put through should be cold. Then the spinach should be drained, put into the cooking kettle, and put in the refrigerator all ready to put on the stove at night.

Potatoes always require from 15 to 20 minutes, but their cooking can be hurried up by splitting the large ones into pieces of equal size, which will all cook in the same length of time. Asparagus takes longer than most vegetables, but it is well worth a little extra effort. It also can be prepared in the morning. If the hard ends of the stalks are peeled and are put on to cook first and the tips are put on about 15 minutes later, the whole stalk will be equally tender and delicious.

Menus for a week—all for quick meals—will be sent upon request and receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Popularity with One Sex Can Make Disfavor with Other

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I am 20 and considered good looking. I have a few friends, but I seem to get along better with fellows than I do with girls. What do you think is the matter with me?"—ANGELA.

I suppose the reason the boys find you better company than the girls is because of your consciousness of being good looking. Boys don't mind the little vanities of the girl who knows she is quite decorative, but the very consciousness of knowing one's pictorial value kinda irritates the members of one's own sex.

I don't know that this stand is fair, after all. A girl who is extremely good looking must know it. She must be told it often enough by boys. And along with her mirror's daily repetition of the fact—well, why shouldn't she know it?

But if one is anxious to please girls, perhaps the best system is to look for the charms in others and not be afraid to speak your piece in another girl's beauty favor. Don't withhold any of the compliments that are pleasing to your own ears when your girl acquaintances are looking well.

Go a little further than the looks and extend the cheering and the flattering word to girl friends on what they're doing, on the talents they have on anything about them worthy of praise.

It's nice to have friends among one's sex. Girls' little vanities have to be catered to to find favor in their eyes, just as favor in boys' eyes is so won. Best, too, not to think or talk too much about self when you're with the girls. And any time you can do a nice girl a favor, do it generously. In your case, no doubt, you could introduce girls to some of the boys you know. The girls would certainly like you for that.

No girl can afford to be marooned completely from girl associates because in the way social affairs are conducted you can't escape contact with other girls at dances, parties, and so on. And if a boy sees that you're a popular person with girls as well as with his own sex, it's just one more score in your favor.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Friends Dislike His Girl.

"Dear Miss Blake: My friends think very little of the girl I like and advise me to break. IN DOUBT."

Weigh the facts well—then make your decision.

Bright Sayings of the Children

While visiting some dear friends, whom we had not seen for almost a year, Lorraine, 4 years old, aised Marilyn, 4½ years, up very closely. After a silence she broke out with:

"Your face looks different than last year. You washed it! M. J.

Mother, poking about in the shrubs, suddenly called out:

"Look, Junior! Here's a little green snake!"

"You better look out," cautioned Junior, "it may be just as dangerous as a ripe one." F. L. B.

Jean, age 3½, was being rather severely reprimanded by her mother for running out into the street. She listened in silence, and when her mother had finished, said solemnly: "Mother, isn't it a good thing that I'se not cwoss [cross] with you?"

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—Freddie Fitzsimmons, our rotund and personable neighbor from Mishawaka, Ind., today was the main man in the second successive trimming accorded the Cubs in this large, cruel city. The score was, New York, 5; Cubs, 0, the first shutout the Cubs have suffered this year either in the exhibition series or in the National league.

FRED FITZSIMMONS

Mr. Fitzsimmons knocked in four of the five Giant runs when he smacked a homer off Pat Malone with the bases full in the second inning. And this pleased him so much that he continued to pitch one of the best games of his career to make his record five straight wins for the year.

Cubs Get Four Hits.

Freddie allowed the Cubs four hits, a triple by Cuyler with two out in the first inning, a double by Moore to start the fifth, and singles by Blair and Cuyler in the ninth. He passed none, hit no batsmen and there were no errors behind him. Not a fielder had to show any considerable skill to handle any of the Cub putouts.

The Cubs attempted to make a showing today without the active assistance of Manager Hornsby. Rog awakened this morning to find himself beset with a sore muscle in his groin. Blair was shifted to second and Grimm went back to first base. While shifting his battle front, Hornsby sent Moore to left field and announced a new strategy which he plans to employ with the facing of right or left handed pitchers.

Before the game, when it was thought possible Mr. Mitchell, the left hander, would start, Rog had planned to use Jurges at second and Sap Stephenson in left. The nature of Hornsby's trouble was such that his physician was unable to say just when he'll be able to return to the lineup, though it is thought he'll not be out more than a day or so.

Cubs Drop to Fourth.

The licking today dropped the Cubs to fourth place. It was the seventh blistering they have taken this year in eight games against first division competition. By pounding out four hits this afternoon the Cubs raised their total for the two games to eight, and puny batting averages, of course, did another tailspin.

Here's a table that will give you

Derby Is Six Days Away, but Field of 13 Is Ready Right Now

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Louisville, Ky., May 10.—A field of thirteen—the best and yet the smallest in nearly a dozen years—will shoulder arms and go into battle in the 57th renewal of the Kentucky Derby to be run at Churchill Downs here on Saturday afternoon.

The makeup of the Derby field became quite certain today when it was learned that six easterners which will strive for the prize in the mile and a quarter battle were en route to the Derby scene and are scheduled to arrive from Baltimore about 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Seven Westerners to Run.

The other seven, which an old wag out at Churchill Downs remarked at daybreak this morning should "All be put in the field," hail from the west and have been going through their Derby training paces here since late last winter.

Thus, the royal dozen which will line up in the Bahr gate and face the starter for a race that will be witnessed by 75,000 people and which will have the entire country awaiting the result, will be about as follows;

HORSE.	OWNER.	JOCKEY.
Mate	A. C. Bostwick	G. Ellis
Twenty Grand	H. H. Whitney	C. Kurtsinger
Surf Board	H. H. Whitney	L. McAtee
Equipoise	C. V. Whitney	R. Workman
Morstone	Ben Block	F. Catrone
Anchors Aweigh	H. H. Whitney	H. S. Riley
Boys Howdy	H. C. Hatch	G. Riley
Clock Tower	M. L. Schwartz	P. Walls
Sweep All	Charles Fisher	E. Pool
Pittsburgher	Theo. Mueller	C. Corbett
Spanish Play	Richard Morris	C. Landolt
Insco	G. Watkins	S. O'Donnell
Prince D'Amour	Joseph Leiter	E. James.

Not in many years has it been so easy to pick the probable Derby field a week in advance. There may be two, three, or four additions before Derby day rolls around. But as far as the outcome of the race is concerned, it seems the extra starters might stay in their barns and nibble away at nice, juicy hay and oats. For they're going to be very uncomfortable on the Churchill Downs racing strip chasing home a lot of horses that really know how to win.

Who'll Be Favorite?

Who will be the favorite?

Everywhere at Churchill Downs today you could hear that question.

And Kentuckians were fairly confident the public choice will not be Mate, the son of Prince Pal, which so impressively captured the Preakness stakes at Pimlico on Saturday.

The Kentuckians were studying the dope and listening to reports which drifted in from Pimlico about what happened in the running of the Preakness.

The dope they read on the Preakness most carefully came from the form charts and told them "Twenty Grand, badly bumped and knocked off his stride at the first turn, recovered gamely, went up on the inside again, was then blocked by his stablemate, Surf Board, at the head of the stretch, and, responding gamely under punishment, was wearing down the winner."

The shrewd old Kentuckians glanced on down into the dope and read where "Equipoise swerved out at the start and Jockey Workman was forced to straighten him out, then went in a jam in the first turn, fell

Twenty Grand Is Choice Over Mate in Kentucky Derby

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Although A. C. Bostwick's Mate defeated Twenty Grand and five other crack 3 year olds in the Preakness at Pimlico, Twenty Grand, ace of Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable, still rules the favorite to win the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs next Saturday.

Following upon Mate's brilliant victory in the Pimlico stake Tom Shaw, eastern bookmaker, immediately cut the odds on him from 7 to 1 to 7 to 2, but he also lowered the quotations on Twenty Grand to 5 to 2. C. V. Whitney's Equipoise, the big disappointment in the Preakness, today was the third choice of the future books at 4 to 1.

Benjamin Block's Morstone, the "dark horse" of the Derby, is being quoted at 12 to 1. Before he won his first race at Jamaica, Morstone was quoted at 200 to 1. Charles T. Fisher's Sweep All shares the position of favorite among western eligibles, with Spanish Play, winner of the Louisiana Derby. Shaw is quoting 20 to 1 on each. T. E. Muller's Pittsburgher and Griffin Watkins' Insco are held at 25 to 1, while H. C. Hatch's Boys Howdy is at 30 to 1.

Walter Salmon's Ladder finished third in the Preakness, and as a result his odds have been cut to 30 to 1. The same odds are offered on the Greentree Stable's Surf Board. Anchors Aweigh, third of the Greentree stable's trio of stars, is at 25 to 1.

Downpour Forces Sox and Yanks to Keep Gates Closed

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

There were a lot of people craving a glimpse of the White Sox, Joe McCarthy, Babe Ruth, and the other Yankees yesterday, but the pleasure was denied them. Thousands were clustered around the Comiskey park entrances and other thousands who had purchased seats in advance still were to be heard from, but nobody got through the gates. A deluge struck at 2 o'clock and Business Manager Harry Grabiner immediately decided there was no use trying to buck the luck which has dogged the Sox in their 15 days at home this season.

During those 15 days, there have been four postponements, two with the Yanks, and of the eleven other afternoons there was only one of moderate temperature. What this has cost in receipts is enough to cause a headache among the owners. The Yanks' series, for instance, was modestly estimated to reach 80,000 customers for four games. Three days of the series have already elapsed and the attendance has been 15,000 for the game Saturday.

Caraway Ready to Hurl.

If the final of the Yank series is possible this afternoon, Manager Bush will go through with yesterday's pitching scheme, which involved Pat Caraway, the only consistent winner, to date, of the Pale Hose staff. If Pat should southpaw himself into such difficulties that relief is necessary, it will come from none other than Ted Lyons, the costly cripple. Ted thinks his arm has worked off whatever it is that was wrong and he wants to test it in a few innings of rescue labor before making his first start of the season.

Another thing on Bush's program for this afternoon, or whenever the next game is staged, is the return to the lineup and batting order that prevailed before the epidemic of errors and ailments struck a week ago. Among those back in action will be Willie Kamm, who has been out with a twisted ankle, and Luke Appling, the budding shortstop. Appling was given a rest to permit him to shake himself out of the fielding slump in which he made six errors in three successive days.

Blue to Lead Off Again.

Blue is going back to the top of the batting order and Simons back to the second. The third position, as usual, will be occupied by Reynolds, and the cleanup berth which normally is the property of the ailing Jolley, will be filled by Fothergill. Cissell, Appling, Kamm and Tate will follow in the order named. Dr. Philip Kreuscher, who has had charge of Jolley's case of boils, will decide today just when it will be safe to permit the big fellow to work as a regular.

It was Manager McCarthy's intention to pitch George Pipgras yesterday and the same choice may be made this afternoon, although the Yankee leader wasn't sure about it last night.

DEVISE PLANS TO SPEED TRAFFIC AT FRENCH BOUTS

Police and Transportation Officials Co-operate.

Open Ticket Booths

TWO booths at which boxing fans may purchase general admission tickets for the bouts between American and French champions at Soldiers' field tomorrow night will be opened on Michigan avenue today. One will be at 11th street and the other at Van Buren street.

Traffic plans for the international Golden Gloves bouts between America and France at Soldiers' field tomorrow night were announced yesterday by Capt. T. J. Howard of the south park police. With all other preparations for the program completed, the problem of expediting the entrance and exit of thousands of spectators to and from the lake front stadium was settled at a conference of officials of the motor coach and cab companies, the rapid transit and surface lines, and traffic heads of the city and south park police.

The Golden Gloves traffic question will be handled much the same as in the past at football games at Soldiers' field. If the weather man can bring about a clear sky and warm weather for the international bouts, and if you are among the thousands who plan to see France's champions battle America's Golden Gloves representatives, the following details of the traffic schedule will enable you to reach your seat speedily and make for convenience in getting you home:

Motor Coaches to Stadium.

Motor coaches will enter Grant park by way of 7th street and proceed to the south end of Soldiers' field to discharge passengers. At the conclusion of the program, the coaches will be parked in the court of honor between the Field museum and the north end of Soldiers' field, taking on passengers at the southern curb.

The Rapid Transit lines will unload stadium bound passengers at Roosevelt road and the Surface lines at Roosevelt road and 11th street.

If you take the Rapid Transit or Surface lines or walk from the loop district, come across the 11th street bridge, which will be reserved exclusively for pedestrians.

Taxicabs coming from the north will drive along the west side of Soldiers' field to the south end to unload, and those coming from the south will unload on the east side. However, taxis will try to unload at the most convenient entrances for their passengers. Cab drivers have been instructed to hug the inner curb. After the fights a number of cabs will be stationed in the court of honor at the north end of the stadium, another line on the west side and two or three lines at 16th street.

Parking Near Arena.

Motorists may park their cars in the special area south of Soldiers' field. All private cars are asked to keep in the outer line of traffic. Traffic will not be allowed to enter the 23d, Monroe, Jackson, Van Buren, Harrison and 7th street bridges at the break of the show.

Special booths for the sale of general admission tickets at 50c each will be located on Michigan avenue at 11th street and at Van Buren street.

Two hundred south park policemen will be detailed to the bouts, with 250 city policemen, 125 inside the stadium and 125 outside. Capt. O'Connell and Lieut. Flynn will be in charge of the city police.

Three hundred ushers under the direction of Andy Frain will direct ticket holders to their seats when they enter the stadium.

NEW DUDS—SINGING IN THE RAIN

French amateur boxing champions who meet America's Golden Gloves champions at Soldiers' field tomorrow night start on sightseeing trip. They saw plenty of rain but that did not prevent an enjoyable tour of the city.

Golden Gloves Officials Guests of Tribune Today

The judges and referees who will decide the results of the international bouts tomorrow night at Soldiers' field between France and the United States will be guests of THE TRIBUNE at luncheon at 12 o'clock today at the Medinah Athletic club.

These men will confer with Dr. Charles Sebenq, vice president of the French Boxing federation; Avery Brundage, president of the National Amateur Athletic union, and Gen. John V. Clinnin, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission on the interpretation of rules.

International boxing rules will determine the bouts with a few exceptions already agreed upon.

Gabby Street Catches as Cards Win Exhibition

Camden, N. J., May 10.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals defeated Lew Schaub's ball team, 13 to 0, in an exhibition game here today. Manager Gabby Street, old time catcher, donned the mask for one inning and showed how he used to perform when he was Walter Johnson's battery mate.

Prof. Cuny Pronounces His Boxers Ready for Battle

BY HEROL EGAN.

"I never saw a French boxing team in better condition," said M. Fernand Cuny, coach of the French boxing team, yesterday on announcing that all training was finished.

"We will have no alibis to offer if we should happen to lose on Tuesday night. The boys have worked hard, both on the boat coming across and after landing. They have kept strict training rules, too, so now we are ready to meet the Americans with our powder dry."

The French coach, who bears a striking resemblance to a pirate when he has his black beret pulled down over one eye at a rakish angle, was unofficially invited to drift over to the Illinois Athletic club to take a look at the American boxers. M. Cuny proved that he is not a pirate at heart by refusing.

Seen None Since Olympics.

"I think that would be violating the spirit of amateurism," he said. "I have never seen any of the American amateurs box since the last Olympic games, and I don't expect to see any of them box until next Tuesday night at Soldiers' field."

Asked his opinion as to the chances of the French team to win, he replied, with an expressive shrug of the shoulders:

"Mon dieu, how can I tell when I have no means of comparison? If it was against an European team, yes, for we have fought in Germany and Belgium this year. But the Golden Gloves team is to us a totally unknown quantity."

Yesterday afternoon the visitors were taken for an automobile tour of the city—or rather one section of it. The trip was marred by a steady downpour of rain, but they seemed to enjoy it just the same, and the soft beauty of the numerous Chicago parks made a deep impression, as did the statues to Pasteur, the great sci-

GET GOLDEN GLOVES TICKETS NOW!

The champions of America against the champions of France! Sixteen amateur champions on one card! Every boxing fan will want to see the bouts at Soldiers' field tomorrow evening.

Fifty thousand seats, all of them offering an excellent view of the fights, are available at Tribune Public Service Offices and at two conveniently located booths on Michigan avenue—one at 11th street, the other at Van Buren street. The price is 50 cents.

You can avoid congestion at the gates by obtaining your ticket in advance. Fans will be admitted to Soldiers' field at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Those who arrive early will get the choice seats. You will have a better chance of getting the location you want if you don't have to stop to purchase a ticket at the field.

The Public Service Offices are located at 1 South Dearborn street, 1101 East 63d street, and 4152 West Madison street. The south and west side offices are open from 9 a. m. to 10 p. m.

Who will win? Buy your ticket today, then come to Soldiers' field tomorrow and watch the battles.

CHAMPIONS OF TWO COUNTRIES BOX TOMORROW

Prepare for Record Crowd.

French on W-G-N

THE eight French boxing champions who tomorrow night will try to whip the Golden Glove champions of America will greet the fans of Chicago over W-G-N at 5:30 o'clock this afternoon. Arch Ward, sports editor of The Tribune, will introduce Dr. Charles Sebenq, vice president of the French Boxing association and delegate to the international bouts. Dr. Sebenq will speak in English. After his remarks the microphone will be turned over to Alexandre Elyas, captain of the team, who will ask each of his mates to say hello to America.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Eight Golden Gloves fighters, intercity champions, who tomorrow night will defend the prestige of American boxing in the international bouts with the champions of France at Soldiers' field, yesterday completed preparations. Today these American boys will confine their training to a brief workout on the road in the morning and light calisthenics in the gymnasium of the Illinois Athletic club in the afternoon.

The champions of France, too, are ready for battle. Weeks ago, when they were competing in the national tournament in Paris, these boys set Chicago as their goal. They were fighting, not only for national honors but to earn the right to travel 4,000 miles across sea and land to Chicago and engage America's Golden Gloves champions.

Amateur Boxing's Biggest Crowd.

That ambition will be realized tomorrow night. After six introductory bouts, the eight French boys, from Andre Perrier, the flyweight, to 190 pound Fernand Laudrin, one after the other, will climb into the ring at Soldiers' field to fight for France before the largest crowd ever to watch an amateur boxing tournament.

And that throng, 21,000 of whom hold reserved ring side seats, will see an unparalleled boxing show. There have been international bouts other than the quadrennial Olympic tournaments, but never has one nation sent its champions to fight against the outstanding amateurs of another nation.

It is fitting that this international combat should climax the Golden Gloves of 1931. America's representatives gained their honors in long competition. These boys, six from Chicago and two from New York, were sectional qualifiers, then victors in a tournament of champions which included five central western states and metropolitan New York, and finally conquerors in the fourth annual intercity matches between New York and Chicago.

Eight Out of 5,000.

These eight are the best in a field of 5,000 amateur boxers. America can depend on them to meet the attack of the champions of France.

Prof. Fernand Cuny, the gray haired coach of the French team, who has sent his nation's best boxers into the Olympic competitions of 1924 and 1928, yesterday announced satisfaction with the condition of his team.

Prof. Cuny will be heartbroken if his boys do not win a majority of tomorrow night's bouts. He said as much. His boys also say "they have nothing more for which to live if they cannot defeat America. But win or lose, although Prof. Cuny cannot even think of defeat, he said in conclusion that the fights will be "ver' good, with courage as French always have."

Boxers Guests at Dinner.

The French and American teams and their coaches will be the guests of THE TRIBUNE tonight at 6:30 at a formal dinner at the Drake hotel. More than 100 prominent Chicagoans have been invited in addition to sports celebrities, which include Babe Ruth, Max Schmeling, and Will Stribling.

While the rival squads were engaging in last ring drills, thousands of Chicagoans, unable to obtain reserved seats which insure their presence, no matter where the bouts are held, were hoping for fair weather tomorrow. These thousands will sit in the concrete stands of Soldiers' field, excellent seats, for 50 cents each.

Open New Ticket Booths.

One hundred thousand unreserved seats are available. More than half of that number are in splendid locations. These tickets are on sale at the public service offices of THE TRIBUNE. In addition, because of the demand, it was decided yesterday to accommodate the crowds on Michigan avenue. Two ticket booths will be erected this morning on the boulevard, one at 11th street, the other at Van Buren street.

These ticket booths will be maintained until the night of the fight. If the pedestrians on their way to Soldiers' field tomorrow night care to stop on Michigan avenue they may buy their tickets at these locations. Otherwise they may continue to Soldiers' field, where 20 booths will be in service. The gates at Soldiers' field will be opened at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

For those early comers, sandwiches, coffee, red hots, potato chips and candy will be on sale at the stadium.

Prepare to Handle Crowd.

The south park and city police have completed their plans for handling the crowd. The reserved seats will be numbered and checked today. Large standards will designate the sections and assist the ushers and ticket holders in finding seats.

The loud speakers, which will inform fans of the names of the contestants, will be tested at a special rehearsal tonight. Ushers will receive instructions this afternoon.

Starting at 7 o'clock tomorrow night a concert band will play until 7:45 o'clock, when a ten minute fireworks display will herald the opening of the international show.

The bouts will not be transferred to the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night. If the weather does not permit holding them at Soldier's field, the bouts will be postponed until Wednesday. Then, if an outdoor performance can not be given, the bouts will be held in the Stadium.

Wrestlers to End Training Antics Today

The ten men who will perform in Promoter Doc Krone's wrestling show Thursday night at the Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue, will arrive in Chicago today to finish preparations for their matches. George Zaharias meets Frank Bronowicz, Polish wrestler, in the main event.

Jim McMillen makes his third start here of the current season, meeting Pat O'Shocker of Utah in the semi-windup. Hans Steinke will vault into the ring against Wallace Duguid. Jim Steele and Jim Clinkstock hook up in another battle. The opening match is between Jack Smith of Chicago and Hans Bauer, German veteran.

Lewis Meets Judson.

Ed (Strangler) Lewis and Frank Judson, who meet in the main event of the wrestling show at the Coliseum on Wednesday night, will wind up strenuous training this afternoon. Promoters Jim Mullen and Joe Coffey signed this match for best two out of three falls to a finish.

Joe Savoldi, former Notre Dame football player, faces Johnny Plummer, Iowa's 210 pound champion, in the semi-final match. Hank Bruder, Northwestern football star, meets Warren Strahota of Milwaukee in the main preliminary.

Burdick on Card.

Lloyd Burdick, University of Illinois football player and former Big Ten wrestling champion, will trade holds with Vic Soldat in another heavyweight contest. The opening match will present Zack Malkov and George Schwab.

GREAT BRITAIN BEATS BELGIUM IN DAVIS CUP TIE

BRUSSELS, Belgium, May 10.—(AP)—Great Britain's Davis cup tennis team clinched its second round tie with Belgium today by winning the doubles. F. J. Perry and G. P. Hughes conquered the Belgian pair, I. D. E. Borman and A. Lacroix, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2. England won both singles matches.

dentist, and to Pere Marquette and Joliet, two intrepid French explorers.

The death house which houses the electric chair at the county jail was pointed out to the party and caused excited comment, as well as an animated discussion over the relative merits of the electric chair and guillotine.

Hot Dogs! Non! Non!

The car stopped before a hot dog stand and the boys were offered some of this typically American food. They were eager to accept, but M. Cuny put his foot down hard.

"I have heard that they eat dog meat in Germany, but I did not think such a barbarous custom was practiced in the United States," he said. "Horse meat, perhaps, but no dog, even very hot."

If the weather is fair and warm today the boxers will go for a long walk in one of the parks. If it rains they will walk around the running track in the gymnasium of the Medinah Athletic club. There will be no more boxing.

GREYHOUND SETS RECORD IN TRIP UP MISSISSIPPI

St. Louis, Mo., May 10.—(AP)—The inboard cruiser Greyhound broke the speed record from New Orleans to St. Louis by 13 hours and 31 minutes when it nosed into St. Louis through rain and wet weather at 3 p. m. today.

The Greyhound made the run from New Orleans to St. Louis in 74 hours, breaking the record set in 1929 by Dr. Louis Leroy of Memphis who sent his boat Bogie over the run in 87 hours and 31 minutes.

The Greyhound carried its owner, Frederick Smith, Pilot Harvey Brown, Engineer Grady Lyle and Edmund Higgins, son of the builder of the craft, when it docked here. The only mishap of the trip was a bent propeller. Smith said heavy weather was encountered all along the way.

HE THINKS his hair roots* are dead, because no one has explained to him that hair roots merely become inactive—and die only in very rare cases. Hair roots become dormant when (1) they have been deprived of normal nourishment or (2) when some local scalp disorder makes it impossible for these sources of growth to function normally.

Thomas' effective scalp treatment (1) stimulates these dormant sources of nourishment and (2) overcomes the local causes of baldness. You yourself can easily recognize the presence of a scalp disorder by the aggravating symptoms—itching, falling hair, extreme dryness or oiliness, dandruff, etc. But to determine the exact cause of your particular scalp trouble, you should consult a Thomas' scalp specialist. He knows specifically how to overcome the various types of dandruff, stop falling hair, and promote hair growth on the thin and bald spots. Call for a free scalp examination today, and learn what Thomas' can do to help you have a good head of hair.

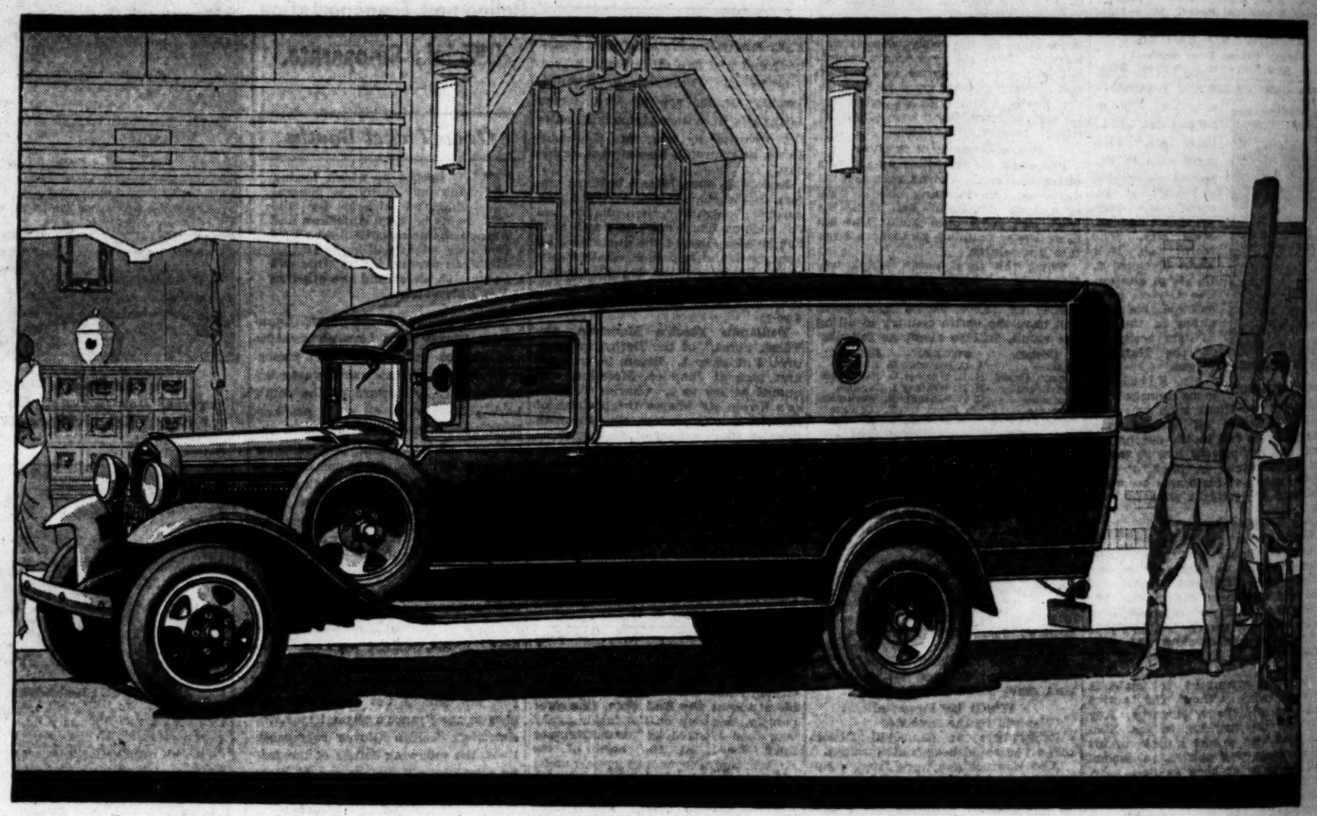
A Ford Truck will deliver your goods

AT LOW COST



Standard Panel Body. 1½-ton chassis. Wheelbase, 157 inches. Department stores, decorators, rug dealers and many merchants find this truck of value. The body is steel. Sides of the interior are straight, with square wheel-housings, and are paneled with wooden slats for protection.

MERCHANTS and operators, in every business, have found that Ford trucks keep delivery-costs low. Not only are Ford units strong, rugged and capable . . . able to give many thousands of miles of reliable service . . . but they offer many economies, both in first cost and in maintenance.

The wide range of standard bodies and equipment enables operators in every retail business to select complete Ford units that are especially adapted to any delivery-need. Thus, the saving in first cost, with the Ford, includes both chassis and bodies, offering marked economy in the investment for hauling-equipment.

Among the standard delivery-bodies, for the chassis with 131½-inch wheelbase, are panel and de luxe panel types. For the chassis with 157-inch wheelbase, there is a large panel body, which can be equipped with full-length double doors at the rear, or with tail-gate and chains with double doors above.

Other types, for lighter hauling, are the panel, de luxe panel, natural wood, and town-car delivery-bodies, on the light commercial chassis, which is similar to that of the Model A Ford car.

With these bodies, each designed for a special purpose, there is a Ford unit for every delivery-need, from that of the small, exclusive shop to that of the department or furniture store for its bulk deliveries.

Ford trucks are highly economical in daily operation, over an extended period of time. Their mechanical excellence becomes strikingly apparent as cost-records show long service with small maintenance-expense.

Simplicity of design contributes in large measure to the operating economy of the Ford. In the engine, for example, the electrical, ignition, cooling, lubrication and fuel systems are especially planned for simplicity, assuring positive operation, and eliminating many parts which might require adjustment, replacement, or repairs. Greater reliability and lower up-keep costs are the result.

Your Ford dealer can show you a delivery-unit especially designed for the requirements of your business.

SENATORS SCORE 3 IN TWELFTH TO BEAT TIGERS

Tie Count in Ninth, Then Win, 7 to 4.

Detroit, Mich., May 10.—(AP)—The Washington Senators scored three runs in the twelfth inning to defeat the Tigers, 7 to 4, today.

After driving in a run to tie the score at 4 and 4 in the ninth, Washington got two walks and three singles in the twelfth off Uhle, Tiger relief pitcher, to provide the winning margin. The Senators used three pitchers, Jones, Hadley and Marberry holding the Tigers to seven hits. Hoyt and Uhle yielded 16 safeties.

FRENCH STOPS ROBINS; PIRATES WIN OPENER, 3 TO 1

Brooklyn, N. Y., May 10.—(AP)—Larry French's effective pitching baffled the Robins here today and the Pittsburgh Pirates celebrated their first appearance in the east with a 3 to 1 victory.

Phelps pitched steady ball, but was tagged for a run in the fifth, on a pass to Phillips, Thevenow's single, French's sacrifice, and Lloyd Waner's single. In the eighth, Traynor doubled with two on, driving home one run. The other run was scored when O'Doul fumbled a drive in deep left.

With two out in the ninth, Brooklyn staged its only rally. After Bissonette and Lopez had singled, Pinch Hitter Lombardi doubled against the wall in right to drive in one run. With runners on second and third and a single needed to tie the score, French fanned O'Doul to end the game. Score:

Indianapolis Is Awarded K. of C. Bowling Tourney

Directors of the Knights of Columbus National Bowling association yesterday awarded the 1932 tournament to Indianapolis. Detroit made a strong bid for it. P. C. Holm of Chicago was elected president, Louis Jacobs of Dayton, O., first vice president, William R. Radke of Chicago second vice president, W. C. Albert, Detroit, reelected secretary, L. F. Hoffman, St. Louis, treasurer.

Fitzsimmons Stops Bruins; Giants Win 5-0

some idea of what the boys are and are not doing in their batting efforts:

	Season Avg.	Against (2 Gms.)
Blair	.300	.125
English	.333	.125
Hornsby	.361	.333
Cuyler	.343	.286
Wilson	.270	.000
Stephenson	.308	.250
Moore	.375	.250
Hartnett	.361	.000
Bell	.300	.143
Grimm	.217	.000

New York apparently is bent on grabbing the season attendance record now held by Wrigley field, Chicago. In a recent turnout at Yankee stadium the "official" figure was given as 80,892, whereas the visiting club was paid off on the basis of a few over 71,000. Yesterday at the Polo Grounds a Giant official "estimated" the crowd at 50,000, whereas there were 32,000. Today the same official "estimated" the gathering at 55,000, whereas the actual number was a few more than 37,000. It seems they want to take away all the honors from our Cubs.

As previously related, with tears in the voice, Fitzsimmons was as much a factor with his bat as his arm. Here's how he did it:

With one out in the second Jackson doubled to left. Verges tapped to Bell and Lester loosed a skyscraping throw in the general direction of first base. Jackson stopped at third and Verges reached second. Hogan was given an intentional pass to fill the bases and Fitzsimmons honored this strategy by hitting the first pitch for a homer into the top deck of the left field stand. This caused our lads to sag terribly and the rest of the afternoon was spent in admiring Fitz' pitching.

Hogan Scores for Giants.

There doesn't seem any urgent reason for recording what transpired after the sorrowful second, but you may be keeping a scrapbook, so here's the detail of the subsequent scoring inning and a mention or two of near scoring episodes.

Hogan led off the Giants' fourth with a single past Bell and Fitzsimmons walked. Critz flied to Cuyler and Hogan took third after the catch. Leach singled to left, scoring Hogan, Fitzsimmons stopping at second. Lindstrom flied to Cuyler and Terry forced Leach.

Moore led off the fifth with what was an obvious triple, but Johnny stopped running when he got to second. It was a shot along the right foul line which took a mean carom off the wall and evaded Lindstrom, but Johnny, instead of watching the coacher, fell for a bewhiskered fake tableau, Lindstrom pretending he was about to catch the ball.

Cubs Run.

Moore's innocence cost a run, for Hartnett followed with a long fly to Leach. Jackson threw out Bell and Critz threw out Grimm. Lindstrom doubled off the right field wall with one out in the seventh for the first hit off Bascht. Terry walked. Then Ott fanned after a count of three balls and two strikes and Lindstrom was doubled, Hartnett to Bell.

Blair singled to right with one out in the ninth for the third hit off Fitzsimmons, but was forced by English, Cuyler singled to left and English stopped at second. Then Wilson ended the game with a fly to Lindstrom.

Prince of Wales and Jurado Win Golf Match

Hednesford, Staffordshire, England, May 10.—(AP)—The prince of Wales and Jose Jurado today defeated Lord Ednam and Marcos Churio in a golf match on the Beaudesert course. The game was played on the American aggregate scoring system to which the prince was recently introduced in Argentina. Jurado went around in 74 despite the handicap of a severe toothache. Churio made the same score.

MAROON GOLFERS, BASEBALL TEAMS IN ACTION TODAY

Two Maroon teams will engage in conference competition on the Midway this afternoon, while the golf squad plays at Purdue. The Chicago baseball team, which shut out Michigan Saturday for its third Big Ten victory, meets Iowa in a return engagement on Greenwood field at 3:30 o'clock. Coach Page's team defeated the Hawkeyes, 10 to 7, in the first engagement. Since the start of the season Chicago has had good pitching and fielding, and the last two games have seen tremendous improvement in hitting. Art Cahill, right hander, probably will face John Ingraham, Hawkeye left hander, and the only letter man on the staff.

Grass Seed Festival Held by Sparrows

BY BOB BECKER.

Although the Chicago Jubilee starts today, there has been one such jubilee already started and finished up our way. It was a spring "grass seed" festival, conducted by a large flock of white-throated sparrows who do not intend to spend much time around northern Illinois. But irrespective of their short stay, they certainly tore into a freshly seeded patch of our lawn and staged parades and melodious concerts while doing it. These seed eating songsters ran as high as six to the square rod at one time.

However, few bird fans will begrudge these handsome and beautiful voiced migrants a meal or two as they pass through Illinois. To us, the white throat is always associated with northern lakes and streams and enjoyable days in fragrant woods. We heard their plaintive high pitched notes on the first of May when we were trout fishing. Already the early migrants had pushed their way northward.

The flock which lingered around our home and filled the neighborhood with their singing will soon be nesting in Wisconsin. Unfortunately, they do not stay with us very long. When you have a flock of these songsters, two brown thrashers, a peppy wren, and an oriole broadcasting at the same time it's a concert worth while.

At this time of the year the courtship of birds is one of the most fascinating features of our woods and meadows. It is the season for much singing and the way certain birds take over perches or locations from which to pour out their songs is interesting to watch.

Up our way we have a brown thrasher that flies to the top of one tall oak and there he floods the air with his song. The robin may have a favorite gable, a woodpecker is apt to use the same tin roof or other resounding surface time after time, and the ruffed grouse will return to the same log from which to send out his rolling tattoo.

HORTON SMITH, 3 OTHER YANKEES IN BRITISH MEET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SOUTHPORT, England, May 10.—Four Americans and four Argentines, in addition to the foremost talent of British professional golf, have entered the Southport tournament, which opens tomorrow and in which the biggest money prizes in Europe will be distributed. A total of $7,500 is offered and the first money is $1,500.

Horton Smith of New York will seek to repeat last year's winning effort. Other Americans are Joe Turnesa, Tony Manero and Joe Kirkwood. Willie Hunter withdrew on account of illness. Jose Jurado, many times Argentine champion, is the chief competitor from South America.

Bill Tilden's Title Safe for Another Week

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—Big Bill Tilden's supremacy in tennis apparently remains unimpaired, following his victory over Vincent Richards in the first of a series of world professional championship matches in Madison Square Garden last night.

Richards plainly was in poor condition. The dispatch with which he vanquished his former amateur rival in the first set, while he was still fresh, indicated it was a lack of proper physical preparation rather than competitive skill that prevented him from making a better stand.

Johnny Doeg, national singles champion, who defeated Tilden last fall and has been whipped twice by Richards in practice matches this week, said Richards would need another week to reach his proper playing form. By the time the two American aces meet in the Chicago Stadium next Sunday night, Richards will be able to play an entire match at top form and until then Tilden's supremacy cannot be definitely established, he contended.

Tilden was in superb shape last night. He had just returned from his last match with Karel Koseluh in which he had defeated the Czech in 34 out of 37 sets played in various parts of the country. His service baffled Richards completely after the first set and he chased the fatigued New Yorker from base line to base line.

BIG 6 BATTING MARKS SHRINK; LIST CHANGES

The receding batting averages of the leading major league sluggers brought more changes in the lineup of the Big Six yesterday. Three of the contenders for places among the sextet played, and among them got only one hit. Lew Fonseca of Cleveland and Johnny Verges of the New York Giants failed to connect and dropped below third place in their leagues. Dale Alexander of Detroit hit one out of five and fell from first to third place. Rogers Hornsby of the Cubs and Al Simmons of the Athletics replaced Vergez and Fonseca. The standing:

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

This is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative, safe and pleasant.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets.

Thousands take them every night to keep right. Try them. 15c, 30c, 60c.

DERBY'S SIX DAYS AWAY, BUT FIELD'S READY, RIGHT NOW

Royal Dozen Expected to Seek Turf Prize.

Still Favor Whitney.

Early arrivals at the scene of the Derby, particularly the folks from Kentucky, who are already here from all parts of the blue grass country, are inclined to believe that Twenty Grand will be the Derby favorite at post time and that Equipoise may be the second choice. They think Mate will be the third choice at about 4 or 5 to 1, just as he was when the Preakness was run. But being the third choice in the Preakness did not stop him.

In the Derby, horses which are always having a lot of hard luck are not good betting propositions, we have often been told. Twenty Grand and Equipoise seemed to have encountered plenty of bad luck in the Preakness. It might happen to them again in the Derby. Both are noted for being unable to get away from the barrier in good racing stride.

Among the westerners there was considerable confidence of a Derby victory in the training camps of Pittsburgher and Insco today.

Points to Preakness' Time.

"Come over and squint at the 'Big Horse' and see if you don't think he looks like a Derby winner," J. H. Moody, who trains Pittsburgher, told a big group of early Derby visitors this morning. Trainer Moody is a short fat fellow about five feet seven and like all good Kentuckians carries a cane.

He had the dope sheet of the Preakness in his chubby left hand.

"Look at the fractions," he said. "They ran the first three-quarters of the Preakness in 1:13 2-5. Pittsburgher is going to step the first three-quarters of the Derby in about 1:11. That should find him heading into the stretch about five lengths in front. How are they going to catch my 'Big Horse'?"

There was also a lot of confidence over around the Boots Durnell private barn, where Insco is quartered. And there are rumors around that they've never let Insco run so far this season. The rumors followed two very bad races here as he warmed up for the Derby.

Confident of Victory.

"Don't listen to the rumors," Durnell told us here this afternoon. "Insco injured himself in a training gallop about two weeks ago. He had not recovered from it when we started him the first time and he didn't run a good race. He was still recovering when he started him in the Derby preparation purse on Friday but he ran a better race then than he did in his first race this year.

"Insco will be a better horse a week after the Derby is run than he will be on Derby day, but don't think he can't win the Derby. The horse that beats him will know he has been in a race."

Pittsburgher, Boys Howdy, Spanish Play, The Mongrel, Prince D'Amour, Illium, and Morstone are all scheduled to go in the Derby trial stakes on Tuesday afternoon. This is a race at a mile and a sixteenth. It may give a line on the Derby, but not exactly a true line, with Mate, Equipoise and Twenty Grand all on the side lines.

AURORA CLAIMS COUNTRY'S THREE BEST JOCKEYS

Race horse owners and trainers are complaining of the scarcity of riding talent at Exposition Park, Aurora, where the current meeting goes into its ninth day this afternoon. Although Aurora's jockey colony is small it makes up for this laxity in the quality of its boys.

Official figures showing the standing of all the jockeys in the country, released last week, show that Le Foy Cunningham, A. Fischer and H. Robie are holding down the first three positions, in the order named. All are at Exposition Park.

Cunningham had 99 victories, 76 seconds and 83 thirds out of 510 rides. A. Fischer had 76 firsts, 50 seconds and 53 thirds in 392 efforts, while Robie owned 65 wins, 76 seconds, and 62 thirds in 454 attempts.

Robie Back from K. C.

Robie was ordered to Kansas City last week, but upon his arrival was shipped back again, so the leading trio remains intact.

Riding isn't a bad paying profession, according to Fred Craf on, auditor in the racing department. The Aurora boys are averaging pretty close to $200 a week. A. Richard, under contract to J. B. Theall, received a check for $336 for 8 days' work. He is leading the Aurora contingent in winners with 8, or an average of one per day.

Prendergrass, Willie Day and R. Jones found more than $200 in their pay envelopes, while Dickey, who suffered a five day suspension, was right upon their heels despite his layoff. Day's apprenticeship will be up in another month, when he will lose the 5 pound allowance.

According to Crafton's figures 47 lads rode during the 8 days, which means that the jockey colony numbers only about 50.

Golden Gloves Handicap.

This is Jubilee week at the course, for the management has named each day's feature after the outstanding event on the big Chicago celebration program. Today's feature is the "Chicago Jubilee Parade" handicap; tomorrow will be the "Golden Gloves handicap."

Mud runners, which have been having the time of their lives for several days, will find conditions to their liking prevailing again today. A steady rain all day yesterday drenched the oval. Today is another of the biweekly ladies' days, but the fair fans do not seem to mind conditions.

DERBY CANDIDATES

The Latest Flash on the 3-Year-Olds Which Will Battle for Kentucky's Famous Turf Prize on May 16.

—BY FRENCH LANE—

BOYS HOWDY!

Louisville, Ky., May 10.—If you think the Canadian people who own this son of Bubbling Over-Batter Cake are not in earnest about this fellow having a royal chance to win the Kentucky Derby next Saturday afternoon, you should have been over on the back stretch at Churchill Downs this morning when Trainer Lloyd Gentry brought him out to be inspected by a lot of early Derby visitors.

Any one who looks at this broad-shouldered, long-legged bay will have to agree that he looks like a running horse. And didn't he show his heels to most of the formidable western Derby colts in a mile race just a couple of days ago?

Sweep All, Pittsburgher, Spanish Play, Insco, B'ar Hunter, and Don Leon were among those who trailed him home. Boys Howdy is a great race horse or the rest of our western Derby candidates are a lot of flat footed mugs.

Edward R. Bradley, of course, would get a lot of satisfaction out of a Boys Howdy victory in the Derby because Boys Howdy was bred on his Idle Hour farm. But such a victory might also make him very sad for he came to the conclusion about a year ago that Boys Howdy wasn't good enough for such a fine stable as Idle Hour farm maintains, so he sold the colt to H. C. Hatch, a Canadian sportsman.

Boys Howdy ran a nice race to beat his western Derby rivals here last Saturday. He ran a great race in Cuba last winter to beat a lot of older horses after he had given them all weight. That effort brought him a victory in the Cuban handicap, the richest race run at Oriental park in Havana during the last winter.

But here's comes the rub. Boys Howdy is from the winter tracks, and I don't want a ticket on any of those winter track 3 year olds in this year's Derby.

Examination at the jockeys' quarters revealed, that Vercher had sustained a broken nose and a possible concussion, while Page suffered injuries about the head when one of the horses hoofs pierced his skull cap. The fall was caused by Helen Virginia running up on Bourbon Maid's heels as the field rounded the turn. Chiclero fell over Helen Virginia.

JOHN HERTZ says of DAILY RACING FORM

"I read DAILY RACING FORM because I believe it to be most authoritative and accurate of daily turf publications. The close student of form appreciates its past performances, especially their easy reading, completeness of detail and conciseness."

His colors were carried to their first major victory when Anita Peabody won the Belmont Futurity. His silks scored an impressive victory in the Kentucky Derby in 1928 on Reigh Count, three-year-old champion of that season, later to win England's Coronation Cup and other important stakes. DATE OF ARLINGTON CLASSIC

Word from the office of the Arlington Park Jockey Club that the dates for the running of the Arlington Stakes would be announced shortly after the arrival of racing secretary Joseph McLennan, who left Baltimore Saturday for Chicago. Many queries have been received as to when the classic would be decided this year, and it is expected that the information will be forthcoming within a few days.

TWEL[illegible] GRADE [illegible] Makes [illegible] Successful Debut in Wood Memorial.

Trilogy Accounts for Colorado Stakes in Colors of Ran[illegible]

[illegible] N. Y., May 2.—Twenty [illegible] the first hope of the powerful Greentree stable for the Preakness and the Kentucky Derby, made good brilliantly in the running of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica Saturday.

Closing an immense gap in the stretch, the son of St. Germains came away under the whip magnificently, to lead Morton L. Schwartz's Clock Tower past the line by half [illegible], and a half dozen length farther [illegible]. Richard T. Wilson's Camper beat [illegible]pe's Polydorus a like distance for [illegible]en followed G. D. Widener's Condescend with Robert A. Fairbairn's Glasier [illegible] of the six that raced.

[illegible]d Memorial was a gallop of [illegible] seventy yards, with a net value [illegible]er of $10,200, and it was run [illegible] a track that, while fast, was [illegible]n a drizzling rain, and a dense [illegible] impossible to distinguish [illegible]t in the front stretch. The [illegible] event of an excellent Saturday [illegible] best of the Metropolitan [illegible] meeting, and the Colorado [illegible]panion feature for juveniles, [illegible] or the Rancocas stakes will [illegible]ner.

FAVORABLE WEATHER.

[illegible] the Wood Memorial, the [illegible] William Woodward's Gallant [illegible]oad to the championship [illegible]doubt of the high quality [illegible]nd the magnificent manner [illegible]nished the final furlong [illegible]om what seemed certain [illegible] high courage. Seldom, [illegible]ook shown such gameness [illegible] of the year, and it was [illegible] finish, the son of St. [illegible] out the full mile and [illegible]d the race should do [illegible] preparation for the [illegible] the Kentucky Derby [illegible] he is heading.

[illegible]t in good alignment, [illegible]bled slightly, while [illegible] he left, and was [illegible] Clock Tower, on [illegible] Y like a sprinter, [illegible] excellent use of [illegible]or the first furlong. [illegible] condescend was after [illegible]per racing third, and as they [illegible] to the corner Twenty Grand was fourth, but well back of these and plainly not in a racing stride.

HOLDS ON TO ADVANTAGE.

Well out in front of the field Walls took hold of Clock Tower, and the son of Sweep II., racing as he never raced before, held his advantage with little trouble. Condescend was following him, and four lengths before Camper, which in turn was three lengths before Twenty Grand.

Then in the run through the straight of the back stretch Clock Tower continued to draw out from his rivals until he was three and then four lengths to the good, and Twenty Grand was dropping back until he seemed to be hopelessly beaten. Condescend was doing his best in second place, while Camper was going along steadily in third place.

Never weakening, Clock Tower was five lengths clear as he rounded into the short stretch, but Kurtsinger was at work on Twenty Grand, and the colt had moved up to fourth place, but still lengths back. Then he raced to Condescend, next up on Camper, and in the last furlong, under hands and heels, he wore down the flying Clock Tower until he swept over the line the winner by half a length. It was a truly magnificent

BEGIN "NATIONAL COTTON WEEK" FIRST OF JUNE

Washington, D. C., May 10.—(AP)—Secretary Lamont today announced that the week beginning June 1 would be observed throughout the country as national cotton week."

The secretary said that at a conference between himself, secretary Hyde, Cason J. Callaway, president of the American Cotton Manufacturers' association, and George A. Sloan, president of the Cotton Textile institute, it was decided the time was ripe for a drive to encourage the use of cotton goods.

The price of cotton, he said, now is lower than in 15 years and this has been reflected in the price of cotton goods.

The cotton week movement has been indorsed by both the agriculture and commerce departments and by many large distributors of cotton and cotton goods.

Stimulation of consumer interest in cotton, government officials believe, will contribute to a general buying movement in other commodities.

Bakers in Duluth Strike as Wage Cut Is Proposed

Duluth, Minn., May 10.—(AP)—Union bakery employés of Duluth and Superior went on strike today against a proposed ten per cent cut in wages. Tomorrow morning the more than 100 bakery workers affected will start picketing shops. Steamship company officials at a meeting in the city hall tomorrow hope to end the longshoremen's strike which has been in progress in Duluth and Superior for nearly two weeks. The longshoremen struck against a new wage scale paying them 60 cents an hour and 75 cents for overtime work. The old scale was 70 and 85 cents.

Can Note No Change in Illness of Capt. Dollar

San Rafael, Cal., May 10.—(AP)—Capt. Robert Dollar, dean of Pacific coast shipping men, confined to his home here with a kidney ailment, showed no improvement today, although his physician said he passed a fairly comfortable night. Dr. R. C. Duffey, the physician, has said the 87 year old man has almost no chance to recover from the illness with which he was stricken three months ago.

Despite his condition, Capt. Dollar followed a custom of the household of more than a half century, arose and conducted the family religious services. Then he returned to bed.

Funeral in East Today of Harry Fordham Noyes

Funeral services will be held today in Newton, Mass., for Harry Fordham Noyes, vice president of the Victor Chemical works of Chicago, who died suddenly on Friday in his room at the Roosevelt hotel in New York. Death was due to heart disease. Mr. Noyes was 50 years old. He was born in Boston and was a graduate of the Boston School of Technology. He is survived by two children, Betty and Harry Jr. Mr. Noyes lived at the Hamilton club in Chicago.

Eight Killed as Liberals Win Colombia Election

BOGOTA, Colombia, May 10.—(AP)—Unofficial returns from today's elections in Colombia late tonight indicated that the Liberals had won a victory over the Conservatives. The newspaper Tiempo says six persons were killed in disorders in Villeta and two in Chiquinquira throughout the day. Colombia held a nation-wide election today to name delegates to the congressional electoral college.

Kokomo, Ind., May 10.—(AP)—Charles Hendricks of Westfield, Ind., was killed and three other persons were injured, two critically, when two automobiles collided at a road intersection a mile west of Swayzee today.

WILLIAM MUSE, IOWA EDITOR, IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Mason City, Ia., May 10.—(AP)—William Foster Muse, 70, veteran editor of the Mason City Globe-Gazette, died today in San Antonio, Tex., where he had gone to spend the winter.

Death came quietly early this morning after an illness of two months following an attack of pneumonia. A daughter was at his bedside.

Muse came to Mason City in 1898 as editor and president of the Globe-Gazette. Previously he was editor of the Ottumwa Courier. For the last six years he was associated with A. W. Lee, founder of the Lee group of newspapers. He also had been a member of the staffs of the Cedar Rapids Gazette and the Fremont, Neb., Tribune.

The veteran newspaper man, author, and world traveler held five academic degrees, two from Illinois Wesleyan college and three from Cornell college, Iowa.

A daughter, Mrs. Ralph Norris of Orange N. J., who was with him since the beginning of his illness, survives.

COAL SLIDE KILLS TWO WOMEN.

Thayer, Ill., May 10.—(AP)—Trapped under a fall of several hundred tons of coal slack and slate, two Thayer women met instant death here yesterday. The women, Mrs. George Dolack, 55, and Mrs. Mary Bebnarchik, 60, were picking up coal from the dump at a mine.

DECLARE WOMAN SLAYING VICTIM; HUNT ASSAILANT

Mrs. Maggie Laino, 53 years old, who was found dead Saturday in her rooming house at 1247 West Jackson boulevard, yesterday was declared the victim of a murderer. She had been strangled. At first police believed she died of natural causes.

Des Plaines street police immediately started a search for George Nichols, janitor of the rooming house building, who disappeared about the time Mrs. Laino's body was found. Police of Des Moines and Richland, Ia., and Macomb, Ill., were asked to look for him.

Mrs. Laino's body was found in the basement of her house. A post mortem examination by Dr. James Kearns, coroner's physician, showed she had been choked. Further investigation revealed that a money bag which Mrs. Laino wore had been opened. Robbery is believed to be the motive for the killing.

JOS. COVINGTON, CIVIL WAR VET AND TEACHER, DIES

Joseph Covington, a teacher in the public schools in Cook, Logan, and Champaign counties for many years, died yesterday in the Englewood hospital, at the age of 87 years. Funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the chapel at 63d street and Harvard avenue. Burial will be in Fairmount cemetery.

Mr. Covington was a veteran of the civil war, having enlisted when 18 years old in company C of the 106th Illinois infantry. He was personally acquainted with Lincoln and was a member of the "Wide Awakes," an organization which supported Lincoln during the Lincoln-Douglas debates. He was a graduate physician, but preferred teaching to the practice of medicine.

He is survived by three daughters, two sons, eleven grandchildren, and twelve great-grandchildren.

Quebec Church Burns After Priest Gets Phone Warning

ST. ESPRIT, Que., May 10.—(AP)—The Catholic church of St. Esprit, which had been guarded by watchmen for two Saturday nights following an anonymous telephone call from a woman to the priest that "something would happen on a Saturday night," was left unguarded last night and was destroyed by fire. LARGE INCREASE IN GRAIN STORAGE REPORTED BY U. S.

Add 40 Million Bushels to Nation's Capacity.

An increase of more than 40,000,000 bushels in storage capacity at 14 of the country's largest grain markets is reported by the agricultural department.

Concern has been expressed that insufficient storage space would be available on July 1 when this years' large crop moves into the market in view of the large grain stocks held by the Grain Stabilization corporation and other agencies.

The department said a survey showed a rated storage capacity of 343,595,000 bushels on April 1 at these 14 markets as compared with 301,859,000 on July 1. Despite this increase, however, the stocks of grain in store were said to have also increased with the result that the unfilled space available on May 1 was approximately the same as that of a year ago. At southwestern markets less unfilled space was reported as compared with last year.

The Grain Stabilization corporation announced a week ago that it had sold an amount estimated at 20,000,000 bushels held at some of these markets.

A warning was issued by the department in March that unless United States producers decreased their wheat production sharply they would be forced into export trade because of lack of storage. Chairman Stone of the farm board, however, expects no difficulty along this line. The board probably will have upwards of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat in storage before July 1.

The largest amount of new construction was reported at Minenapolis, Duluth, Omaha, and Milwaukee. Kansas City and Chicago were said to be the only large markets where little elevator space has been added since last July. At Kansas City, however, a new 2,500,000 bushel elevator now is being built and 6,000,000 to 10,000,000 bushels more space is expected to be added before the new crop moves.

At Enid, Okla., an important market not included in the survey, a 1,000,000 bushel elevator is under construction while new elevators totaling 12,000,000 to 14,000,000 are expected to be built soon at principal terminals.

PUBLIC UTILITY 1930 INVESTMENT IS $1,275,000,000

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—Capital invested in the public utility companies of the United States last year amounted to $1,275,000,000 despite declining general business during 1930, according to the annual public utility survey made by Bonbright & Co., Inc., which shows capital investments in utility companies at nearly $28,000,000,000 at the beginning of 1931.

The electric power and light industry accounted for the largest gains and the greatest investment due to an increase of $700,000,000 in invested capital to a total of $11,800,000,000 during 1930. This compares with about $5,285,000,000 invested in electric railways, $5,000,000,000 in the manufactured and natural gas businesses, $4,950,000,000 in telephone and telegraph companies, and an amount estimated at $900,000,000 in privately owned water supply facilities.

The survey believes that the field for future development of the electric power and light business is so great that in each of the next five years the industry may be expected to add 3,300,000,000 kilowatt hours to its output, $125,000,000 to its gross revenues, and $700,000,000 to its annual expenditures for extension of services.

NEW YORK PUBLIC UTILITY TO SPEND HUGE SUM IN 1931

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 9.—The Consolidated Gas company of New York and its subsidiaries have appropriated $80,037,405 this year for new construction work in Greater New York, of which $78,512,645 will be actually disbursed in 1931, President George B. Cortelyou has announced. Some of the projects will be completed early in 1932.

Mr. Cortelyou said that the construction budgets of the affiliated gas and electric companies reflect the continued growth and expansion that was expected in the residential and suburban section of the city. The larger share of the appropriations provide for the laying of new mains and services, and the placing of new cables, poles, ducts, and similar plants as well as the installation of additional customers' meters.

The electric companies in the system will spend about $15,000,000 for extensions and improvements to their distrbution system and $20,000,000 for conversion of distributing lines from overhead wires to underground cables.

Nears Close of Five Year Construction Program

With the completion this week of a 70 mile transmission line connection between Falfurrias and Edinburg in south Texas, the Central and South West Utilities company will mark the close of a five year transmission construction program, during which time construction of high tension lines has been at the rate of 1,000 miles a year.

In building lines equivalent in aggregate length to the distance from New York to San Francisco and back again the Central and South West group has brought electric service to 274 towns previously without electricity and has replaced isolated local electric plants in 79 towns. According to James C. Kennedy, president of the company, this program has been largely responsible for a reduction of more than $3,000,000 in operating costs during the five year period.

Offer Made for Exchange of Oil, Food Trust Shares

New York, May 10.—[Special.]—Offer for exchange of Trusteed Food Shares for the two series of Standard Oil trust shares was announced today by sponsors of the latter series. Under the terms the exchange will be made on the basis of liquidating value of the trusts, as determined in their indentures. At present market prices the exchange would at the rate of 3 Trusteed Food shares for each five Standard Oil trust shares, series A, and each six Standard Oil shares, series B. Cash adjustments will be made.

Insurance Ad Conference Raps Derogatory Tendency

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—A move to stop the tendency among cartoonists, writers and others from making derogatory references to insurance agents has been undertaken by the insurance advertising conference, representing more than 250 life, fire and casualty insurance companies in this country.

At a recent conference several particular references were pointed out as objectionable. One of these was a sign over a motion picture studio in Hollywood which read "Canvassers, bootleggers, beggars and insurance peddlers—Keep out." Chauncey S. S. Miller of the North British and Mercantile Insurance Company, Ltd., president of the group, has asked Henry F. Tyrell of the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company to accept chairmanship of a committee to move against such unfavorable inferences.

Standard Gas & Electric Shows $12,250,867 Balance

Consolidated earnings of Standard Gas and Electric company and its subsidiary and affiliated companies for the twelve months ended March 31, 1931, show a balance of $12,250,867 after all charges including retirement reserve and preferred dividends, compared with a balance for the twelve months ended Dec. 31, 1930, of $13,082,498, according to John J. O'Brien, president of the company. The balance of $12,250,867 is equivalent to $5.66 a share on the 2,162,607 shares of common stock outstanding March 31, 1931, and compares with a balance equivalent to $6.04 a share on the 2,162,607 shares of common stock outstanding December 31, 1930.

By the term "unpledged assets" as used in this Notice is meant assets not held as collateral security for outstanding farm loan bonds issued or the obligations of which have been assumed by the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank of Kansas City, Missouri.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE

The Receiver, since as at February 1, 1931, has proceeded with the administration, management and liquidation of the assets herein advertised to be sold, and with the investment of the proceeds of such liquidation, and the Receiver will continue with the administration, management and liquidation of said assets, and with the investment of the proceeds of such liquidation, until the date of final settlement with the purchaser or purchasers, at the cost, risk and expense of said purchaser or purchasers. At the time of sale and final settlement with the purchaser or purchasers many of the items of assets will be in form and classification different from the form and classification in which they appear in the Schedules hereinbefore referred to, due to payments on the principal of mortgage loans, transfer of mortgage loans to foreclosure, completion of foreclosures of mortgage loans, sales of real estate, investments of cash in United States Government securities, and other necessary activities of the Receivership during the time since as at February 1, 1931, and up to the date of said final settlement.

It is intended, however, that the purchaser of the assets constituting Parcel A shall acquire all pledged assets of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank of Kansas City, Missouri, except the assets listed in Schedule No. 1 and Schedule No. 2-a (and all revenues, increments, accruals and proceeds arising therefrom on and after February 1, 1931, and investments thereof) as said Schedule No. 1 and Schedule No. 2-a appear in the statement entitled "Statement of Assets Pledged as Collateral Security for Outstanding Farm Loan Bonds Issued or Assumed by Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank of Kansas City, Missouri, as shown by the Books and Records of H. M. Langworthy, Receiver, as at the Beginning of Business on February 1, 1931," hereinbefore referred to, and except the books, records and files of said Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank and the Receiver thereof; and that the purchaser of the assets constituting Parcel B shall acquire all the unpledged assets of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank of Kansas City, Missouri, except the assets listed in Schedule No. 1 (and all revenues, increments, accruals and proceeds arising therefrom on and after February 1, 1931, and investments thereof) as said Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank of Kansas City, Missouri, as shown by the Books and Records of H. M. Langworthy, Receiver, as at the Beginning of Business on February 1, 1931," hereinbefore referred to, and except the books, records and files of said Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank and the Receiver thereof.

The books, records and files of the Kansas City Joint Stock Land Bank and of the Receiver will be withheld from the sale, and the title thereto will be reserved in the Receiver for such length of time as the Receiver or the Federal Farm Loan Board may determine. Subject to the approval of the Federal Farm Loan Board, the Receiver will make suitable arrangements with the purchaser or purchasers whereby such purchaser or purchasers may have reasonable access and inspection, under the supervision of the Receiver, of the books, records and files pertaining to the assets purchased; and the Receiver will thereafter, at or prior to the closing of the Receivership, deliver to the purchaser or purchasers the custody of such of the said books

SEE SENTIMENT IN GRAIN MARTS AS MORE MIXED

Rallies Now Follow Price Declines.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A more diversified sentiment is noticeable in the grain market with a greater disposition to buy on weak spots than for several months. This has given all markets better support, and rallies invariably follow price recessions.

There is, however, a strong bearish feeling in certain quarters, a number of old time operators taking the position that there is too much wheat in the world to have prices advance. On the other hand prices are down to a level where the general run of depressing influences fails to have the same effect as for months past. Weather and crop reports are most important factors in the present situation in addition to the export business which has improved of late.

A deficit of moisture in the American and Canadian northwest is attracting more attention from wheat traders and inducing moderate buying of futures on all weak spots. At the same time there are a number of aggressive operators on the bear side so that it makes the situation more interesting and is bringing in a little increase in outside trade.

Week's Range 3 Cents.

Wheat futures covered a range of practically 3c for the week with new crop months unchanged to ¼c higher as compared with a week ago and May ⅝c higher, the latter closing at 67⅝c, July 63⅝@63¾c, September 61⅝@61c, and December 66⅝@66½c. Winnipeg May closed at 62¼c, up 1⅝c for the week, July 63¼c, or ⅜c higher, with October 64⅛@64⅝c, or ⅝c lower than a week ago.

Farm board agencies were good sellers of May wheat and are said to have sold 2,000,000 bu hard winter to Germany. Export sales otherwise were not large, although the impression is that nearly all the 35,000,000 bu that the farm board proposed to sell by July 1 has been disposed of. Export clearances have increased materially especially from gulf ports, and large clearances are expected from Montreal.

A member of the Grain Stabilization committee replying to criticisms of their shipping more than 1,000,000 bu of wheat from Duluth to Buffalo and Montreal in Canadian bottoms, said that when the wheat was loaded last winter, no American bottoms were available and it was necessary to charter Canadian boats.

Those who are bearish on wheat believe there will be sufficient moisture from now on to germinate the crop in the northwest and keep it growing in good shape and they sell on every time there are reports of showers.

The government report showed 653,000,000 bu against 644,000,000 bu winter wheat last month and 604,000,000

FEDERATED DEPT. STORES 1930 PROFIT TOTALS $2,098,959

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—Federated Department Stores, Inc., the company which owns the majority of the stock of William Filene's Sons company, Abraham & Straus, Inc., F. & R. Lazarus & Co., Inc., and Bloomingdale Brothers, Inc., earned a net profit of $2,098,959, equal to $2.34 a share on the 896,333 shares of common stock outstanding during the fiscal year ended on Jan. 31, according to the annual report issued yesterday. Earnings in the preceding fiscal year were equal to $3.18 a share on the 860,245 shares of common stock then outstanding.

A. Lincoln Filene, chairman of the board of the company, stated in a letter to stockholders that business had actually increased in the stores controlled by the company, although the net sales showed a decrease. He said that the number of transactions necessary to build up the total net sales to $113,021,652 in the year ended with last January was 4.5 per cent greater than those which showed total net sales of $117,003,399 in the preceding fiscal year. The decrease in the net sales total amounted to approximately 3.4 per cent.

He also pointed out that the consolidated balance sheet of the company revealed a strong financial position, the rate of current assets to current liabilities being 7.78 to 7. Cash and marketable securities amounted to more than twice current liabilities. Inventories were lower than a year ago by more than $1,500,000, and were stated on the basis of the usual retail method, reduced to net cost or lower. Continuing, he said:

"The consolidated earned surplus account as of Jan. 31, 1931, was increased by $2,108,880.02, and amounts to $2,996,194.63, while the total surplus amounts to $13,614,444.25."

Week's Municipal Awards Will Total $62,732,922

New York, May 10.—(AP)—New municipal financing scheduled for award this week totals $62,732,922, compared with actual offerings last week of $30,526,000, the Bond Buyer reports. The largest issue is $52,000,000 New York City bonds to be awarded Tuesday. Other than the New York City issue the only large financing of the week will be an issue of $1,000,000 Knox county, Tenn., bonds to be placed Monday.

TRAYLOR'S TALK RENEWS DEBATE ON STOCK DEALS

Daily Settlements Likely to Stay.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—Debate over the question of introducing a system of periodic settlements on the New York stock exchange in place of the present method of daily settlements has been reopened as a result of criticisms levelled at the exchange by Melvin A. Traylor, president of the First National bank of Chicago.

Officials of the stock exchange have withheld comment on the subject, but on the basis of past pronouncements and from what is known of the views held by various influential members of the exchange, it is believed in the financial district that no change in method will result from Mr. Traylor's suggestions. However, his views, as expressed last Tuesday before the International Chamber of Commerce in Washingtbn, were discussed here with lively interest.

Hits Daily Call Rate.

Mr. Traylor suggested "in the interest of a sound banking structure and stable business activity," that the exchanges "adopt some type of periodic settlement which would eliminate the daily call rate and make possible some measure of regulation of the flow and rate of credit by banking authority."

The attitude of the stock exchange on the whole question was defined by E. H. H. Simmons when he was president of the institution and, so far as can be learned, there has been no change in that attitude.

"The New York stock exchange is not simply obstinate and unprogressive in its preference for its present cash settlement system," he said. The exchange has, as a matter of fact, painstakingly investigated the whole subject of term settlements in the main European markets—such as London, Paris, and Berlin—where such systems exist, as well as in Amsterdam, which is a cash market like New York and which has refused after careful consideration to inaugurate term settlements there.

Affords Liquidity.

"The present cash settlement system of the New York Stock Exchange grew up on the exchange some 75 years ago, due primarily to the desire of American bankers to make stock market loans on demand rather than on time, with maximum safety and liquidity. This in turn compelled the stock broker to settle his bargains each day. These conditions remain today, and the borrowing broker must recognize them. If all American banks should suddenly decide that they preferred to lend funds on securities for a two weeks' period rather than on demand, almost automatically the New York Stock Exchange would have to adapt its settlement system in accordance with this situation. Basically, therefore, a term settlement is not something which the New York Stock Exchange can arbitrarily initiate."

POINTS OUT TWO WAYS TO ASSIST OIL INDUSTRY

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Two paths lead to recovery and stabilization of the oil industry in the opinion of J. Edward Jones, oil royalty owner, and the proper one to follow can be chosen only after an investigation of existing conditions, with particular attention to the study of prices.

Mr. Jones' views were expressed in a letter to Gov. Harry Woodring of Kansas, in answer to a request made by the governor on a recent visit to New York.

One of the paths, he pointed out, is the disintegrating of the large companies to a point where their operations are restricted either to the production of crude oil, or its refining, two undertakings which he said are entirely out of harmony with each other.

The alternative, Mr. Jones said, is public regulation of both "price" and the allowable rate of production of both crude and refined oils.

Louisville Gas, Diamond Match to Get Tax Refunds

Washington, May 10.—(AP)—The treasury has approved a $215,851 over assessment of taxes in 1922 to 1925, inclusive, to the Louisville Gas and Electric Company of Delaware at Louisville, Ky., and $311,973 to the Diamond Match Company of New York for the years 1918 to 1920 inclusive.

Chadbourne to Be Made Legion of Honor Officer

PARIS, May 10.—(AP)—Thomas L. Chadbourne, promoter of the world sugar control plan signed by seven nations at Brussels yesterday, is to be made an officer of the French Legion of Honor. Chadbourne will sail for New York tomorrow with his party aboard the steamer Europa. He and members of his staff continued today to refuse to discuss rumors that he would be asked to negotiate a world wheat agreement along lines similar to his sugar plan.

Brill Corp. Management Given Vote of Confidence

By a vote of 341,326 to 9,636 stockholders of the Brill corporation have upheld the management, headed by William H. Woodin, chairman of the company and president of the American Car and Foundry company, against criticism by a minority group of stockholders. Every act of the management since the organization of the corporation in 1926 was approved by the stockholders. The vote ended a contest for proxies begun last February.

Hear Frisco Road Plans $10,000,000 Refunding

The St. Louis-San Francsco Railway company, it is understood, is contemplating the further issuance of about $10,000,000 consolidated mortgage bonds to provide for the refunding of $9,342,000 general 5s and 6s maturing July 1, next.

Convalescent Business Quiet as Trade Doctors Confer

New York, May 10.—(AP)—Convalescent business kept to its wheel chair during the past week, while the physicians held lengthy conferences at the meeting of the International Chamber of Commerce in Washington.

The federal reserve system again administered its favorite tonic of rediscount rate reductions, the New York rate being cut to 1½ per cent, the lowest in history. Immediate results were not expected, but there was a wide tendency to believe that the tonic might be helpful over a period of time.

Symptoms which became manifest during the past week were largely of minor significance. The report of total building contracts for April was less unfavorable than the earlier part of the month had indicated, showing a 9 per cent drop from March. Steel production slackened, but only slightly. The recent upturn in freight car loadings was unchecked. Automobile production more than maintained its recent gains, and the motor trade would not be surprised if the month makes as good, or possibly a better showing than April. The last month was the best since last June, but the lowest for April since 1922.

Aided by Weather.

Retail trade has been helped by warm weather, and the textile and shoe industry continues to report relatively good activity. The reports of March shoe output and wool consumption showed actual gains over 1930. Current reports indicate that cotton goods are a little quieter. Silk goods have been active, but competition is extremely keen, and raw silk in the New York market dropped to the lowest price in history.

Continued unsettlement of commodity prices remains a sore spot. Although Iron Age reported steel ingot output has sagged only to 47 per cent of capacity, from 48, its composite price of finished steel declined again, after several weeks of stability. Another visit to this country by representatives of the Katanga mine in the Belgian Congo gave rise to talk of additional moves to restrict copper output, but official information was lacking.

View in Oil Industry.

The petroleum industry continues to struggle with unprofitable prices, but there is an inclination to take a little brighter view of the situation. There is less opposition to pro-ration in the new east Texas field, which has been an acutely unsettling factor this spring. Furthermore, the appearance of salt water in some wells is said to have taken the edge off the urge to drill.

Although net operating income of the railroads showed some improvement in March, profits are still running at such low levels as to cause concern among large security holders, and the carriers are now considering requesting an upward revision of freight rates. Talk of lowering wages appears to have died out.

Secretary Mellon, addressing the International Chamber of Commerce, felt that wages generally could be maintained, if the depression does not become too drawn out.

ARIZONA COPPER, OFF 60 PCT., TO BE CUT FURTHER

Phoenix, Ariz., May 10.—(AP)—Arizona copper mining activity, already reduced to less than 40 per cent of normal in the face of continued low prices, will be cut still further soon.

The Magma Copper company at Superior announced it would cease operations June 12 for six weeks in observance of its annual "summer vacation." Last year the suspension was for 30 days. The company said the shutdown will mean the laying off of 600 men, but they will be put back to work July 27.

The United Verde Copper company stated that on or about May 21 it will discontinue production of copper at Jerome and Clarkdale, Ariz., for an indefinite period.

Gov. George W. P. Hunt has called business and professional and agricultural leaders to meet in Phoenix tomorrow to work out a definite program for placing a tariff on copper.

Business Holding Its Own, Bankers' Association Finds

Although the business news of the month has not been of a nature to inspire cheerfulness, the course of industrial production and distribution in the aggregate is following the usual seasonal tendencies and at least holding its own, the American Bankers' Association Journal says in its monthly review of business. "The various accepted indexes of business activity are not entirely in agreement," the review says, "some moving up slightly while others sag. Which would seem to strengthen the prevailing opinion that business established a bottom last December after a continuous decline of eighteen months, since which time it has followed an almost horizontal course."

MONEY RATE CUT DISCLOSES U. S. FINANCE POWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, May 10.—The extraordinary low level of 1½ per cent, to which the New York reserve bank rate was reduced on Thursday, had possibly no great significance in regard to the domestic situation.

In reality, the new rate reflected and recognized known conditions already in existence. But it was of great significance to other money markets in the world and promises, along with the similar low money policy of the Bank of France, to check the abnormal absorption of gold into one or two great markets. Quite aside from this the establishment at New York of the lowest bank rate in the world at the present moment is testimony to the power and resources of the American economic structure at a time when economic strength is needed.

Probably most people in touch with financial markets would describe the past week as a period in which the spirit of discouragement prevailed increasingly. No doubt, the sense that spring had come without material betterment of the financial situation, that the initiative for general recovery did not seem to be in sight, and that so many pressing questions of the hour seemed to be deeply enveloped in obscurity, did its part this time in creating sentiment.

Note Depressed Feeling.

The prevailing financial atmosphere was not that of last autumn. There was no imagining a situation in the grip of mysterious and evil influences of an occult sort. But the mere duration of the visibly unpleasant state of things, the inability to see what would change it, led not unnaturally to a dejected feeling that the causes for depression must have been deeper rooted than any one had supposed and that therefore the date for any tangible improvement might be long postponed.

This, it should be observed, is a quite inevitable incident in all periods of severe and prolonged reaction. One is reminded of the attitude after 1921 regarding the possibility of recovery in postwar Europe. No one expected

T—as in TAXES

"T" stands for time . . . "the" time when taxes must be paid . . . and everyone pretty generally knows that if taxes are not paid on or before May 15 a penalty accrues and your property may be in jeopardy.

"T" stands for time . . . "on time" . . . the way this bank loans money for the payment of taxes . . . you may borrow for as long as a year . . . a shorter time if you prefer . . . and you pay back in regular, orderly installments.

Our plan of lending money has been found most practicable by thousands of property owners . . . who may not have cash on hand . . . but who desire to pay their taxes on time. The amount may be as little as $50 . . . or as much as $5,000 or more . . . and the rate is 6% per annum discount when secured by collateral . . . 7% per annum discount and a small fee when secured by the signatures of two friends.

Southwest Corner ▪ MADISON & CLARK ▪ Chicago, Illinois

the "shrinkage probabilities" dropped from 23% to 6%

IT seemed exorbitant—23% of the entire estate at the time of its transfer to the heirs, to be consumed for taxes, probate and administration.

Yet under the transfer arrangement then in effect, such a "shrinkage" could not be avoided.

What could be done to lower these costs? What savings were open to the owner of this $500,000 estate?

The needs of the family, the facts about the securities and real estate involved, were outlined to one of the officers of The Northern Trust Company. His suggestions were embodied in a specially prepared Northern Trust Plan. After careful consideration by the estate owner and his attorney, this plan was put into effect.

Shrinkage probabilities dropped from 23% to 6%. The heirs will benefit by a net saving of $85,000. Other important advantages, both to the estate owner and his family, will be realized.

In Cook and Lake Counties, "shrinkage" in the half million dollar estate may average 18% to 20%. It is one of the purposes of each Northern Trust Plan to arrange for every legitimate saving in these costs. Under such an individualized Plan, economies comparable to that above are often possible.

You are invited to write for the new booklet pictured above, which explains the benefits of a Northern Trust Plan. Come into the Trust Department, or phone for an experienced Northern Trust representative to call at your office or home. An interview will place you under no obligation.

EPORT SPOTTY, TRADE PREVAILS IN HARDWARE

eports from leading hardware men of the country indicate that the and has a "spotty" character at present time, Hardware Age says. some of the principal market cities sales volumes has recently exceeded that of a year ago. In other cities, ring trade territories where line orable conditions have prevailed, e are running considerably behind corresponding period of last year. pril sales, generally speaking, were ly satisfactory, showing a seasonal ease, which was near normal in ny wholesale hardware establishments. Much of the recent business trade activity is attributed to the that retail stocks have been at low levels, with the result that consumer demand for seasonal ds made immediate stock replenishments necessary. Future orders are ng booked for fall delivery in some ter lines, and the orders that have n placed denote an optimistic feeling.

While prices are showing an easier ency in certain instances, probably influenced by the declining quota- s on most raw materials, most reports being announced are lenient in nature.

he credit situation has improved tly since the advent of mid-winter, and collections are expected show further improvement in the future.

Leadership in Corn.

Strong local interests who have been bullish on corn all season and who were said to have sold out recently, reinstated their holdings on the early break and continued their buying until the end of the week, accumulating a large line. It is believed that this interest will continue buying for the time being.

Talk is extremely bullish, being based on views regarding the short crop last year, the fair consumptive demand, the liberal disappearance of other foodstuffs, and the belief is that eventually corn will come into its own.

As to the feedstuffs situation there has been a sharp break in gluten and other feed prices but so far this has not affected corn values.

Leading industries were out of the corn market during the week, having large supplies. There should be an increase in receipts as soon as corn planting is completed. The latter, however, is delayed by cold weather, although plowing of corn land is about completed and soil conditions are satisfactory.

Await Warm Weather.

A fair area of corn has been planted, but careful farmers await warmer weather before putting all their seed in the ground and expectations are that much of the early planted corn will have to be replanted.

May corn closed at 59¾c, July 61¼@61¾c, September 60¼@59¾c, and December after selling down below 56, closed at 57¾@52¾c. Prices were little higher for the week and follow:

Spokane Valley and Northern Ry.

Please advise me whether Spokane Valley and Northern Railway company stock has any known value.—E. A. B.

Spokane Valley and Northern Railway company was incorporated in 1917 to provide an outlet for products of American Mineral Production company. Apparently the company did not prosper, as in 1922 250 shares were offered with no bids. In 1924 the company was stricken from the records of the state of Washington for failure to pay license fees. It has since had no legal corporate existence.

Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Are the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey 5 per cent bonds, due 1946, considered sound or a business man's risk?—J. C. B.

Standard Oil Company of New Jersey has reported substantial earnings over a period of years. It occupies a strong financial position. Earnings are affected by conditions in the oil industry.

The 5 per cent debentures, due Dec. 15, 1946, are considered sound.

BONDS REGISTER BEST GAIN SINCE LAST DECEMBER

Rediscount Rate Cut Seen as Aid to Market.

New York, May 10.—(AP)—The reductions in rediscount rates by several federal reserve banks were the most important events for the bond market last week.

There was general agreement in Wall street that the principal purpose of the rate changes was to stimulate the bond market, although they were regarded as only one step in the comprehensive policy of easy money, which included three reductions in acceptance yield rates in the preceding two weeks. The basic idea is that surplus funds can be diverted from the short term market, where the supply is plethoric, to bonds and mortgages. Such a movement would encourage business expansion, it is thought.

The efforts of the federal reserve system to bring about this change have been drastic. There remains only one other means to use for the federal reserve's purpose—the increase of the supply of money by the purchase of more United States government securities.

Makes Good Gains.

However effective the theory may prove in the long run, the bond market made its most impressive gains last week since December. The Standard Statistics composite average price for 30 bonds, including 10 each of industrials, railroads and public utilities closed the week at 95.5, compared with 94.5 a week previously.

The advance was most apparent among the railroad issues. The average price of ten representative rail bonds closed the week at 101.6 compared with 99.5 a week earlier. The higher prices, however, extended to all grades of investment ratings.

Higher prices were general also among public utility and industrial obligations although the advance in them was narrower than in the rails. Foreign bonds divided their fluctuations between gains and declines. Stock privilege bonds moved upward irregularly with the corresponding stocks.

Large Government Operations.

This week will witness some large governmental operations. Details of the conversion plans of the dominion government of Canada, which will provide for the maturities of $250,000,000 or more of bonds within the next four years, will be announced. This program will constitute the largest financial operation of the Canadian government since the large war loans were issued.

Another important event will take place on Tuesday when the controller of the city of New York will open bids for $52,000,000 of four year corporate stock whose proceeds will be used to redeem short term Rapid Transit corporate stock notes.

The flotation of $66,748,000 in bonds and notes last week, the largest total in a month, might be regarded as further evidence of a revival.

AMERICAN MILK CONSUMPTION IS RELATIVELY LOW

Per capita consumption of milk and milk products in the United States is far behind that of many other countries, although the use of milk here has been increasing for the last decade at a greater rate than population, according to a survey of the dairy products industry just issued by Charles D. Barney & Co.

The estimated per capita consumption of whole milk in the United States is 54.5 gallons a year. According to the latest available statistics, the figure for Finland are 83.9 gallons, Switzerland 70.4 gallons and Sweden 69.7 gallons. In butter the United States consumption of 17.3 lbs per person annually is exceeded by six countries headed by New Zealand with 34.1 lbs and in cheese the United States with a yearly per capita consumption of 4.1 lbs is at the foot of a list of 12 countries led by Switzerland with 24 lbs. The inference, according to the survey, is that there is ample room for expansion of the dairy products industry in this country.

Daily and seasonal fluctuations in demand, together with pronounced seasonal variations in supply create surpluses of milk and the degree to which these surpluses are converted into saleable by products, says the survey, determines the profits for producer and distributor.

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Wisconsin—Occasional showers Monday; Tuesday probably fair with somewhat warmer in west and central portions.

LOOKING AHEAD WITH BUSINESS

Carlton M. Higbie, chairman of the finance committee of Eaton Axle and Spring company, in answer to inquiries said the company has $2,140,000 in cash and marketable securities, has no bank loans and has made money every month this year. Based on actual earnings for four months and estimates for May and June, he predicted on current operating schedules the prospect is that the company will earn between $5 and $6 cents a share for the first half, or slightly more than the dividend for the period.

Profits of 155 industrial corporations for the first quarter this year totaled $119,453,000, a decline of 48 per cent from the like period last year, a compilation by Standard Statistics Co. shows. Net income reported by sixteen utility companies gained 4 per cent. For twenty railroad companies, a decline of 61 per cent was shown.

H. L. Rauch, vice president and general manager of Consolidated Paper., told directors that the company more than earned its dividend in the first quarter and added considerably to surplus during that period.

Shipments of trucks by the Diamond T Motor Car company during April were the largest in eleven months, representing a 60 per cent increase over March, according to an announcement made by C. A. Tilt, president. He adds that shipments were somewhat greater than sales for April in anticipation of a more active May demand based upon orders received by the company.

Trade circles report that it is becoming increasingly difficult to obtain copper in the domestic market at 9 cents a pound. Doubt was expressed as to whether any custom smelters would be willing to sell at that figure, in contrast with offerings by some smelters early last week. Meanwhile, consumers and fabricators are said to be unwilling to pay more than 9 cents for the metal.

The first twelve states reporting new car registrations for April show 42,160 new passenger cars registered, against 31,519 in March, an increase of 33 per cent, and 55,855 cars in April, a decrease of 27 per cent from April, 1930. Ford has taken the lead by a small margin over Chevrolet, which for several months previous had been in first place. Ford April registrations in the twelve states totaled 12,935, against 12,877 for Chevrolet.

SEES TRUST LAW VIOLATION IN STEEL PURCHASE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 10.—(AP)—Congressman George Franklin Brumm of Schuylkill county asserted in federal court here that the proposed acquisition by the Bethlehem Steel company of the plant of the defunct Eastern Steel company of Pottsville would constitute a violation of the Sherman anti-trust laws.

Appearing on behalf of the citizens of the county who want the Eastern plant kept in operation and would be willing to purchase it for that purpose, the congressman protested against the court's allowing Alexander Luria of Pottsville to buy the plant from its receivers in equity. He said he made a complaint recently to Attorney General Mitchell in Washington and the attorney general had ordered an immediate investigation of the situation.

Representative Brumm charged the contemplated acquisition by Bethlehem of the Eastern Steel plant, which has been in the hands of receivers for five years, is the culmination of a "conspiracy" to put the plant out of commission. He added that the chamber of commerce of Pottsville also was opposed to the closing of the plant and was endeavoring to raise funds to make a higher offer than that of Luria so that the business of the concern could be resumed.

At a public sale about three weeks ago, Luria bid $500,000 for the plant and equipment and $152,000 for materials and "scrap" on the premises. The hearing before the court today was on a request by the receivers of the company for confirmation of the Luria bids.

Judge Dickinson ended the hearing, which lasted an hour, by saying he would not render a decision before Monday. Brumm's principal request was the court delay action on the confirmation of the sale until the United States department of justice had completed its investigation.

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The nationally advertised Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Loans above $100 and up to $300 are made at a rate approximately one-third less than the rate permitted by the Small Loan Law.

The only signatures required are those of husband and wife.
